Music Supervisor

Roxanne Oldham is a Music Supervisor and the founder of Mixtape Music. A Southern Born feminist from Alabama (Muscle Shoals) whose love for music started at an early age. Roxanne grew up around recording studios, musicians, songwriters and even went on tour as an infant while her dad was playing keyboards with Bob Dylan. She later joined Chrysalis Music Publishing in LA as the creative Director in the Film & TV department before moving to London where she founded Mixtape Music, a Licensing and Management company with offices in London and LA, 12 years ago. Roxanne lived in London for 6.5 years before relocating back to LA with her husband where she began her career in Music Supervision working on feature films including Crystal Swan, Blessed, Coast, Cherry, Carmen, and Mabon "Teenie" Hodges: A Portrait of a Memphis Soul Original, the documentary she produced.
