

Details of Article Processing Charges (APC)

This journal is self supporting one and it doesn't receive funding from any institution or government. Therefore, the journal is financially and exclusively managed by the APC (Article Processing Charges) fees received from authors. The APC fees collected from authors are required to meet the expenses like article processing and publishing, editing, internet and website maintenance for online availability of the articles and so on.

Authors will be informed to pay the APC fee only after their papers accepted by the board of editors. They will be sent intimation 10 days before the date of publication whether their papers accepted/rejected.

The Article Processing Charges will be collected based on the length and number of words of the paper/article.
