

Journal of

Clinical and Analytical Medicine

Vol: 7 No: 6 November 2016

Are Radiological Examinations Necessary for Mentally Handicapped Dental Patients?

Soylu E, Alkan A, Doğan S, Üstün Y, Yıldırım MD, Canpolat DG

Contents;

- Anesthesia Management for Transcatheter Atrial Septal Defect Closure in Pediatric Patients
- Do Local Anesthetics Containing Epinephrine Affect Blood Pressure in the Elderly?
- Radiological Evaluation of the Tuffier's Line in Pediatric Patients
- Medullary Thyroid Cancer: A Case Series and Review of the Literature
- Toxic Metal and Essential Trace Element Levels of Blood Donors
- Assessment of the Safety of the Supraumbilical Compression Technique in Closed Laparoscopic Entry
- Attempted Suicide Hanging Cases Admitted to Emergency Department
- Three-Dimensional Volume Rendering Anatomy of the Carotid Canal
- Effect of Anesthetics During Oocyte Pick-Up Procedure on Oocyte Quality and Pregnancy
- Computed Tomography Findings in Traumatic Fractures of Thoracic and Lumbar Vertebrae
- Lower Lobe Pneumonia Presenting with a Picture of Acute Abdomen: Case Report
- Acute Dystonia in a Child Receiving Metoclopramide: Case Report