Kiddish Sat Oct 6: Today's beautiful Kiddish was sponsored by the shul in honour of Naphtali Shainbach's last appearance as our Gabbai for the Young Israel of Chomedey, after almost 25 years of devoted service to our shul. On behalf of the shul, both Rabbi Banon before his Shabbat Sermon and Issie Baum after his Shabbat announcements wished the Shainbachs Kol Tov in their new home. Issie presented Naphtali with a special "going away" card signed by all members of the shul who are there for services on a regular basis. Those wishing to sign the card may do so at the shul office during office hours for the next 2-3 weeks.

Rabbi Banon's Class: The Rabbi's weekly class takes place this Thursday Oct 11 at 6:45 PM

Family and friends are invited to attend.

Welcome: Welcome home to Sam, from a month long and eventful trip to Israel over the High Holidays. I am sure he will have many stories to tell. Sam returned under a cloak and dagger operation from Paris early Wednesday morning at 2 AM, after an eventful and harrowing unexpected stay in Paris for 7 hours. Rumours has it that the Mossad was involved. The rest remains shrouded in secrecy. Baruch Haba Sam, great to see you back in good health.

Yashir Koach: Last week a big YASHIR KOACH went out to everyone who helped put up and decorate the Sukkah. This week another YASHIR KOACH to Dov Midlash, Marvin Baker, Stan Plant, Harry Melnik, Yaky Brown, Fred Rudy and David Smith who helped take it apart and pack it away, again under the supervision of Rabbi Banon until next year, when we'll do it all over again B"H.

Quote of the Day: Seeing as how today we read Bereishit - In the beginning - here is an apt quote for today, as well as reflecting the High holidays just passed. "You can't go back and change the beginning, but you can start where you are and change the ending."

Pride in Israel: FROM ZION SHALL COME FORTH.....Quantum Metamaterials! Two teams of scientists from the Technion-Israel Institute of Technology collaborated in monumental research to discover a brand new scientific field, recently presented in a paper published by the prominent journal "Science." To explain this further, Metamaterials are artificially fabricated materials made up of many artificial nano-scale structures to respond to light in numerous ways. Metasurfaces are the 2-D version of metamaterials. For example, one can design and fabricate an invisibility cloak that can conceal little things from radar, or one can create a medium where the light bends backwards. So far, all of this was done with classical light. What is now possible is to generate and control quantum light. I hope at least one member who receives this newsletter can now explain what I just said; I did not understand one word of it, but nevertheless, MAZAL TOV to Israeli ingenuity, and watch for a possible Nobel Prize in the years ahead; another one of which was awarded to a member of our tribe this week in physics. And remember, you heard it all in our shul first - another major advantage of coming to shul every Shabbat.

Refuah Shlemah: a) REFUAH SHLEMA to Bella Green, who is now out of the hospital and recuperating in a convalescent home, we send our wishes for a speedy recovery; b) And a REFUAH SHLEMA to Fred Rudy who starts his treatment this Tuesday B"H for a whole month, and we wish him a full recovery as well; c) And a continued REFUAH SHLEMA to all members and their families in hospital or recuperating at home, a speedy recovery to them, and all others who are under the weather.

PARSHAT HASHAVUA - WEEKLY TORAH PORTION
The Parshah in a Nutshell

Parshat Noah

Genesis 6:9–11:32

G-d instructs Noah—the only righteous man in a world consumed by violence and corruption—to build a large wooden teivah (“ark”), coated within and without with pitch. A great deluge, says G-d, will wipe out all life from the face of the earth; but the ark will float upon the water, sheltering Noah and his family, and two members (male and female) of each animal species.

Rain falls for 40 days and nights, and the waters churn for 150 days more before calming and beginning to recede. The ark settles on Mount Ararat, and from its window Noah dispatches a raven, and then a series of doves, “to see if the waters were abated from the face of the earth.” When the ground dries completely—exactly one solar year (365 days) after the onset of the Flood—G-d commands Noah to exit the teivah and repopulate the earth.

Noah builds an altar and offers sacrifices to G-d. G-d swears never again to destroy all of mankind because of their deeds, and sets the rainbow as a testimony of His new covenant with man. G-d also commands Noah regarding the sacredness of life: murder is deemed a capital offense, and while man is permitted to eat the meat of animals, he is forbidden to eat flesh or blood taken from a living animal.

Noah plants a vineyard and becomes drunk on its produce. Two of Noah’s sons, Shem and Japheth, are blessed for covering up their father’s nakedness, while his third son, Ham, is punished for taking advantage of his debasement.

The descendants of Noah remain a single people, with a single language and culture, for ten generations. Then they defy their Creator by building a great tower to symbolize their own invincibility; G-d confuses their language so that “one does not comprehend the tongue of the other,” causing them to abandon their project and disperse across the face of the earth, splitting into seventy nations.

The Parshah of Noach concludes with a chronology of the ten generations from Noah to Abram (later Abraham), and the latter’s journey from his birthplace in Ur Casdim to Charan, on the way to the land of Canaan.
