Powder Coat Finish Colors

Color Availability

All standard Powder Coat finish colors are available at no extra charge on locker door and frame assemblies. Corridor locker body components are furnished with attractive Decorator Tan dip finish as standard.

Athletic style locker body components are supplied in the same color chosen for the door and frame.

Our complete line of storage products is available in powder coat finish colors. Contact us for details.

Additional Color Options

The following color options are also available. Please contact your Republic Representative for specific cost information.

- Exposed tops and/or sides painted to match door and frame color
- Locker backs painted to match door and frame color
- All locker body parts painted to match door and frame color
- Door and frame painted different colors (two-tone)
- Colors other than standard color offering (special colors)

Choose from standard or premier grades.

Our standard Alpha Powder Coat offers top performance that is superior to current competitive coatings. An epoxy/polyester hybrid, this powder exhibits all of the attractive characteristics sought in a locker finish. It has excellent corrosion and chemical resistance, superior durability and impact resistance and solid coverage on edges and high-wear areas.

Our premier Omega Powder Coat is a truly functional coating. Building upon the Alpha powder foundation, it provides the highest corrosion resistance available in a powder finish. Omega's reactive elements provide the strongest adhesion both to interior and exterior surfaces, delivering three-to-five times the corrosion resistance of our Alpha finish.

Minimum order of 50 frames required.

Color sample plates may be obtained from your Republic Representative.

Special Colors: Republic will attempt to match any color submitted, but we cannot assure color match capability in all cases. Our ability to match non-standard colors is limited by the ability to economically formulate a paint mix that is in compliance with Federal and State EPA regulations. You will be advised at the earliest possible date after sample submission as to the availability of a color match.

Republic Storage Systems, LLC provides the option of Powder Coat finish. It is natural that this finish may exhibit slight color variation from part to part, due to the finish process. All of our processes meet or exceed the paint manufacturer's recommendations. Contact Canton for additional information.
