

Elmer Todd Gillis

Mr. Gillis has a history of committing sexual offenses, primarily against adult females, however, one of his victims was as young as 14. His first conviction, at age 18, was for indecent liberties, on July 12, 1984. Mr. Gillis attempted to forcibly rape a woman, whose screams awoke her father which allowed her to escape.

Mr. Gillis was charged with rape in the 2nd degree at age 24 and convicted on March 30, 1990. In that incident when the victim attempted to escape he chased her down, tackled her and then raped her. At the age of 28 Mr. Gillis was again charged with rape in the 2nd degree. The victim woke up with him on top of her, she struggled to get away but he managed to digitally penetrate her, she was able to then call 911. In a plea agreement he pled to assault in the 4th degree with sexual motivation on November 11, 1993.

While that crime was being investigated Mr. Gillis was also involved in another incident on June 12, 1993 where he again attempted to forcibly rape a 14 year old victim. She sustained facial bruises, her left eye had swollen shut, and she suffered hearing loss in one of her ears. Mr. Gillis was convicted of assault in the 2nd degree with sexual motivation on July 29, 1993. Mr. Gillis has also been convicted of assault for domestic violence in 1988.

Pursuant to the Special Commitment Center Annual Review, evaluator, Jennifer Rogers, Psy.D., dated May 8, 2018, it has been noted that Mr. Gillis had been given a previous LRA, but that it had been revoked. Mr. Gillis has been found to be aggressive toward staff members, and a May 20, 2018 incident it was alleged he made physical contact with an SCC staff member. It's been noted he has a history of "grabbing" and frottage against female staff members. Court records indicate that in the review it was noted that community members cannot be entirely safeguarded against this behavior if Mr. Gillis is on the community outing. Polygraph testing has intermittently detected deception in Mr. Gillis' responses to questions regarding his ongoing sexual experiences/functioning. Pursuant to the annual review, he was asked how likely he would be to re-offend, he acknowledged it was always a possibility and estimated a 10% chance of risk. However, his actual risk of reoffending is much higher.

According to Court records, Mr. Gillis has evidenced pervasive antisocial traits, including failure to conform his behavior to social norms, deception, impulsivity, irritability and aggressiveness, reckless disregard for the safety and wellbeing of others, and lack of remorse. In addition, he has been scored in the high range in the standard measure of psychopath. A constellation of factors, that when taken together, suggest callous, unemotional, and manipulative affective traits, as well as chronically unstable, antisocial behavior. Mr. Gillis has been assessed at a Risk Level IVb, or Well Above Average Risk, for being charged with or convicted of another sexual offense, having been deemed to be a sexual offender that is too dangerous to be released into the community.
