

Building STEPS Snapshot

April 2020

Our students are stepping up to stay connected and engaged. Take a look at some of the creative ways they are staying on track and moving forward.

What's on Your Book List?

Virtual book club is a surprising hit! With three great book options, our high school juniors and seniors are getting ready for their first Zoom book club discussion in May.

Some Expert Advice

Calvin Wise, Johns Hopkins Director of Recruitment, joined our very own Courtney Haddaway for a conversation about the college admissions process. With questions submitted in advance, our high school juniors learned first-hand how to kickstart their college process.

Healing the Community

Shawna Murray-Browne, LCSW-C, a Building STEPS alumna, facilitated a mind-body healing webinar series sponsored by the T. Rowe Price Foundation as part of their Capacity Building Program. With Shawna's guidance, Foundation employees and grantees explored meditative exercises, mindfulness, visualization and self care virtually. Building STEPS staff was thankful to participate.
