Therapy Dogs Risk Assessment

The benefit of therapy dogs in educational settings can be seen in many research studies. It has been proven that the presence of a companion animal can improve the well-being of children, and can lower anxiety rates. Therapy dogs can also make a happier, more enjoyable, and less forbidding environment.

Therapy Dogs have been proven to:

- Lower stress levels.
- Calming effect on students and teachers.
- Provide comfort and affection.
- Reduced blood pressure, physical stimulation, and assist in pain management.
- Promote self-esteem.
- Stimulate memory and problem-solving skills.
- Offer a companion to children with social and emotional problems, including anxiety.
- Enable children to work through issues such as anger management and/or bullying tendencies.

To minimise the risk to children at the Total Tuition Alternative Provision / Rosewood Independent School centre, only animals pre-approved by Management are accepted on school premises. The only exception to this rule are assistant animals, such as dogs for the blind.

If any parent or pupil objects to the animal's presence then arrangements must be made to ensure that this animal is kept away from them. If necessary, the animal may need exclusion from specific areas.

Total Tuition Alternative Provision / Rosewood Independent School Therapy Dog

Rosewood Independent School will regularly have a Therapy Dog on site. The decision to include this in our business model was to provide a pet that the children could interact with, and also be of benefit to the children's social and emotional development.

- The Therapy Dogs have been familiarised with attendance at the site from 2 months of age.
- Rosewood Independent School Management ensure a background check on the temperament and health history of the puppy, including ensuring the dogs are of good pedigree.
- The Therapy Dogs will be purchased from a reputable breeder.
- The Therapy Dogs will live with Rosewood Independent School Management as a family pet outside of their time in the school.
- The Therapy Dogs will be registered with a local veterinarian, and health checked on a regular basis.
- The Therapy Dogs will be kept up to date with immunisations, including rabies. Worming treatments will be in line with European vet guidelines. A copy of the annual health check will be kept with Rosewood Independent School Management, and viewable upon request. Please note that this may take a few days to source, as it will be requested from the veterinary practise.

- The Therapy Dogs will be discouraged from biting, scratching, and licking.
- The Therapy Dogs will be clean of mud and outdoor mess before interacting with children.
- The Therapy Dogs will be taken for natural relief before interacting with children.
- The Therapy Dogs will be kept clean and well groomed, and checked regularly for sign of infection or other illness.
- If the Therapy Dogs becomes ill at any point, they should be diagnosed and treated by a vet, and not allowed in the Rosewood Independent School Centre until health is restored.
- The Therapy Dogs will have their claws trimmed regularly.
- The Therapy Dogs will be exercised prior to interaction with children.

It is accepted that interacting with animals is not appropriate for all children but that for some it has the potential to provide many positive benefits. Any parent who does not wish their child to interact with the puppy is invited to write to inform Rosewood Independent School of their wishes.

This risk assessment will be reviewed annually and Rosewood Independent School Management will evaluate the impact of a Therapy Dogs on a regular bases.
