"Regardless of the ups & downs in the economy, people will always need insurance, said Doug Levi, Chief Encouragement Officer at Strategic Insurance. It's surprising that a side-hustle hadn't been developed for home and auto insurance sales. The income potential is significant, and the marketplace for insurance is huge. With InsuranceSideHustling.com we've created a program that takes our team's insurance knowledge, and helps train new people to become a trusted insurance broker — all in their spare time. our team supports behind the scenes doing the service and admin work. Since rolling out this platform last year we are getting about 20-50 new applicants a month, and have had people as young as 19, and as old as 71 all want to come on board."
