

Sins of Dad

October 11, 2021

What do you do about a Dad who has quota and his son wants to be in the dairy business?

By his dad's insistence of keeping quota, his son is burdened with a tax for the rest of his life and so will his children, and their children and this goes on to infinity. Dad has a couple of million on the books, but his son inherits a $.42 tax for infinity, and that will be rising every year, so let's be conservative and call it a 1-billion-dollar tax, owed by his son so is dad can keep his quota alive and well. Think about it - a tax that will go on forever and that obligation that will eventually break them one day. The worst part is, they never had a chance to vote on it. Courtesy of dear old dad and Matt Swanson of Nutrius and Associated Feed and the dairy destroyer Karen Ross.

How many dairymen in the last 40 years, that got into the dairy business were told that they now owed a billion dollars in taxes for the rest of their lives, and our government won't allow you to exercise your right to vote and eliminate this tax that was placed on you. Great system, Great State. Time to stop paying taxes.

The Truth.
