

Minimize the costs of training new employees through on-the-job training

On-the-Job Training Reimbursement

Our on-the-job training program assists employers with the cost of hiring and training new employees.

Employers can train new employees at their place of business while being reimbursed 50 percent of gross wages during training.

Participation is subject to employer eligibility and available funding.

Advantages for Employers

- Offsets half of initial training costs to fill skilled positions -- while increasing productivity
- Addresses skills gaps that may hinder a new employee's ability to perform on the job
- Increases successful job placement and retention
