TOKENOMICS ECOSYSTEM

PACKO is a progressive deflationary BSC token built to succeed.

The main idea behind PACKO is to provide a decentralized transaction network which operates on the Binance Smart Chain (BSC). The path for PACKO is determined by market fluctuations but the model will beg PACKO to succeed.

Pachinko is a deflationary token with the max circulating supply of 100 trillion. On each transaction, a tax of 2 percent will be distributed to the holders and further 1 percent will be burnt and 5 percent will be distributed to LP.

Hence, this will incentivized holders to hold and decreasing of the supply overtime.

As the supply decreases, the scarcity of the token increases and token price will increase tremendously in future.

THE STORY OF PACKO

Pachinko is a 90 to 200 balls of pinball based game and it is features in this legendary story. Start from their journey at the gates of Gotokuji Temple in Tokyo Japan with the Maneki Neko cat in the roof waving its paw.

The story says that at the time of feudal lords, the Gotokuji temple had serious economic problems and was half destroyed. One day, a feudal lord, a man of great fortune was surprised by a thunderstorm while hunting and took a refuge under a large tree that was near the temple. While waiting for the storm to pass away, the man saw a cat beckoning him from the roof of the temple. As he approached to it, in that moment lightning struck the tree that had given him shelter.

As a result of saving his life, the feudal lord ordered to build altars in honor of Maneki Neko (beckoning cat in Japanese), financed the temple and becoming wealthy and prosper. Maneki Neko is carrying PACKO token and thus making owner of PACKO to be proud and rich life.

We will launch Maneki Neko NFT meme token and Gotokuji swap exchange. Watch out for next season episode.
