

National Apprenticeship Week is taking place from Monday 8th to Sunday 14th February with the aim of raising awareness of apprenticeships.

This is your chance to explore the varying levels of qualifications and the industries you can work in.

Be curious. Even if you know for sure that university is the path for you, just take a look. You never know what you may discover.

UCAS is talking to apprentices about what it's really like to study and work at the same time!

'Ask me anything' Facebook Live Q&A, with Courteney Sheppard (Customer Experience Manager, UCAS) and Tom Culley (apprentice learner, BT).

On-demand from 12:15 – 'Five apprentices share their experiences' (panel discussion) .

Monday 14:00 - 15:00 Visit UCAS for more details and to book your place

Tuesday is your time to complete some research to learn more about current degree apprenticeship vacancies, the employers that have an apprenticeship programme, and the different ways you can apply for a role.

Keep an open mind

Where do you start researching apprenticeships? How do you figure out if they could be a good option for you?

The same way you would start researching university. Looking at the subjects you are interested in, the subjects that motivate you to find out more. The subjects that you can see yourself studying for 3-4 years after you leave school.

Take a look at the subject posters created by Amazing Apprenticeships during your tutor time.

What apprenticeships are available in each of your favourite subjects? Were you surprised by what you found?
