A Letter from Bryan Huddleston, President of Corey Construction

To our Corey Construction Customers:

On behalf of Corey Construction, I want to personally thank our customers for your business especially in these unprecedented times. Our team is closely monitoring the impact of COVID-19, and making adjustments as needed to ensure the safety of our customers, suppliers, subcontractors and employees. We are strictly following all guidelines issued by local and state government officials, and are operating as an essential business in all regions we serve.

We are asking all employees and subcontractors to practice social distancing at all our offices and job sites, and have employees working from home where possible. We are also working closely with our operations team and material distributors to ensure that all projects are executed safely and on time.

Corey Construction will continue to be a partner you look to for reliable solutions in tough times, and we stand ready to help meet the challenges you are facing. We have been in business for over 20 years, and have the strength to support our business even in this challenging time.

As your roofing partner, we are here to help. We appreciate the relationships we have with our customers, and would ask that you reach out to us if there is anything we can do to assist you. We welcome the opportunity to help, and look forward to growing stronger from this, together.

Stay Healthy and Safe,

Bryan Huddleston
