would love to go to Europe but thinking Chile would be smarter. with APAL sponsoring this not CGA (lol) I think I have to keep it apple focused. However to do a country with both would be idea.

don't really know.....where would you go? The way I read this is that I go alone for first 6 weeks and then the family comes to join me and we live in the country for a couple of months. That's why Europe sounds fantastic.

when you are back in PI with some spare time.

Attached is a scholarship that APAL have asked if I am interested - for Nuffield. It provides 30k for O.S. travel - I think it would be a great opportunity, however I would like to use it wisely. could you have a look at this application and throw a few pointers of which areas I should be targeting and why. You know you are good with words - and im not,
