On August 14th, the Red Grade Trails System came closer to becoming a reality when we received approval of a 25-year Special Use Lease for the 160 acres of State Land located at the base of Red Grade Road. This lease allows us to move forward with plans to build 5 miles of new non-motorized, natural surface trails, as well as improve the two existing parking areas for both non-motorized and motorized users. We plan to start parking improvements and trail construction for the initial 2 miles in 2015, depending on pending grant applications and fundraising efforts.

Since SCLT’s inception, we have heard from community members that they would like to see more trails that provide a sense of solitude and escape but are convenient and easy to access. After over a year of research, planning, and getting professional advice, we determined that the State, Bureau of...
To preserve our heritage of open spaces, healthy rivers and creeks, working ranches, wildlife habitat, and vibrant history, while expanding non-motorized recreation opportunities to connect people with the places they love.

Our Mission:

Land Management, US Forest Service, and State lands in the Red Grade Road vicinity were the ideal location for a new trail system. This past summer we hired Trail Solutions, a professional trail design firm, to create a master plan for the project. The final plan includes 33-miles of non-motorized trail that maximizes benefit for hikers, mountain bikers, and equestrians while highlighting the natural beauty of the Bighorns.

“This project is in response to a community desire for high-quality recreation opportunities that are convenient, safe, and scenic. Trails are an essential ingredient for building and sustaining healthy communities and we are very excited to move ahead with the first phase of this project,” said Executive Director Colin Betzler.

The project includes five phases and could take up to five years to complete.

National Public Lands Day Hike

Temperatures dropped steadily and rain started to fall as hikers arrived at Poverty Flats on National Public Lands Day, but the weather didn’t seem to dampen any spirits. Sarah Wallick, a member of SCLT’s Recreation Work Group and an avid supporter, led 20 hikers of all ages through the crisp fall air along a proposed trail loop. Our goal for the hike was to showcase the vision of the proposed Red Grade Trails System and everyone who participated shared their excitement and support for the new project. Thank you to everyone who joined us on September 27th and we will continue to offer similar events as the Red Grade Trails System project moves forward.
Tongue River Float Trip

For the fourth year in a row, we hosted a Tongue River Float Trip on Saturday, July 12th. Fifty people brought out their canoes and kayaks for a day of family fun on the water.

This year was especially exciting because we got to share how the Tongue River Water Trail Assessment we are working on will increase access to local water recreation through hazard removal, wayfinding signage, new and improved access sites, and provide overall floating and safety information, among other goals. Science Kids Partnership

Our Explorer Series, in partnership with Science Kids, challenges local kids to get outside in the name of health, recreation, and conservation stewardship. This past summer SCLT offered monthly outings that highlighted the ranching heritage, rich history, and recreation opportunities in Sheridan County. Maurine Carley Memorial Award

On September 6th, SCLT was presented this award in recognition of our Black Diamond Byway project. The Maurine Carley Award recognizes outstanding projects in the field of historic preservation that represent Wyoming’s diverse cultural heritage. Special thanks to Judy Musgrave for the nomination.
