

Air Purification With A Customized Ultraviolet Solution

There are three best practices for disinfecting the air in enclosed spaces. Any successful air disinfection strategy employing ultraviolet is going to impact one to three components – air handling units, air ducts and/or upper-room installation – depending on the facility.

