Is the conflict between Israel and the Palestinians a tragic dispute over land, part of a global battle against Islamist terror, or both?

Two well-known Jewish journalists — one on the political right, the other on the left — will debate that question and others about the future of Israel, for the JCRC Fall Lecture as part of our Israel @ 70 festivities on Sunday, October 15.

It is universally accepted that if you get two Jews in the same room, you’re going to hear three opinions. At the same time, though, the Talmud records numerous disagreements between the sages Shammai and Hillel, describing them as disagreements for the sake of heaven. Jews with dramatically different points of view have some core disagreements. That can make for a lot of heat. But thankfully, it can also make for a lot of generative, rewarding conversations.

Unfortunately, these recent years, we often find the topic of Israel has become one of the most contentious discussions happening in American Jewish communities. To come together as a Jewish community, particularly around Israel, we have to be able to talk about it — even the most challenging questions and issues that divide the Jewish community about Israel.

On Sunday, October 15, the polarizing topic of Israel and U.S. relations will move from newsprint to podium when two well-known journalists debate the current internal and external challenges facing the State of Israel.

From the left, the event will feature J.J. Goldberg, editor-at-large of Forward and former U.S. bureau chief of The Jerusalem Report.

From the right will be Jonathan S. Tobin, award-winning opinion editor of the Jewish News Service.

This unique event offers the opportunity to hear two internationally respected journalists from opposite sides of the political spectrum carry out a frank discussion on the Jewish homeland. They will demonstrate how you can express diverse opinions in a civil and constructive manner, while identifying areas where there is common ground. These gentlemen may reinforce your beliefs or open up a whole new perspective for you, regardless of where you fall — left or right.

The program will take place on Sunday, October 15, 7 PM in the Sam Lerner Center for Cultural Arts in Shalom Park. The event is free and open to the public but RSVPs are requested. CharlotteJCRC@jewishcharlotte.org. A dessert reception will follow the program.

Local Jewish Veteran Group to Premier Film on WWII Vets

Jewish War Veteran Post 765, based in Charlotte, is pleased to announce the premiere of Jewish American Soldiers, Stories from World War II on Sunday, November 12 at 3 PM. The film, produced and directed by Full Scale Productions of Charlotte, and funded in large part by the Jewish Federation of Greater Charlotte, will be shown at the Regal Ballantyne Theater, located in South Charlotte.

A project three years in the making, the film scope, originally conceived to capture stories from five to seven veterans, will feature interviews of 12 Jewish veterans from the Charlotte area, who were born both inside and outside the United States, and spotlights their experience as Jews serving in all aspects of World War II.

This film is part of the Charlotte Jewish Film Festival’s “Fall Flicks” event. There will be no charge for the event, but tickets are required. For more information, please go to charlottejewishfilm.com or see our ad on page 27. We look forward to hosting you at this exciting event, so please mark your calendars and make plans to attend.
New Women’s Giving Level

Pearl Society members are women who celebrate their commitment to philanthropy and our community by making a gift of $180 or more to the Annual Campaign. Pearl Society members are recognized with a unique pearl necklace. As a woman’s gift continues and grows, her commitment can be distinguished with the addition of colored pearl charms.

Pearl Society Members

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Andrews, Amy</th>
<th>Cojoc</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Cherny, Gladys</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Fox, Nadine</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Golynsky, Jennifer</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Harrison, Anik</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kraus, Marilyn</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Lefkof, Amy</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Miller, Joy</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Mond, Staci Feldman</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Norm, Judith</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Peck, Adina</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Rodgers, Roberta</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Russo, Heather</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

---

JEWISH FEDERATION NEWS

Agency Boards Achieve 100% Giving

The mission of the Jewish Federation of Greater Charlotte is to raise and distribute funds to support and enrich the lives of Jews locally, nationally, in Israel and worldwide. Through education, planning and community building, the Federation’s mission ensures that Jewish values, goals, traditions and connections are preserved for current and future generations.

The Jewish Federation of Greater Charlotte appreciates the support from the boards of directors of the following beneficiary agencies/institutions that have achieved 100% giving to the 2017 Annual Campaign:

- Ballantyne Jewish Center
- Charlotte Jewish Day School
- Charlotte Jewish Preschool
- Congregation Oh HaTorah
- Foundation for the Charlotte Jewish Community
- Foundation of Shalom Park
- Hebrew Cemetery
- Jewish Council of Lake Norman
- Jewish Family Services
- Jewish Federation of Greater Charlotte
- Jewish Preschool on Sardis
- Levine Jewish Community Center
- Tikvah Charlotte

---

Tributes to the Jewish Federation Annual Campaign

The Jewish Federation of Greater Charlotte thanks and acknowledges the following tributes made through September 7.

- In honor of Phil Brodsky and Mindy Reinstein’s Engagement
- In memory of Maxine Silverstein
- In honor of Sue Littauer’s Retirement
- In memory of Maxine Silverstein

---

Corrections to the 2017 Jewish Federation Annual Listing of Donors from September CJN

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>2017 Family Campaign</th>
<th>Bonin (Builders) $365,999</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Silverman, Richard and Janis</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2017 Women’s Campaign</td>
<td>Pomegranate Society $1,000,359</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Tarbin, Nancy</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Shomrim (Guardians) $100,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>D’Onato, Mark and Ariel</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Liebstein, Ben and Margie</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Chaverim (Friends) $1,000</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Leonard, Barry and Sherri</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Ilan Ramon Society - New Gifts</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td></td>
<td>Brans, Joe and Cindy</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

---

2017 Women’s Campaign

- Shomrim (Guardians) $100,000
- Sigal, Margie
- C.J.
- Greenspoon, Stan
- Udoff, Ross and Amy

---

2017 Family Campaign

- Bonin (Builders) $365,999
- Silverman, Richard and Janis

---

2017 Women’s Campaign

- Pomegranate Society $1,000,359
- Tarbin, Nancy
- Shomrim (Guardians) $100,000
- D’Onato, Mark and Ariel
- Liebstein, Ben and Margie
- Chaverim (Friends) $1,000
- Leonard, Barry and Sherri
- Ilan Ramon Society - New Gifts
- Brans, Joe and Cindy

---

Tributes to the Jewish Federation Annual Campaign

- In memory of Maxine Silverstein
- By: Bruce and Karen Schlosberg

If you would like to make a Tribute to the Jewish Federation, please contact the Federation office at 704-944-6761.

---

CONTENTS

- Federation News pp. 1, 2
- Center for Jewish Education p. 3
- Youth Visions pp. 4, 5
- Synagogues/Cong. pp. 6-13
- Jewish Family Services p. 14
- Schools pp. 15-17

- Community News pp. 18-21, 24
- Jewish Community Center pp. 22, 23
- Women’s News p. 25
- Dining Out p. 29
- Sukkot p. 35

---

I would like to make a contribution to demonstrate my support of The Charlotte Jewish News.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Amount</th>
<th>Description</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>$18.00</td>
<td>Basic Annual Subscription</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>$25.00</td>
<td>Friend</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>$50.00</td>
<td>Patron</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>$100.00</td>
<td>Grand Patron</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Other</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

---

I would like to make a contribution to demonstrate my support of The Charlotte Jewish News.

Name:
Phone:
Address:
City:
State:
Zip:
Enclosed in my check for $

---

Published monthly except July

The Jewish Federation of Greater Charlotte

5007 Providence Road, Suite 112
Charlotte, NC 28226

Phone 704-944-6765

email: charlottejewishnews@shalomcharlotte.org

An Affiliate of the Jewish Federation of Greater Charlotte

Amy Krakovitz - Editor
Advertising Sales Reps:
Jodi Valenstein, 704-906-7034
Pam Garrison, 704-609-0950
Art Director, Erin Bronkak
bronkak@carolina.rr.com

CJN Editorial Board
Chair - Bob Davis
Members: Bob Abel, Sara Abadi, David Dellner, Ann Langman, Linda Levy, Elaine Milten, Andrew Rosen

The CJN does not assume responsibility for the quality or kosher of any product or service advertised. Publishing of a paid political advertisement does not constitute an endorsement of any candidate, political party or position by this newspaper; the Federation or any employees.

Published monthly except July
Connecting People One Book at a Time: One Book, One Jewish Community

Thursday, December 7, 7 PM at the Sam Lerner Center for Cultural Arts

The Center for Jewish Education’s (CJE) inaugural selection for “One Book, One Jewish Community” is Home in the Morning by Mary Glickman. This debut novel explores the volatile 1960s through the experience of a Southern Jewish man who marries a Yankee Jewish woman. It is a coming of age story, both for its Southern Jewish protagonist and for America at the beginning of the Civil Rights movement. The novel is certain to inspire deep and animated discussions about subjects that tackle black-white relationships, Southern Jewish culture, and the Civil Rights Movement.

While you’re reading this year’s One Book, One Jewish Community book (and perhaps scheduling it for your book group to read as well), our team at the CJE is busy preparing an array of resources and lists of related reading. Check out our website www.jewishcharlotte.org/CJE for some great discussion questions and guides and be sure to sign up for our newsletter to receive the latest information about our upcoming events.

This community-wide read of Home in the Morning will culminate on Thursday, December 7 with a special appearance of author Mary Glickman who will discuss her book and her own Southern-Jewish experience.

Copies of Home in the Morning are available to borrow or purchase at the Levine-Sklut Judaic Library, as well as online as a Kindle download.

There is no charge for this event. Space is limited and pre-registration is encouraged. For more information, please contact Debby Block, Center for Jewish Education Program Coordinator, 704-6780 or debby.block@jewishcharlotte.org.

Love to Read? Come to the Center for Jewish Education ... Book Club and More

By Sue Littauer, CJE Book Club Coordinator

My grandmother used to say about my mom: “Some people like to cook and clean, and some people like to read.” The love of reading is the legacy my mom passed down to me and me to my own children. When you are a reader, you always have something to do ... new worlds to discover, family histories to uncover, people’s lives to become enmeshed in, and mysteries to solve. There’s nothing I like more than to find a good book that keeps me up reading until the wee hours of the morning.

Everyone I know who is a reader has a list of books stored on their phones – books recommended by friends. As the “book club coordinator” for the Levine-Sklut Judaic Library @ the CJE, I’d like to become the “storing house” for your recommendations. Share your comments about books you’ve read that have a Jewish theme or are written by a Jewish author. Both positive and negative reviews are helpful – just let me know what you’ve read and your thoughts.

For instance, my book club just read And After the Fire, by Lauren Belfer, a powerful and passionate novel, inspired by historical events – about two women, one European and one American, and the mysterious choral masterpiece by Johann Sebastian Bach that changes both their lives. The novel grapples the question, “What if a brilliant musician was also a rabid anti-Semite?” And After the Fire can be checked out for your reading pleasure at the Levine-Sklut Judaic Library.

And the Levine-Sklut Judaic Library @ the CJE is a great place to share your love of reading, to discover your next great read, and to connect with other readers. Come to the Levine-Sklut Judaic Library @ the CJE on Wednesday, October 11 at 10 AM to kick-off the new CJE Book Club. Everyone is welcome. The only criterion for membership is a love of reading, a desire for lifelong Jewish learning and an interest in connecting and engaging with like-minded peers.

During our organizational meeting, we’ll meet and greet, as well as share input about our Book Club schedule and our selections for 2017-2018.

To sign up for the Book Club and/or share book recommendations, please contact sueb.littauer@cje.org.

The KEYS to a successful real estate transaction...

Experience and Commitment!

Buying, Selling, Relocating...

Ann and Andrew are your KEYS to the local Jewish Community.

Serving the Charlotte community for over 30 years.

Ann Langman 704-502-4328 ann.langman@allentate.com
Andrew Rosen 704-604-4756 andrewrosen@allentate.com

A new home for the trusted service you expect from Greenspon & Associates

Greenspon & Associates is proud to announce its merger with Windermere Insurance Group. Since 1974, we’ve assisted clients with their group benefits, life & long term care insurance, annuities, business continuation planning, executive benefits, and 401(k) plans.

Our merger with Windermere enhances our ability to deliver an extraordinary level of service and expertise while also expanding our offerings to include property and casualty insurance.

704.247.3033 kgreenspon@windingsgroup.com
BBYO Teens Gear Up for New Member Convention

This month over 150 teens from Charlotte, Greensboro, Raleigh, Winston Salem, Wilmington, Asheville, Richmond, Virginia Beach, Savannah, Greenville, Charleston, and Augusta will gather in Greensboro for BBYO’s annual MIT/AIT (new members to BBYO) convention. During the weekend, new members learn all about BBYO and make friends from across NC, VA, GA, and SC. Older members pass down knowledge and traditions of BBYO while new members gain leadership skills and learn to navigate and find their home in BBYO.

This convention has a lasting impact on teens who attend. Lauren Mond, who was a new member last year and current Vice President of programming for Chai Chaverim BBG in Charlotte, shares her experience. “MIT/AIT (the new member convention in October) was an experience like no other. I walked in super nervous, as I was meeting Jewish teens from all over NC, VA, and parts of SC and GA. My anxiety quickly faded as soon as I sat down. I remember seeing a few friendly faces from Charlotte, and I instantly felt at home because of how welcoming everyone was. It took me a while to realize that everyone else was feeling the same nervous yet excited feelings as I was because this was also their new member convention, and everyone was looking to make friends. I formed some really strong bonds with some kids I met there and a few I still talk to every day on the phone after school. I’ve ended up rooming with them at other conventions and even went to a summer program with them at other conventions. MIT/AIT was one of my favorite conventions that I attended because it really allowed me to feel connected with my Jewish identity, other Jewish teens, and experience prayers in a whole different way.”

It’s never too late to join BBYO and the convention is still open for registration. Please contact the BBYO office at 704-944-6734 or eastern@bbyo.org.
On Wednesday evening, September 6 the amazing faculty of Hebrew High gathered together to reconnect, rededicate, and prepare for another year of Jewish learning, growth and community building for our students. This year’s group of outstanding teachers contains Jewish professionals from all walks of life, including rabbis, secular educators, tzedaka heroes, an architect, and many more.

All of these exceptional role models are eager to share their expertise and love of Judaism and Israel with the next generation of community leaders.

The group began the evening by watching a video entitled “I’m That Jew” by Eitan Chitayat. The video (you can see it on YouTube here: www.youtube.com/watch?v=sjEXomjpXPU), is an ode to the diversity of our people and the importance of being open to everyone, whether Jewish or not.

The teachers were then challenged to define, in poetry form if possible, what kind of Jew they are. Amy Montoni led the discussion and her poem is included here:

The staff was then treated to an excellent workshop, led by Dr. Racelle Weiman, Senior Director of Global Education at the Dialogue Institute, Temple University. Dr. Weiman shared her expertise on teaching Jewish students in this scary time. She explained the characteristics needed to create young people who are upstanders in the face of bigotry, bullying, and hate. All participants left with new insight into developing personal courage for themselves and their students. Todah rabah to Dr. Weiman for an excellent learning experience.

At Hebrew High our goal is to create Jewish young adults, who know who they are, where they come from, and the right thing to do in difficult situations, always with an eye to Jewish learning and Jewish values. Our staff is ready for another great year with our Jewish teens. Don’t let your child miss the fantastic opportunity that is Hebrew High. For more information call Roz at 704-944-6782 or email rcooper@shalomcharlotte.org.

Hebrew Highlights

Hebrew High teachers and guest, left to right: Alison Winston, Rob Sisson, Rabbi Helene Kornsgold, Stefan Pienkny, guest speaker Dr. Racelle Weiman, Hannah Kauhnitz, Betsy Olinger, Amy Montoni, Jennifer Sawyer (in back), Donna deGroot, interim director Roz Cooper. Janice Zacks, and Sam Swire.
JLI to Introduce Exciting New Course This October
Six Jewish Debates Coming to Charlotte

The new Jewish Learning Institute will recount 2000 years of Jewish history through the lens of six epic debates that rocked the Jewish world and still resound powerfully today.

Beginning Tuesday, October 31, at 7:30 PM for the evening class and Wednesday November 1, 7:15 AM for the morning class, the JLI of Charlotte will be offering a new six-session course from the Rohr Jewish Learning Institute (JLI), titled Great Debates in Jewish History.

In commemoration of 70 years since archeologist Eleazar Sukenik purchased the first Dead Sea Scroll in November of 1957, the community is invited to examine and unlock the stories of these ancient manuscripts and what their texts reveal about the heated dispute between the Dead Sea Sect and the Jewish establishment at the time.

“Judaism welcomes debate and discourse,” Rabbi Yossi Groner of Chabad of Charlotte, and JLI instructor. “This JLI course invites participation in these exciting discussions, which led to the degelation of the Dead Sea Scrolls opposed to Rabbinic interpretation. What motivated the rebels at Masada? And what is the Jewish perspective on taking up arms in situations where defeat is inevitable? What role do nationalism, power, and reason play in Judaism? Are faith and reason mutually exclusive? What motivated the anti-Maimonideans in banning—and even burning—some of Maimonides’ works? And is religion designed to be a private and personal experience, or one to be proudly paradoxed in the public domain?

Great Debates in Jewish History offers a glimpse at six pivotal debates between the Maimonideans in banning—and even burning—some of Maimonides’ works! And is religion designed to be a private and personal experience, or one to be proudly paradoxed in the public domain?

Dr. Ditesheim is board certified by the American Board of Plastic Surgery, the only board recognized by the American Board of Medical Specialties. To become board certified, a physician must complete a minimum of 5 years of surgical residency training, including at least 2 years of training specifically in plastic surgery, as well as pass rigorous written and oral examinations.

In addition, Dr. Ditesheim is a Fellow of the American College of Surgeons, an honor reserved for surgeons who have demonstrated highest professional standards for competency, ethical conduct, and training.

Dr. Ditesheim’s ultimate goal is to make you happy, giving you the beautiful results you want by using the latest in plastic surgery techniques and technology. He believes this goal fundamentally starts with a strong patient-doctor relationship.

“Dr. Ditesheim really listened. He wanted to know what I wanted, rather than trying to convince me what my ideal body should look like.”

Simchat Torah Festivity at Ohr HaTorah

Simchat Torah celebration at Ohr HaTorah is well-known for its unlimited joy and upbeat Jewish connection. This year’s great event falls on Thursday, October 12, beginning at 7:30 PM. The celebration welcomes adults and children and together as we all rejoice with the Torah which is our most treasured gift from God. A festive holiday dinner will be served along with plenty of L’chaim for the adults. Children will lead the reciting of the Torah verses in preparation to the dancing.

Simchat Torah all Jews unite, scholar and laymen in the joy and thanksgiving to God for imbuing our souls with the light of Judaism as it is expressed in the Torah.

The Simchat Torah celebration will be held at Congregation Ohr HaTorah, 6619 Sardis Road in Charlotte and is open to the entire community. For more information please visit us at www.chabadnc.org.
Many thanks to the donors of the Jewish Federation of Greater Charlotte who have created a legacy to provide for future generations:

Anonymous (10)
Stanley and Judy August
Amy Augustine
Craig and Jill Balick
John and Gaul Baron
Sandra and Leo Benjamin
Brian and Gunda Bently
Andrew and Eika Bernstein
Donald and Barbara K. Bernstein
Sam and Nancy Bernstein
Martin Birnbaum
Barry and Lisa Bleu
Jill Blumenthal
Lee Blumenthal
Michael and Lenora Borshadi
David and Bruce Bernstein
Justin Bergman
Larry Eary Brown
Richard and Sady Cherkin
Steven and Olivia Cohen

Wendy W. Cohen*
George and Andrea Cronson
Aleene and Gary* Davis
Michal and Jill Dinerman
David and Alan Epstein
David and Stephanie Gintis
Meg D. Goldstein and Matthew Luftglass
Alison and Arlene Goldstein
Leni and Jennifer Golinsky
Michelle Goodman
William and Patty* Gorelick
Marcella Gorelick
Todd and Stacy Greenlick
Danny and Faye Greenspan
Stanley Grossman
Josh and Judi Greenland
Ronnie Hare
Stephanie Haynes
Andy and Christy Horewitz
Jonathan Howard

Donald and Susan Jacobs
Robert and Leora* Jacobson
Henrietta Jaffe
Andrew and Dana Kaplan
Robert and Nancy Kipnis
Richard and Paula Klein
Barry and Lorie Kremens
Jamie & Elie Kosofsky
Alan Kravetz and Cary Koznis
Eric and Susan Lerner
Gary and Donna Lesser
Harry Lesser
Mark and Allison Levine
Jerry and Barbara Levin
Ross C. Levin
Julie Lerner Levine
Leora and Sandy Levine
Ellis Levine
Hal and Holly Levine
Sam and Linda Levy

Marc and Laura Levin
Sue Little
Alicia and Ron Luczk
Scott and Pam Minaker
Laura Milgrimm
David and Nina Miller
Ed and Jill Reisman
Richard J. Osborne
Floyd and Brenda Patten
Dale S. Polacky
Steve and Melissa Raphel
Anita Neet* Rosenthal
Andrew and Jennifer Rosen
Marcy and Elaine Scherlin
Michael* and Sara Scheneman
Larry Schwartz
Mark Segal
Lisa Singel
Amy Seltin
Louis Silverman and Kevin Levine

Michael and Anne Sinzheimer
Eric and Lori Sklak
Ira and Sherry Smolke
Steve and Emily Snyder
Joseph and Renee Steiner
Stephanie Toorensad
Jeff and Susan Turk
Ross and Amy Uddoff
David and Orba San Glick
Michael and Judith Vass
Diana Warsh
Mark Warten
Elizabeth Stan Winer
Kim and Sue Worrell
Robert* and Anne Yodell
Joe and Monica Zehmb
Sam and Emily Zimmerman
Bill and Angie Zimmer

* of revered memory
As of September 9, 2007

Taste it.

Certain Jewish foods have magical powers. For some, it’s a piece of egg Challah. For others, some flaky rugelach, a sweet noodle kugel, or a savory brisket. Magical foods might taste good, but they get their power from the memories they bring us — memories of home, community, heritage, and love. When you leave a Jewish legacy, you’re setting a table for the future, ensuring that what you cherish about Jewish life continues to sustain, nurture, and delight the generations to come. To learn more about creating your Jewish legacy with the Jewish Federation of Greater Charlotte, contact Sue Worrell at 704.944.6757 or sue.worrell@jewishcharlotte.org.

The Jewish Future. Make It Real.
Shakes in the Sukkah

Join us in the Sukkah for an awesome family event. Delicious shake bar, yummy dinner, and fabulous entertainment. Do the lulav shake and enjoy an exciting evening with your friends and family.

Sunday, October 8, 5 PM
$15 per person or $55 per family
RSVP: Leah@JewishBallantyne.com, 704-246-8881.

Lunch in the Sukkah at Sun City Carolina Lakes
Bringing your friends and family to enjoy a delicious dinner in the Sukkah right in the middle of Sun City. Choose the date that works for you, either Monday, October 9 or Tuesday, October 10. Our Sukkah will be located at the home of Jacob and Betty Cohen, 23119 King Fisher and will begin at 11:30. Suggested donation $15 per person.
To RSVP email Rabbi@JewishBallantyne.com or call 704-246-8881.

Babyccino

A chic meet for parents and their tots
Join us for a grand Torah celebration for kids and adults. Enjoy an exciting evening with your family. At the Ballantyne Jewish Center, 8632 Bryant Farms Rd.
Open to the Community Free of Charge
RSVP Appreciated - Leah@JewishBallantyne.com, 704-408-1116.

Dancing with the STARS on Simchat Torah

Join us for a grand Simchat Torah celebration for kids and adults. Enjoy a delicious dinner in the Sukkah followed by dancing with the Torah and a special program for the kids. Simchat Torah is all about unbridled joy, which surpasses even the joy of Sukkot. The joy reaches its climax on Simchat Torah, when we celebrate the conclusion – and restart – of the annual Torah-reading cycle.

Thursday, October 12, 6:30 PM

Ballantyne JEWISH CENTER
Your Neighborhood Connection

Save the Date
KIDS, now it’s your turn. Kids Mega Challah Bake happening on Sunday, November 26.
Check www.ctmegachallah.com for details.

Mega Challah Bake 2017

340 Jewish Women gathered at Extravaganza, to bake Challah. What an unbelievable energy in the room as we mixed, kneaded, shaped, and prayed together.

Ballantyne JEWISH CENTER
Your Neighborhood Connection

Jewish concerts
Majestic • Magical • Music
2017-2018

NEW YORK PHILHARMONIC STRING QUARTET
Thursday, October 5, 2017 - 7:30 pm
Halton Theater
Central Piedmont Community College

GIL SHAHAM AND AKIRA EGUCHI
Friday, October 20, 2017 - 7:30 pm
Halton Theater
Central Piedmont Community College

THE 5 BROWNS
Thursday, January 18, 2018 - 7:30 pm
Halton Theater
Central Piedmont Community College

THE GERSHWIN BIG BAND
Thursday, February 15, 2018 - 7:30 pm
McGlohon Theater
Spirit Square

THE CLIBURN GOLD 2017 MEDALIST
YEKWON SUNWOO
Thursday, March 1, 2018 - 7:30 pm
Halton Theater
Central Piedmont Community College

A MUSICAL SHOWCASE
Monday, April 23, 2018 - 7:00 pm
The Blumenthal Performing Arts Center
Second annual music performance competition showcasing the talents of CMS student musicians.
Temple Kol Ami Brings Rabbinic Leadership to York County

As the Jewish community of York County, SC has continued to grow, Temple Kol Ami has recognized the need for rabbinic leadership. Although the lay leaders of TKA have done (and continue to do) an outstanding job in leading Kabbalat Shabbat services, High Holidays, B’ni mitzvah, and more, a rabbi helps to bring Judaism to another level in the York County area. Through growth and determination, TKA was able to meet our goal of hiring a part-time rabbi in 2017, welcoming Rabbi Ana Bonnheim to our pulpit for monthly Friday night services. Rabbi Bonnheim has been a blessing to our congregation, sharing her warmth, intellect, and love of Judaism with the community. We look forward to continuing to grow under Rabbi Bonnheim’s guidance and nurturing. She will be with us on the following dates through the rest of 2017: October 13, November 3, and December 15. Dates for 2018 will be announced in the near future.

In addition to Rabbi Bonnheim, Temple Kol Ami has sponsored two Shabbatons so far in 2017 through the generosity of a grant from the Jewish Federation of Greater Charlotte. Most recently, we hosted Rabbi Bruce Aff from Springfield, VA in late August. Rabbi Aff led us in a beautiful Kabbalat Shabbat service, stimulateing Torah study and a Havdalah service which also featured a performance by The Ruach, Charlotte’s amazing Jewish rock band. You are invited to join us for our next Shabbaton this weekend of October 27-28 when we will welcome another rabbi courtesy of Rabbi Ana Bonnheim and Temple Kol Ami congregants.

Temple Kol Ami is grateful to have called Unity Presbyterian Church in Fort Mill our home for the last seven years. Due to extensive renovations taking place at Unity, TKA is moving to a new location starting October 15. We are pleased to announce our new home will be Philadelphia United Methodist Church at 1691 SC-160, Fort Mill, SC, conveniently located right off of I-77 at exit 85. TKA has created many wonderful memories at Unity Presbyterian, and we are so excited to continue our journey at Philadelphia United. Please join us at our new home in the near future to start making memories with Temple Kol Ami, a warm, welcoming and inclusive Reform congregation in York County. Contact us at yorksynagogue@gmail.com or 803-701-0149 for more information.

Havurat Tikvah Celebrates Sukkot and Simchat Torah

Havurat Tikvah will celebrate Sukkot on October 8, 4 PM, at the deGroot residence. Participants can sit in the Sukkot and wave the lulav and etrog in traditional form. Kosher snacks will be provided.

The congregation will observe Simchat Torah this year on October 13 by taking a short road trip on Friday evening to celebrate the holiday at Temple Emanuel, 320 S. South St., in Gastonia, NC. Carpooling will be arranged for those who are interested in attending the festive occasion.

Havurat Tikvah is a warm, supportive and learning Jewish Reconstructionist congregation with Shabbat services and a full spectrum of holiday observances, as well as religious educational options for both adults and children. We are a diverse group of families, singles, and Jewish and interfaith couples who participate in projects that promote social justice.

We value and depend upon your membership and leadership for our religious services, spiritual growth and governance. Havurat Tikvah is an affiliate of the Jewish Reconstructionist Communities, in association with the Reconstructionist Rabbinical College.

For more information on upcoming services, programs, membership or other queries, call 980-225-5330, write to Havurat Tikvah, P.O. Box 12684, Charlotte, NC 28220, email member@havurat.tikvah.org or visit havurat.tikvah.org. Havurat Tikvah is also on Facebook at facebook.com/groups/havurat.tikvah/. Check our website www.templekolamisynagogue.org for details of all events which are free and open to the public. Another Shabbaton is planned for December 15-16, so mark your calendars and keep an eye out for more information coming soon.

Temple Kol Ami has sponsored the Institute for Southern Jewish Life to lead us in prayer, study, and cultural enrichment. Please check our website www.templekolamisynagogue.org for details of all events which are free and open to the public. Another Shabbaton is planned for December 15-16, so mark your calendars and keep an eye out for more information coming soon.
Who Do You Think You Are?

What a thought provoking statement, but with further exploration there is a popular Emmy nominated television series by the same name – “Who Do You Think You Are?” based on a popular show in the U.K., in which viewers get a look at the family histories of popular celebrities. Lisa Kudrow (“Friends”) serves as the executive producer for the show. Kudrow was raised in a middle-class Jewish family and had a Bat Mitzvah. Her ancestors emigrated from Belarus, Germany, Hungary, and Poland, and some of them lived in the village of Ilya, near Minsk. As the Jewish community evolves we need to recallibrate and understand who we are where we live and serve. The challenge is knowing how to manage the scope and resources. Determining the best way to laser focus a group of resilient volunteers running and growing a synagogue can present challenges and great reward.

Just like the process experienced by the celebrities featured on the television show, many of us have our priorities revealed in layers at a personal level as we mature. This also holds true for synagogue families. Who are we? From the very beginning, Temple Solel has always known we were an inclusive Reform Congregation and affiliated ourselves with the URJ. We also knew we wanted to “Heal the World” looking for Tikkun Olam and Social Action volunteer opportunities. What we didn’t know until recently is we were meeting an underserved need in the Jewish community by providing a friendly and collaborative atmosphere for empty nesters and baby boomers. After our gold delegation signed up for the URJ B’nai Mitzvah, we noticed a topic, “Baby Boomers Symposium.” The syllabus describes, “As Baby Boomers enter a new stage of life, the Jewish community faces an unprecedented challenge. Never before has the time between 55 and 75 provided an encore stage of life; an opportunity for new profession, new challenges, and multiple decades of opportunities to explore. As many Boomers’ midlife careers and childrearing responsibilities wind down, they look ahead with hope to an opportunity to engage – or re-engage – in meaningful pursuits. The organized Jewish community can embrace this cohort with a new approach to creativity, collaboration, partnership and sacred community-building. In fact, as Boomers represent the largest cohort of Jewish adults, our growth and vitality as a movement for new profession, new challenges and great reward. Temple Solel members are hosted at Jan Rose’s home in an action-packed short and long-term strategic planning session led by Shelley Pawlyk. Also represented were voices of over 15 others who responded to planning requests by email when asked for ideas and goals they felt were important to the Temple Solel future. There was a lot of discussion concerning how we can meet the needs of families with children, which of course are extremely important. However, our largest current base and strength is tutoring and meeting the needs of single parents and families of b’nai mitzvah aged youth. With the help of the Jewish Federation of Greater Charlotte’s Impact and Innovation Fund grant we are in the process of engaging an experienced religious studies facilitator to work with our pre-b’nai mitzvah students. Currently, we have approximately five students who will be preparing for their bar/bat mitzvah. going to be dedicated to discussing possible projects for the Brotherhood. All were asked to bring their ideas. Tanya Trachtenberg is planning events and Sisterhood is targeting a start-up after the High Holy Days. We had two new congregant leaders participate in the last Board Meetings, which are open to all of our members. This type of participation is critical and helps breathe new life into the volunteer base. The two-hour board meetings inspire people to keep building momentum and take action towards common goals as a congregation.

Connecting individual people’s talents to existing needs is paramount to the success of any organization. A perfect example can be found within the beautiful heartfelt Torah Cover and separate Torah blanket made by Helaine and Gerry Yancy given in memory of their son, Kevin who we lost last year at this time. Helaine’s skills are evident when seeing the quality of the tapestry work she created, which will be used for the High Holy Days and other future services in years to come. In business, it is now proven that focus and further developing strengths is more critical than solving perceived gaps. What we were not expecting during our strategic planning is how important it is to embrace and grow our other strength, empty nesters, and baby boomers. We are focused on people, relationships, and community. If you are looking for a lay led havarah atmosphere with a balance between ritual and fellowship, please take time to visit a service. We regularly provide both tradition and new opportunities, whether it’s sponsoring an educational event, a presentation on Israel or scheduling an inter-faith experience. Between our youth and boomers, these two groups meet the third primary focus of the congregation, which is an outstretched arm to the communities around us in SC. That is exactly what Temple Solel is doing and we are embracing who we are.

We had another wonderful experience at our annual interfaith visit to Cornerstone Fellowship in Pineville, NC on Sunday, August 27. Pastor Mark Devito is a good friend of Temple Solel and the Jewish community at large. He is also the Pastor of a small congregation called Cornerstone similar to ours in size and feeling of a havurah. There were visitors present from Temple Solel, Temple Israel, and Temple Beth El who sang along with the musicians playing keyboards, guitars, and various drums. We listened to a special interactive sermon encouraging all those who attended to embrace being grateful, tied to our Hebrew text in Tehillim 101: 4-5 “Enter into His gates with thanksgiving, And into His courts with praise; Give thanks unto Him, and bless His name. For the Lord is good; His mercy endures forever; And His faithfulness unto all generations.” It is a meaningful and fun experience different from our own services. Pastor Mark (as he is affectionately known) is also the Director of Operations for Derek Prince Ministries in Charlotte, who graciously print our Yizkor books each year for the High Holy Days.

Connecting individual people’s talents to existing needs is paramount to the success of any organization. A perfect example can be found within the beautiful heartfelt Torah Cover and separate Torah blanket made by Helaine and Gerry Yancy given in memory of their son, Kevin who we lost last year at this time. Helaine’s skills are evident when seeing the quality of the tapestry work she created, which will be used for the High Holy Days and other future services in years to come. In business, it is now proven that focus and further developing strengths is more critical than solving perceived gaps. What we were not expecting during our strategic planning is how important it is to embrace and grow our other strength, empty nesters, and baby boomers. We are focused on people, relationships, and community. If you are looking for a lay led havarah atmosphere with a balance between ritual and fellowship, please take time to visit a service. We regularly provide both tradition and new opportunities, whether it’s sponsoring an educational event, a presentation on Israel or scheduling an inter-faith experience. Between our youth and boomers, these two groups meet the third primary focus of the congregation, which is an outstretched arm to the communities around us in SC. That is exactly what Temple Solel is doing and we are embracing who we are.

We had another wonderful experience at our annual interfaith visit to Cornerstone Fellowship in Pineville, NC on Sunday, August 27. Pastor Mark Devito is a good friend of Temple Solel and the Jewish community at large. He is also the Pastor of a small congregation called Cornerstone similar to ours in size and feeling of a havurah. There were visitors present from Temple Solel, Temple Israel, and Temple Beth El who sang along with the musicians playing keyboards, guitars, and various drums. We listened to a special interactive sermon encouraging all those who attended to embrace being grateful, tied to our Hebrew text in Tehillim 101: 4-5 “Enter into His gates with thanksgiving, And into His courts with praise; Give thanks unto Him, and bless His name. For the Lord is good; His mercy endures forever; And His faithfulness unto all generations.” It is a meaningful and fun experience different from our own services. Pastor Mark (as he is affectionately known) is also the Director of Operations for Derek Prince Ministries in Charlotte, who graciously print our Yizkor books each year for the High Holy Days.
Audacious Hospitality
By Rabbi Judy Schindler, Rabbi Emerita, Temple Beth El

“Audacious hospitality” is the vision for how the nearly 900 congregations of the Reform Movement welcome individuals into their midst. While first articulated in 2013 by our movement’s president, Rabbi Rick Jacobs, the concept of audacious hospitality is not new - it goes back to our origins as a people. Our patriarch and matriarch, Abraham and Sarah, were known for hospitality. According to rabbinic tradition, their tent was open on all four sides to welcome any traveler passing by.

Here’s how audacious hospitality has played and continues to play a prominent role in Reform Judaism:

Interfaith Families
In 1978, my father, Rabbi Alexander Schindler, of blessed memory, saw the need to expand our welcome to non-Jewish spouses marrying into our community. As President of the Reform movement, he said to his Board: “We must remove the ‘not wanted’ signs from our hearts. We are opposed to intermarriage but we cannot reject the intermarried. And we cannot but be aware that in our current behavior we communicate rejection. If Jews-by-choice often feel alienated by our attitudes and behavior, how much more alienated do the non-Jewish spouses of our children feel? ... I believe that it is time for our movement to launch a carefully conceived outreach program.”

That actualized goal of opening hearts and doors to the intermarried has strengthened us. The embrace extends to children of interfaith marriages. The Reform movement, built from its inception on the notion of the equality of men and women in religious life, affirmed equality in Jewish parenting. In 1983, a rabbinic resolution on patrilineal descent declared that the child of one Jewish parent, whether the mother or the father, would be presumed to be Jewish if established through timely acts of identification with the Jewish people.

The vision for outreach included our vibrant program for recruiting those who are “religiously unprepared” to consider Judaism as a life’s path. My father said, “When you see a great movie, you don’t hesitate to say to others, ‘You should see this movie.’ When you read a great book, you suggest others read it, too. Why wouldn’t you do the same with Judaism?”

The revolutionary vision for outreach that brought myriad of dedicated Jews into our midst, was mirrored by a call for intermarriage. My father would ask rhetorically, “What purpose is outreach, pray tell, if there is nothing within?”

Temple Beth El has a richness of opportunities of both outreach and intermarriage – from an Elements of Judaism course introducing Jewish belief and practice to Uptown Talmud to weekly Torah study. We have Jewish Living Groups, The Porch for young adults and families with young children, S.P.I.C.E. programs for seniors, and empty nester and baby boomer engagement initiatives.

LGBT Inclusion
Last month, Temple Beth El proudly hosted Charlotte’s Gay Pride Interfaith Service. Thankfully, that act was not revolutionary. In 1965, the Women of Reform Judaism passed a resolution decriminalizing homosexuality. By each decade, the movement broadened its advocacy and expanded its embrace – welcoming LGBT members, ordaining LGBT clergy; fighting for equal protection under the law; and affirming the rights of Reform rabbis to officiate at same-sex unions and then marriage.

At Temple Beth El, LGBT individuals and families are part of the fabric of our community. Our Keshet Committee provides space for allies to support them both inside and outside the synagogue.

Jews of Color
The Reform movement affirms “Jewish diversity, in all its hues, is no longer a wave – it is the ocean of Jewish life.” Ten percent of the American Jewish population identifies as Jews of color (according to Gary Tobin’s 2005 study). At Temple Beth El, as at congregations across our country, we rejoice in the beautiful diversity of congregants and work with intentionality to ensure that they feel included. Our commitment to racial justice becomes not an issue of others in the community – it is our issue, too.

Disabilities Inclusion
The 2010 renovation of Temple Beth El’s sanctuary so that all could have access to the bima is symbolic of our commitment to ensuring that those with disabilities feel at home. Our congregation is partners with Temple Israel in supporting our Tikvah Charlotte religious school that celebrates and educates our special needs students.

Innovation in response to modernity is a hallmark of Reform Judaism. From creating compelling opportunities for millennials to our seniors, Temple Beth El recognizes that inclusion takes courage and commitment. In this world, where rhetoric of exclusion can be heard daily, Reform synagogues become true sanctuaries and communities of warmth that lift hearts, heal souls, and affirm equality.

This Is How We Teach

PERSEVERANCE + PROBLEM-SOLVING

OPEN HOUSE
THURS., NOV. 2
9am - 2:30pm

Charlotte Jewish Day School

Jewish Federation of Greater Charlotte
Hurricane Irma and the Radiance of Shabbat
By Rabbi Chanoch Oppenheim, Charlotte Torah Center
Asher Zvi Hirsch Ginsberg, primarily known by his pen name Echad Ha’am, was one of the pre-eminent secular Zionist thinkers in the early 20th century and is considered the founder of cultural Zionism. He once famously remarked, “More than the Jews have kept the Sabbath, the Sabbath has kept the Jews.” In an article in The Forward (“Remember the Sabbath,” 3/13/13), Judah Shulevitz explained: “What he meant goes well beyond Jewish survivalism. He meant that the regulation of time through the laws of the Sabbath gave the Jews the chance to regroup in communities at the end of every week, and that that regrouping sustained their Jewish identity.”

I was thinking of the “more than the Jews have kept the Sabbath...” quote after Shabbat this week due to a unique circumstance. The 2017 Teen Trip with Mann Travel Agency (MannTravel.com) and VeredGo.com was operated for the first time by Vered HaSharon Travel and Tours, an Israeli company with 40 years of experience in the travel industry. State-side arrangements are through the Mann Travel Agency (MannTravels.com) who is helping with all the organizational and managerial aspects of the trip.

The touring in Israel is operated by Vered HaSharon Travel and Tours (VeredGo.com), an Israeli company with 40 years of experience in the travel industry. State-side arrangements are through the Mann Travel Agency (MannTravels.com) who is helping with all the organizational and managerial aspects of the trip.

We welcome the Jewish community of greater Charlotte, as well as family and friends, to join us in this amazing life-changing experience. For more information, go to www.TKTIsrael-Trip.org where you will find a detailed itinerary, pricing information, a slide show highlighting the sites to be visited, and a host of Frequently Asked Questions and Answers. To sign up or request additional information, call the Temple’s office at 704-987-9980 or email admin@templekoltikvah.org.
New Year I am always energized...
Shalom Park Freedom School Concludes Another Successful Summer

In late July, the Shalom Park Freedom School (SPFS) wrapped up its seventh successful summer of providing a six week literacy, cultural enrichment and character building camp for 80 elementary school-aged students on the LJCC campus.

Some highlights included:
- A visit from Hugo of the Charlotte Hornets and the Hornets Book Bus
- Performances of The Little Mermaid at the Blumenthal Performing Arts Center and James and the Giant Peach at CPCC
- Visits to Monkey Joe’s, Sky High Trampoline Center, Ray’s Splash Planet, and Discovery Place
- Roller skating, swim, and chess lessons, bowling and Scholastic Book Fairs
- Afternoon enrichment activities such as rocketry, linocuts, music, art, drama and dance, storytelling, Zumba, Community Garden, mindfulness training, and many more.
- A Great Day of D.E.A.R. (Drop Everything and Read) with community volunteers and our scholars.

A special thank you to:
- Our agency partners Levine JCC, Temple Israel, Temple Beth El, Jewish Federation of Greater Charlotte, Foundation of Shalom Park, Levine-Sklut Judaic Library, Jewish Family Services, and Charlotte Jewish Day School for providing facilities, logistical support, staff time and funding.
- Our more than 150 volunteers who served as reading buddies, afternoon activity assistants, field trip chaperones, site setup and breakdown helpers, photographers, and filled many other essential roles.
- Izzy’s Catering, who prepared 4,350 breakfasts and lunches for our scholars.
- Our Harambee readers, who started our scholars’ days off with great books.
- Second Harvest Food Bank and donors Hendrick Automotive Group, Assistance League, and Walmart, who ensured that our 80 scholars took home backpacks filled with food that they could share with their families each weekend.
- Our college student Servant Leader Interns and Site Coordinator who are the front lines against summer reading loss and help operate the SPFS site.
- Our 33 Teen Board members who volunteered as classroom and administrative assistants full-time for two weeks, a total of 80 hours each.

Preparations for next summer’s Freedom School will begin this fall. To learn how you can get involved, contact co-chairs Lisa Garfinkle (slgarfinkle@windstream.net) or Marcia Stern (cha­lyce@aol.com). Stay connected with us all year long by following us on Facebook (Shalom Park Freedom School) or visiting our website (www.spfreedomschool.org).

School

Like us on Facebook: Charlotte Jewish News

Call Julie Find Your Place

CRS – Certified Residential Specialist (3% of all Realtors)
SRES – Senior Real Estate Specialist
Five Star Professional Winner (7% of agents in Charlotte)
ABR, e-PRO, SPS, QSC

The Realtor with Experience & Knowledge Trusted By

Homes With Cachet

- BUYERS
- SELLERS
- RELOCATION

HomesWithCachet.com

God appeared to Solomon and said to him, ‘Ask what I shall give you.’ And Solomon said to God, ‘You have shown great kindness to David, my father, and have made me king in his stead ... Give me now wisdom and knowledge that I may go out and come in before this people; for who can judge these your people, that are so great?’

– 2 Chronicles, 1:7-8

Like us on Facebook:
Charlotte Jewish News
First Recipients of Vitner Family Scholarship Announced

CIDDS is proud to announce the first recipients of the Vitner Family Scholarship, Rosie and Daniel David. Their daughter Sarah is a first grader at Charlotte Jewish Day School, moving to CIDDS from public school. Rosie is the current Board President of the Jewish Preschool on Sardis, past PTO President, and has served on the steering committee for Joined in Education (JIE). She has volunteered at Super Sunday for the past three years and is active at the Ballantyne Jewish Center, where she has helped with Shabbatons and other holiday celebrations.

Amy and Mark Vitner established this scholarship as a reward to families who have shown an exceptional commitment to furthering Jewish life for their family and for the community in Charlotte. Amy and Mark have three children who graduated from CIDDS. Since their children have graduated from CIDDS and are experiencing success in school and positive growth as individuals, they want to make a Jewish education available to more families involved in the Jewish community. Amy, a past President of the Board of Directors at CIDDS noted, “We are proud of the education and care that our children have received at CIDDS and want more families to benefit from the Jewish values that are instilled in our children. We want to encourage and help active young families to experience and gain from this very special institution.” Amy and Mark are very engaged members of the Charlotte Jewish community, serving on the boards of the Jewish Federation of Greater Charlotte. The Foundation for the Charlotte Jewish Community, and the Hebrew Cemetery, in addition to JIP and CIDDS.

The scholarship will be awarded annually to one family. The recipient will receive up to $5000 towards CIDDS tuition over a three-year period as follows:

* Year 1-$1000
* Year 2-$2000
* Year 3-$2000

The scholarship is a need-blind reward for young parents who wish to give their children a quality education steeped in Jewish values, learning, and traditions and are deeply passionate about serving the Jewish community. Minimum eligibility requirements includes:

* Must be a new family applying to Charlotte Jewish Day School entering grades K-2
* Family shall be a member in good standing at a Temple in the Charlotte area.
* Minimum support of the Federation annual campaign of $36 for the current campaign year.
* Letter of recommendation from a Jewish organization with whom you are affiliated.
* Financial need is not an eligibility factor.

The David’s have two younger children, Noah and Jacob. We are excited to welcome the Davids to our CIDDS community.

JPS Searches for Missing Kippah

Morah Jayme and Avi are up to some fun adventures to begin the 2017-2018 school year at the Jewish Preschool on Sardis. This time, they began Avi’s Kippah Adventures with our four-year-old classroom.

“Avi loves to do a mitzvah, but sometimes he doesn’t get it quite right. Avi is always losing his favorite kippah. Don’t worry, though, Avi’s kippah is busy having adventures and doing mitzvot all on its own. Let’s take a trip and see where Avi’s kippah has been...”

It works like this:

* Children take Avi’s kippah on adventures and they take photos of where the kippah (and kids) have been.
* Families snap photos of those adventures and mitzvot
* Some ideas for Avi’s kippah are taking it to run errands at the store or doing a mitzvah like helping a family member or friend, it could also be participating in daily schedules like brushing teeth or making challah, and possibly on some adventure like going to the park, to a game, or possibly on a trip with the family.
* Once the adventures have happened, and lots of photos taken, send the kippah to a family member or friend who lives in another place. Ask them to enjoy the same fun and to send the kippah and photos back.

As the family members return the photos to the Jewish Preschool on Sardis, Morah Jayme will print the photos and the class will have a book to share their stories with one another. We can’t wait to see where Avi’s kippah ends up. How far do you think it will travel? What is the most exciting adventure do you think the kippah will experience?

JPS is excited to hear of the adventures and we hope you’ll get to see some of the photos if you join us for Brunch in the Sukkah on Sunday, October 8. See our ad on page 25 for details or contact our office at 704-364-8395 for more information. Chag Sameach Y’all! ☺

JPS Charlotte Jewish Day School

The kids have Avi, but where is his kippah?
By Becca Weiner

At the Charlotte Jewish Preschool our half-day program started back right after Labor Day and it is wonderful to have all 250 of our students back in our building. With the new preschool year in full effect while Rosh Hashanah was quickly approaching, CJP students explored the value of haft-chalah, New Beginnings.

Our ones classes created Shanah Tovah, Happy New Year, cards and engaged families by exchanging them with each other using a mailbox at school. They also hand delivered New Year cards to Oasis members on September 18 as part of our new L’Hor V’dor initiative. Each month one of our preschool classes will be visiting Oasis for a special teacher-driven program so that we can build connections and our students can learn from the elders of our community.

Our twos classes loved using light tables to look at honey, especially when there were seeds and apple chunks in there. This sensory activity allowed them to learn the word “sticky” and to see what the honey looks like when held up to a light.

Our threes classes learned about New Beginnings through the lifecycle of an apple seed. The classes planted apple seeds in zipper-seal bags with soil in them and hung them on their window so they could see how it grew daily. They learned how a seed needs sunlight and water to sprout from a seedling into an apple tree, and when we eat an apple we have a brand new opportunity to plant another apple seed.

Our fours classes set their Rosh Hashanah tables during their morning meetings. They saw how the Rosh Hashanah table differs from the Shabbat table — the chal-lah is round, there are apples and honey, and the shofar is ready to be blown. We compared and contrasted Rosh Hashanah with Shabbat, and the fours continued to celebrate Rosh Hashanah in their dramatic play centers with the necessary accoutrements.

As for Judaica, students particularly enjoyed blowing and hearing the shofar. Although only a few students got a sound out of the shofar, every student had the opportunity to touch, feel, and try their hand at blowing the shofar. Many expressed that it was difficult to do, but all of them tried something new and persisted at the activity. Shanah tovah u’metukah, we wish all of the families in our community a good and sweet new year.

Join Us for an Open House

TK-Kindergarten
October 6, 2017
9:30 – 11:30 a.m.

Grades 6–12
October 13, 2017
9:30 – 11:30 a.m.

Register at CharlotteLatin.org/admissions
New Cultural Arts Programs at the JCC with PlayPlay, JSTAGE, and Fall Flicks

There has never been a busier time for the LJCC Cultural Arts programs and The Charlotte Jewish Film Festival (CJFF). Under the direction of Susan Chern Gundersheim, Cultural Arts and CJFF Director, and Kayla Piscatelli, Cultural Arts Coordinator, there are two brand new programs coming this fall, in addition to the always stellar CJFF Fall Flicks series.

Thanks to the LJCC Capital Campaign, Gorelick Hall is ready for the exciting new programs it will host this fall, with brand new LED lighting, a new sound system, and new curtains. Come check out PlayPlay, our brand new theatre experience designed for children from birth – three years. With its simple plots, live music, and floor seating with room to move around, PlayPlay invites lights to encourage the youngest of theatre-goers to watch along. The play tells the story of a grandfather who finds new purpose through ritual and a Rabbi struggling to find her way after a tragedy, measuring a Jewish life and values through faith, suffering, children, joy, and community. Directed by Steven Levine and starring Stephanie DiPaolo and Rob Addison, Bar Mitzvah Boy evokes laughter one moment and tears the next, and is a theatrical experience not to be missed. Tickets can be purchased for $18 at charlottejcc.org/culturalarts and can be purchased for $12 for individual shows ... or save with a season pass for all four shows for $40.

Equally exciting but for an older crowd, JSTAGE announces its first professional production, Bar Mitzvah Boy, playing in the newly renovated Gorelick Hall October 19–22. Bar Mitzvah Boy, by Marc Leiren-Young, was the 2017 National and Charlotte winner of the Jewish Playwriting Contest. The play tells the story of a grandfather who finds new purpose through ritual and a Rabbi struggling to find her way after a tragedy, measuring a Jewish life and values through faith, suffering, children, joy, and community. Directed by Steven Levine and starring Stephanie DiPaolo and Rob Addison, Bar Mitzvah Boy evokes laughter one minute and tears the next, and is a theatrical experience not to be missed. Tickets can be purchased for $18 at charlottejcc.org/culturalarts and can be purchased for $12 for individual shows ... or save with a season pass for all four shows for $40.

Lastly, after competing with the Panthers last fall, The Charlotte Jewish Film Festival has moved FallFlicks to Saturday evenings. We have a great line up of three films at Regal Ballantyne beginning in late October, and two directors scheduled to appear as special guests. My Hero Brother, an extraordinary Israeli film, in which a group of young people with Down syndrome embarks on a demanding trip through the Indian Himalayas, accompanied by their “typical” brothers and sisters, will play on Saturday, October 28 and director Yonaton Nir will join us after the film for a discussion. On Saturday November 4, we will screen Past Life, a hybrid detective thriller and heart-tugging melodrama based on a true story in which two Israeli sisters unravel the shocking truth about their father’s murky WWII experiences. And on Saturday November 11, we welcome special guest director Brad Lichtenstein, which focuses on four once-thriving Jewish communities in rural and small towns America and how they struggle to maintain their traditions. Tickets for FallFlicks films, we are excited to partner with Full Scale Productions for the free premiere of Jewish American Soldiers: Stories of WWII. This film tells the stories of Charlotte-area Jewish American World War II veterans and will screen as a bonus FallFlick on Sunday, November 12 at 3 PM at Regal Ballantyne. We would love to see a packed house to honor these local heroes. See the story on page 1 for more info. Whether you are the parent of a baby or toddler, a busy family, or a senior citizen, come join us at the LJCC and add a little culture to your life. We hope to see you in the audience soon. See our ad on page 27 for even more details.

Community News

Building Blocks

“I liked that our team kept creating new designs and persevering when it did fall down.”
— Prableen, Class of ’25
1st & 4th grade collaborative Tower Project
GLOBAL DAY OF JEWISH LEARNING

A worldwide cultural event to celebrate our shared heritage.

- Welcome Breakfast
- Keynote Speaker, Justice Richard Bernstein
- PJ Library Activity
- Jewish Adult Learning & Cultural Arts Workshops
- Lunch & Tikkun Olam Projects
- Free babysitting (must register in advance)

For details and registration visit, www.jewishcharlotte.org/GDJL

Sunday, November 12
8:30am – 1pm
Shalom Park
All events are free

This program is supported by a JFGC Impact & Innovation Grant.
Jewish Family Services Receives Legacy Gift

Jewish Family Services of Greater Charlotte (JFS) and the Carolina Refugee Settlement Agency (CRRA) have received legacy gifts from the estate of Daniel and Ellen Dubin to support their community work. Following Ellen’s passing in late 2016, and Dan’s in 2011, these gifts were made in accordance with their estate and legacy plans. The legacy gifts received by these two organizations were grants from the Dan and Ellen Dubin Donor Advised Fund, established at Foundation for the Charlotte Jewish Community (FCJC) in 2009 to assist them with their charitable giving.

At a young age, Dan and Ellen Dubin were taught of their responsibilities to provide for others, especially those who were less fortunate. They saw it as a communal responsibility and made it part of their lives, leading by example and passing along those same traditions to their four children. They did so with their time as well as with their resources.

“Whatever turned out to be one of the last conversations I had with my father,” shares daughter Joyce, “was him reminding me of the importance of giving tzedakah.” Daughter Adina adds “Even as children, my dad would take us with him to Costco a couple of times a year specifically to buy food and supplies to donate to JFS. We always had a conversation about what we were doing and why this was so important.”

In 2000, the Dubins had already established the Dubin-Feldman Food Endowment to support Jewish Family Services of Charlotte and memorialize Dan’s uncle, Louis Feldman. “Uncle Lou” was fondly remembered by Dan, Ellen, Dan’s brother, and their children as an unpretentious man with a big heart. Having experienced hunger as a child, Lou was especially concerned that other people not go hungry. The Dubins’ support of CRRA, formerly affiliated with Hebrew Immigrant Aid Society (HIAS), can be traced back to the organization’s support of Ellen’s grandfather’s story as she served the many Jewish and non-Jewish refugees assisted by the organization.

“Our parents were modest people,” said son Adam, “and they cared deeply for the world around them.” Noted son David, “They supported causes that were meaningful to them and they encouraged us to do so, in our own ways, as well.”

In addition to utilizing their donor advised fund to support their legacy giving, Dan and Ellen were assisted by FCJC in arranging for their four children to serve collaboratively as the fund’s successor advisors. In doing so, these assets are now available to pass down a family’s philanthropic tradition to the next generation. The children are currently working with the University of Albany Hillel, where Dan and Ellen met. Because this organization deeply influenced their parents’ personal and familial Jewish journeys, the children would like to establish a legacy there that will impact students for generations to come.

“Dan and Ellen Dubin were quiet and compassionate people who were committed to making the world a better place,” said FCJC Executive Director Phil Warshauer. “During our visits they shared with me their love of family and their compassion for others. It’s comforting to know that they will be remembered through their legacy gifts and the many shared memories that remain alive in the hearts of their children and grandchildren.”

“Give of yourself ... you can always give something, even if it is only kindness ... no one has ever become poor from giving.”

– Anne Frank, The Diary of a Young Girl, March 1944

---

Ready. For. Anything.

Ready to learn. Ready to succeed. Ready for whatever life has in store for me. Country Day Ready.

Open House Dates:

October 12
(Junior Kindergarten - Kindergarten)

November 2
(Grades 9 – 12)

November 16
(Grades 5 – 8)

charlottecountryday.org
(704) 943-4530
Moishe House October Events

Moishe House is a nonprofit organization dedicated to promoting community among Jewish young adults in their twenties and early thirties. Moishe House looks to fill the void that often exists after graduating college and prior to settling down. The organization brings together groups of young Jewish adults who live together and plan local programs, both home-based and excursions for other young Jewish adults. There are currently 93 Moishe Houses in 22 countries around the world.

Moishe House Charlotte began in August 2013 and since then has hosted 130+ events ranging from service projects to social events to Jewish learning and more. We are always happy to see new and returning faces, so be sure to join us. We are currently looking for a new roommate. We are pleased to share with you our exciting events for this October:

Event 1: Pizza, Poker, and Philanthropy - Tuesday, October 3 at 6:30 PM at Moishe House

The WE ARE campaign builds off of the notion of strength-in-numbers, where many members of a Moishe House community joining together and making personally meaningful financial contributions will make an enormously positive and powerful impact. And what better way to donate to your lovely Charlotte Moishe House, and Moishe Houses around the globe, than a poker night. You love them so we’re throwing another. Food and drinks will be provided.

Event 2: Moishe House Without Walls Happy Hour - Thursday, October 5 at 6 PM at Thomas Street Tavern, 1218 Thomas Ave., Charlotte

Did you know that Moishe House will provide you funding in exchange for building your own ideal Jewish community? It’s a good gig. Join Moishe House Without Walls (MHWOW) Administrator Leah Jalfon and MoHo Charlotte over brews to learn how to become eligible for the program.

Event 3: Bonfire at MoHo - Friday, October 13 at 7:30 PM at Moishe House

Fall is finally here and you know what that means - s’mores. Join MoHo Charlotte for a backyard bonfire. We will provide exciting s’mores materials (read: chocolate and Reese’s cups) but please bring a snack to share.

Event 4: Dinner and a Movie - Thursday, October 19 at 6 PM. Dinner at Yafo. Movie at Phillips Place

We will start the night off right at Yafo for some dinner and then head to Phillips Place for one of the 7 PM movies. Vote on our survey for which movie you’d like to see. And when we get out the night will still be young.

Event 5: Pumpkin Brunch Potluck - Sunday, October 29 at 11 AM at Moishe House Charlotte

It’s that time of year when anything that can be eaten with pumpkin should be eaten with pumpkin. So, MoHo will be opening our home for a pumpkin brunch potluck. We are asking all Moische’s to bring a pumpkin-themed dish and we will provide a fully stocked Bloody Mary bar.

To learn more about Moishe House Charlotte, visit us at www.moishehousecharlotte.org/houses/charlotte or check us out on MoisheHouseCharlotte. To contact us, please e-mail moischcharlotte@gmail.com.

From Politics to Protests – Ideas for Engaging in Critical Conversations

By Jackie Fishman, Education Consultant for the Stan Green­spoon Center for Peace and Social Justice

We live in extremely difficult times. How do we, as parents, teachers, neighbors, and community members, engage with one another in talking about current events that are shocking, painful and too frequently, echo the horrid voices of the worst of both our Jewish and our American past? From responding to the protests in Charlotte last fall to processing the horror of neo-Nazis marching in Charlottesville two months ago, the past year has been filled with legal, political, civic, and ethical dilemmas that confound many of us. All of us are asking questions that don’t have easy answers.

The Stan Green­spoon Center for Peace and Social Justice at Queens University of Charlotte has suggestions that may both clarify and complicate your thinking about race. We hope they enhance your ability to do the work of Tikkun Olam, repairing our world.

Read and research. Identify the issue at the core of the current event you want to address and read articles reflecting diverse perspectives on credible websites. (Visit the “validating resources” under “teacher resources” on our website.) Challenge your worldview by digging deeper than the headlines and the social media posts that flash before you. In order to take part in productive conversations about the history of race, slavery, the Civil War and Reconstruction in the United States, you may need background. Our past has a powerful impact upon our present, and beliefs from those times have been the impetus for a great deal of terror and violence, but also have inspired many social movements committed to justice and democratic ideals.

Be brave and vulnerable. Ask yourself and others how they feel about discussing race, class, or gender. Is it difficult? Why? Are these feelings valid? Where do they come from? Acknowledge them and use them for your own critical thinking and participating in meaningful conversations.

Confirm your values. Do some serious thinking about what principles guide your life. Is their source religious, political or ethical? Consider how you put them into practice in your daily life. What actions reflect those values?

(Continued on page 27)
JCHILDCARE.

7 weeks – 7 years old
Children will enjoy a nurturing environment to explore and have fun with crafts and activities, while parents workout.

Mon-Fri AM......................... 8am-1pm
Mon-Thur PM ..................... 4pm-7:30pm
Saturday ......................... 12pm-3pm
Sunday ......................... 8:30am-2pm

Per Hour: M/$4.50 NM/$5.50

Grades K-5th
A great, supervised space for your elementary age child to have fun and hang out with friends, while you workout!

Sundays, 8:30am-1pm
Location: Check with LJCC Customer Service
M/$2/hour NM/$5.50 per hour

Reservations Required! 704-366-5007, or visit LJCC Customer Service.

HOLIDAY HOURS
Frev Sukkot
Wednesday, October 4 ........... 5:30am-6pm
Sukkot
Thursday, October 5............. 1-6:30pm
Sukkot
Friday, October 6................ 1-5pm
Frev Shemini Atzeret
Wednesday, October 11 ...... 5:30am-6pm
Shemini Atzeret
Thursday, October 12.......... 1-6pm
Simchat Torah
Friday, October 13......... 1-5pm

Pick up a flyer with detailed info on fitness classes and hours at the LJCC Customer Service Desk or visit charlottejcc.org.

Teens

Junior CRUSH Tennis Academy
8-10 yrs old & 11-18 yrs old
Players must be approved by tennis staff to enroll in this class if they are not currently on a CRUSH Team. Emphasis placed on point construction, rally skills, and basic tennis conditioning. Twice per week recommended for all competitive players. Open to all 10 and under tennis players.

Monday, Tuesday & Thursday
5-6:30pm
September 5 – December 7 (36 sessions)
M/$240 $180 NM/$300 for any 10 sessions

Best College for Me & Financial Aid 101
10th – 12th Grade
Are you starting to look at and apply to college? There are a lot of factors to think about when choosing a school. Student life, athletics, programs, even food options. There is also Financial Aid, what to ask for and are there other options if you don’t receive as much as you need? Join us for two great discussions to help put you in the right direction.

Registration is required.

Sunday, October 15
2-3:30pm
M/$10 ($20 for families up to 4 members) B/Free
NM/$15 ($30 for families up to 4 members)

Train Hard or Go Home

NEW IN GROUP EX
DOCTOR OR BOOT CAMP
A physical training program designed to build strength and fitness through a variety of intense group intervals.

CYCLE FUSION
Combine cardio and strength training! We’ll start with a challenging ride focusing on muscular strength and endurance and then we’ll get off the bikes mid-class to do a strength-training workout using equipment.

YOUTH CARDIO DANCE
(4th-10th Graders)
Burn calories by burning up the dance floor! Dance to Latin-style music, including merengue, salsa, mambo, & more!

Pick up your Group Ex Schedule at LJCC Customer Service
O: Jeny.crow@charlottejcc.org

For location, season ticket passes and details, go to www.charlottejcc.org

Pricing Codes: M = Member B = Benefactor NM = Non-Member

www.charlottejcc.org  704-366-5007
Sukkot in the Vineyards and Orchards
Adults 21+
Celebrate Sukkot and Fall in the beautiful North Carolina Mountains. Come join the LJCC on our all-day excursion to Burntshirt Vineyards and an Apple Orchard in Hendersonville, NC. Space is limited - RSVP and pay by Monday, October 2. Sunday, October 8 (Rain or Shine)
Bus Departs from LJCC at 10am, returns by 7pm M/$30 B/$75 NM/$90
Includes Transportation/Box Lunch/Private Tour/ Private 14-Wine Tasting/Souvenir Glass/No charge for Apple Orchard/Pay for what you pick
704-944-6753 or sharri.benjamin@charlottejcc.org

Judah for the Curious
Are you curious about Judaism? Throughout the coming year the Oasis Senior Enrichment Program will be offering monthly classes on Judaism designed to educate, motivate, and inspire you to live life with the use of timeless Jewish wisdom. Rabbi Oppenheim will explore a different topic each month.
October topic: What Judaism say about KINDNESS
Monday, October 2 • 1-2pm
FSP Board Room
FREE
704-944-6753 or sharri.benjamin@charlottejcc.org

Ladies’ Night Out: Cuisine & Craft
Create a simple, fashionable T-Shirt scarf while enjoying dinner at Grapes Wine Bar in Matthews.
2233 Matthews Township Pkwy, Matthews, NC 28105
Thursday, November 2
6:30pm
M/$30 NM/$25 Plus cost of dinner
704-944-6753 or robin.stier@charlottejcc.org

A Matter of Balance
Many older adults experience concerns about falling and restrict their activities. An award-winning program designed to strategically and practically manage falls and increase activity levels. Space is limited, register early.
Thursdays, 10am–12pm
October 19 & 26 • November 2, 9, 16 & 30
December 7 & 14
FREE
704-944-6753 or sharri.benjamin@charlottejcc.org

Tai Chi/Qigong
Adults 50+
Improve your strength, balance and flexibility through this gentle form of fitness.
NEW CLASS FORMAT
Tuesdays, 11:45am–12:45pm
All Levels • Ongoing
Oasis/M/$30 B/$20 NM/$42 per month
Drop-in fee: M/B/$12 p/class NM/$14 p/class
704-944-6762 or jill.linson@charlottejcc.org

Painting & Beyond Art Class
Adults 50+
Ignite your creativity and learn from an art instructor.
1st, 2nd, & 3rd Mondays 10-11:30am • Room A110
Oasis/LJCC Member $5/class
Non-Affiliate/Non-Member: $10/class
Register with LJCC Customer Service at 704-366-5007

Arthritis
SUMMIT 2017
This seminar will bring you updates in arthritis care and self-management from some of the top experts in the field.
Free dinner limited to first 200 persons.
November 9 • 6–8pm
The Levine Jewish Community Center
5007 Providence Road, Charlotte, NC
RSVP by Friday, NOV 3 to www.eventbrite.com, 704-331-4678 or jwaton@centralina.org

LJCC Department Directory
Please contact us you have questions!

Membership
Susan Lerner 704-944-6741
susan.lerner@charlottejcc.org

Early Childhood
Patty Torcellini 704-944-6865
patty.torcellini@charlottejcc.org

K-5th Grade Programs
Mitch Ormand 704-944-6733 mitch.ormand@charlottejcc.org

Teen Programs
Jessie Cohen 704-944-6739
jessie.cohen@charlottejcc.org

Adults & Seniors/Oasis
Jill Linsen 704-944-6792
jill.linson@charlottejcc.org

Sports
Stephanie Garner 704-944-6743
stephanie.garner@charlottejcc.org

Aquatics / Swim Team
Joshua Steinberger 704-944-6746 joshua.steinberger@charlottejcc.org

LJCC Tennis / CRUSH
Greg O’Connor 704-944-6748 gregory.oconnor@charlottejcc.org

Visual/Performing Arts
Susan Gundersheim 704-944-6778
susan.gundersheim@charlottejcc.org

J-Childcare
Amie Gray 704-944-6726
amie.gray@charlottejcc.org

Social Action
Julie Rizzo 704-944-6730
julie.rizzo@charlottejcc.org

Flu Shot Clinic
AT THE LJCC
Monday, October 9
14 yrs + older • No Appointment Necessary
No co-pay for Aetna, BlueCross/BlueShield of NC, Cigna,
Medicare Part B & United Health Care - all others $40.99
Weinberg Senior Center
9am–4pm

Medicare Part D Counseling
Prescription Drug Plan Open Enrollment
Oct 15 through Dec 7
To make an appointment with a Volunteer SHIP Counselor contact: Jill Linsen at 704-944-6792 or jill.linson@charlottejcc.org

Like us! • facebook.com/levinejcc
On behalf of the Board of Trustees of The Hebrew Cemetery Association, thank you to our sponsors, our donors, our members, and all who attended our 150th Anniversary Celebration on Thursday, August 26 at the Levine Museum of the New South. Our month-long fundraising campaign raised in excess of $75,000 for our maintenance and capital programs. Your generosity and support helps ensure that our next generation will be well on their way to celebrating the Cemetery’s 200th birthday in 2067.

Noteworthy announcements: Bill Gorelick and Marc Silverman were presented with Lifetime Achievement Awards for their commitment and service to our Cemetery. Steve Hockfield was presented with an award for his more than 20 years of legal service to our Cemetery. All three were named Lifetime Members in The Hebrew Cemetery Association. Brian Yesowitch was named as the first “Hilbert Fuerstman Honorary Historical Chair.” Thank you to Glenn Fishkin and Full Scale Productions for producing the excellent video of our Hebrew Cemetery and to Art Mattos of ARTSHOTS Photography for the wonderful photographs of the evening.

Contact Sandra Goldman if you wish to view our video or the photographs of the celebration and if you wish to become a Cemetery Association member.

Yours Truly Needlepoint and Knitting
Handpainted Needlepoint Canvases

All New Canvases — Free lessons
— Unique Gift Ideas —
New and Old Customers Very Welcome
Best Selection in Charlotte

All Proceeds Go to Local Charities

3802 Columbine Circle
704-366-6765
Open Thursdays
9 a.m.-5 p.m.

Your Connection to The Jewish Community

Jeremy Ordan, Matti Ordan
Reider Groups

TheOrdanReiderGroup.com

Natalie Tunney, Gail Halverson, Norman Steinberger, Nora Wolf, Marnie Moskowitz
The Events of Celebrate The Tatas 2017

Soccer Tournament of Champions
Saturday and Sunday, October 7 and 8
Hime Park, Winston-Salem

Novant Mammovan
Monday, October 16, 9 AM-3:30 PM
Shalom Park

Raise a Glass
Wednesday, October 25, 6 PM

With Hadassah National VP Carol Ann Schwartz 3214 Gray Moss Rd.

Little Reveal
Thursday, October 26, 11:30 AM-2:30 PM
Maggiano’s: dedication, lunch, live auction, and more

For more info, visit celebratethetas.com

Your Free 2017-2018 Charlotte Area Jewish Community Directory

Hadassah Charlotte has lots of exciting news about the 2017-2018 Directory. The most important news - the 2017-2018 Charlotte Area Jewish Community Directory is being distributed for free. That’s right - you can pick up your copy of the Directory for free at the front desk of the Levine Jewish Community Center starting Monday, October 2. There will also be copies at Ohr Torah, Temple Beth El, and Temple Israel.

Novant Health is the sponsor of the 2017-2018 Charlotte Area Jewish Community Directory. Their generous sponsorship has enabled us to triple the number of books printed and to distribute the Directory free of charge to the Jewish community. Thank you, Novant Health. This year Hadassah Charlotte went online to update listings and to better serve our advertisers. Many important changes took place behind the scenes to improve the accuracy, relevance, and availability of the 2017-2018 Directory. The Directory will be mailed to all the women who are the generous patrons of the Directory. Thank you to everyone who completed the online listing update form, and you can also get your copy of the Directory for free. As always, any member of the Charlotte area Jewish community can be listed, for no charge, in the Directory.

Please patronize our wonderful advertisers, the businesses, and professionals who support our community and our Directory through their ads.

Thanks again to Novant, our advertisers and all the Hadassah Charlotte volunteers who made this new Directory a reality.

Shake the etrog and lulav, nosh & enjoy new friends!
All are welcome for family fun.
6619 Sardis Road | Kindly RSVP to info@japonsardis.org
Support of Shalom Park Security Expenses

Dear Shalom Park Families and Individuals:

Safety and security on Shalom Park is one of the Foundation's primary duties, and we take this very seriously. As a result of events at the beginning of this year, the Foundation of Shalom Park took immediate action to increase security on Shalom Park, including the following measures:

- Increased Charlotte-Mecklenburg Police Department (CMPD) hours by more than 400%.
- Increased contracted security by more than 25%, and
- Engaged a 3rd party security consulting company to review all policies and procedures, and to work with staff to develop priorities for safety and security planning and training. The company also made recommendations for capital improvements to increase safety and mitigate risks.

In 2017, the Foundation refocused its partnership with the Security Council, which includes the FBI, Homeland Security, and CMPD, to deepen its strong relationships with law enforcement and to enhance ongoing two-way communication. We have made significant progress implementing the 3rd party guidance via these actions:

- Purchased a security vehicle that is consistently used in Park patrols,
- Implemented procedures for handling 27 possible events ranging from suspicious person to civil unrest,
- Developed an ongoing training program that will continue year-to-year, and
- Completed security training for nearly all employees prior to the beginning of the High Holy Days.

Furthermore, the Foundation continues to be proactive about equipment upgrades, traffic flow improvements and inter-agency communication.

Increased security for 2017 cost an additional $182,000, and this unbudgeted amount is being absorbed by the Foundation's reserves, as well as by the Partners and organizations that call Shalom Park home. Security costs on Shalom Park now are projected to be 70.3% greater than last year.

The Foundation is committed to maintaining this level of security, which is budgeted at $416,000 in 2018. We will need your financial support to achieve our campaign goal of $160,000. A suggested contribution of $180 per household will enable us to provide the appropriate level of protection for children and families who enjoy the activities and services on the Park.* While any donation is gratefully accepted, if you are able, please consider a gift of $360, $540 or more to supplement those unable to contribute.

The security of our community is paramount. To make your contribution please complete and return the form on the reverse side of this letter. Your generous donation will help the Foundation maintain a robust security program in 2018.

Thank you in advance for your support,

Linda Seigel, President

*Tax ID#58-1477831. The Foundation of Shalom Park is a 501(c)3 organization, and your donation is deductible to the fullest extent of the law.

This letter is endorsed by the following leaders at Shalom Park:

Larry Schwartz
Jewish Federation of Greater Charlotte

Jon Simon
Levine Jewish Community Center

Ginny Rosenberg
Temple Beth El

Ron Weiner
Temple Israel

Ellen Goldstein
BBYO Eastern Region: North Carolina Council

Karen Ransenberg
Charlotte Jewish Day School

Liz Naman
Charlotte Jewish Preschool

Michael Littauer
Hebrew Cemetery Association

Harry Sparks
Jewish Family Services

Rael Gorelick
Moishe House

Kindly mail your check payable to The Foundation of Shalom Park Security Fund to:
The Foundation of Shalom Park
Attn: Security Fund
5007 Providence Road, Suite 102
Charlotte, NC 28226-5849

Photos above (left to right) are courtesy of Barbara Osborn Photography, Levine Jewish Community Center and Temple Israel.
Engaging in Critical Conversations
(Continued from page 21)

in your family and community life?

Contribute. Turn study, feelings, and beliefs into actions by speaking out against discrimination and becoming intentionally involved in activities that confirm your commitment to stand against negative forces in our community and country.

The Greenspon Center is here to help you explore, discuss and work for change. Please contact us at www.stangreensponcenter.org. Below are a few resources you may wish to begin with.

Ta-Nehesi Coates, Between the World and Me.
“What I said when my white friend asked for my black opinion on white privilege”
(onbeh.org)

“What is the ‘silence’?”
by Cory Collins
(tolerance.org)

Anti-Defamation League
(adl.org)

The Equal Justice Initiative
(wishfilm.org)

A person who walks his path in life without regard to ethical standards is like a blind man who does not now his journey is along the bank of a river. The person can at any moment succumb to the dangers of a wrong step and the odds are more certainly toward his being hurt than escaping harm.”

– Moses Luzzatto,
The Path of the Upright
QUACK,

PJ Library invites you.....

NEIGH

MOO!

Sunday, October 22
10:00 am

Darby Acres Farm
9396 Hutchinson Lane, Charlotte, NC

$10 per person
(children under 2 are free)

Join us for a morning of fun on the farm

Activities will include:
- Tour of the farm
- Feed the animals
- Craft
- Snack

Register online at www.nextgencharlotte.org

Questions?? Contact Debby Block | debby.block@jewishcharlotte.org | 704.944.6780
DINING OUT, CATERING & HOSPITALITY

To advertise, contact one of our sales representatives:
Jodi Valenstein, 704-609-0950  Pam Garrison, 704-906-7034

SPACE FOR THE MEMORIES

More space means more fun. At Residence Inn® we have suites with full kitchens, complimentary breakfast, wi-fi, swimming pools and space so that everyone in the family can stay for the big events. It’s not a room, it’s a Residence.*

Offer Rate:
Book 10-14 rooms and receive a special rate of $119 for a Studio and receive a complimentary upgrade to a One Bedroom Suite.

Book 15+ rooms and receive a special rate of $109 for Studio Suites and receive an upgrade to a One Bedroom Suite.

Pick up 20+ rooms and you will receive a complimentary hospitality area for your group.

Residence Inn® by Marriott®
Charlotte SouthPark
6030 Piedmont Row Drive South | Charlotte, NC 28210
T 704.554.7001  |  residenceinncharlotte.com

More space means more fun. At Residence Inn® we have suites with full kitchens, complimentary breakfast, wi-fi, swimming pools and space so that everyone in the family can stay for the big events. It’s not a room, it’s a Residence.*

Offer Rate:
Book 10-14 rooms and receive a special rate of $119 for a Studio and receive a complimentary upgrade to a One Bedroom Suite.

Book 15+ rooms and receive a special rate of $109 for Studio Suites and receive an upgrade to a One Bedroom Suite.

Pick up 20+ rooms and you will receive a complimentary hospitality area for your group.

Residence Inn®
Charlotte SouthPark
6030 Piedmont Row Drive South | Charlotte, NC 28210
T 704.554.7001  |  residenceinncharlotte.com

Hampton Inn & Suites SouthPark at Phillips Place
Charlotte, NC 28210  704-319-5700
www.hamptonsouthpark.com

FREE LUNCH
Buy 1 Lunch Entree and 2 beverages and get second entree of equal or lesser value up to $6.95
11:30 AM - 3 PM Mon.-Fri.
12 Noon - 4 PM Sat.
Not valid with Sunday Buffet. Dine in only.
Not valid with any other offers. Expires 11/30/17

FREE DINNER
Buy 1 Dinner Entree and 2 beverages and get second entree of equal or lesser value up to $10.95
3 PM - 10 PM Mon.-Fri.
4 PM - 11 PM Sat.
2:30 PM - 10 PM Sun.
Not valid with Sunday Buffet. Dine in only.
Not valid with any other offers. Expires 11/30/17

Complete Catering & Take-Out Service
Delivery on Request for Larger Orders
704-542-5409
6666 Carmel Road
Carmel Commons Shopping Center
JCRI Urges Members of the Charlotte Jewish Community to Help Fund DACA Renewals

By Amy Lefkof

In response to President Trump’s phased termination of the DACA program (deferred action for childhood arrivals) and the looming October 5 deadline for filing DACA renewals, Rabbi Asher Knight of Temple Beth El spoke out on the likely impact of the President’s rescission of DACA:

“It will likely affect hundreds of thousands of people, tear apart families, send people underground, make people unemployable, and possibly lead to deportations. What happens when hundreds of thousands of Dreamers become refugees in their own country?”

The rescission prompted the Jewish Community Refugee Initiative (JCRI), through several of its Shalom Park partners and the Greenspoon Center for Peace and Social Action, to send out a clarion call to members of the Charlotte Jewish community. See full statement on JCRI’s website, charlottejcri.org.

JCRI indicated that one way to help DACA youth submit their renewal requests by the October 5 deadline is to donate to the DACA fund at Charlotte Center for Legal Advocacy (CCLA), formerly Legal Services of Southern Piedmont, since the hefty filing fee of $495 is a steep financial barrier for any young person with just a few weeks’ notice. CCLA Executive Director, Kenneth Schorr, a member of Temple Beth El, announced that CCLA will be hosting several renewal clinics to provide application assistance. A generous donor from the Jewish community has pledged to match up to $25,000 in gifts towards this effort. Donations to CCLA’s DACA fund must be made by October 5 for the matching grant to apply.

Tax-deductible donations to CCLA with DACA in the memo line can be made either by check to CCLA at 1431 Elizabeth Avenue, Charlotte, NC 28204, or through CCLA’s website at www.charlottelegaladvocacy.org. Go to “donate now” button and select DACA from drop down list.

Other ways to defend DACA:

1. Attend educational programs on the Bipartisan Dream Act, volunteer at DACA workshops, or contact members of the House of Representatives as well as Senators Burr and Tillis to express views on the proposed 2017 DREAM Act.

2. In a statement posted on JCRI’s website, Rabbi Murray Ezing of Temple Israel implored members of the Jewish community to act:

“The Torah reminds us that we have always been strangers in strange lands. The United States has been a welcoming and secure home for us. Being American citizens and Jews draws together both our human and spiritual beings in a way that makes us uniquely able to understand the plight of the Dreamers. The government’s removal of DACA protections changes the basic concepts of freedom and welcome on which this country was founded. Remaining silent is a betrayal of our Jewish and American values—we must speak out while we can.”

Who Are the Jewish ‘Dreamers’?

By Ron Kampeas

(JTA) Our email inboxes were stuffed in September with statements from Jewish organizations urging continued protection for “Dreamers,” undocumented immigrants who arrived in the United States as children.

Last Monday, President Donald Trump said he was giving six months notice to end the DACA, or Deferred Action for Childhood Arrivals program, launched by his predecessor, Barack Obama, in 2011. Trump has signaled a willingness to sign congressional legislation that would codify its provisions.

One statement, though, from Agudath Israel of America, stood out in its concern not just about Dreamers, but Jewish Dreamers.

“Judaism and the Jewish community implored Jewish leaders to take up the cause of the Jewish Dreamers, who have grown up and been educated in the United States, the only home they have known,” the haredi Orthodox organization said in its statement issued Thursday.

We covered one such Dreamer who has become an activist, Elias Rosenfeld of Boston (see story on next page), but I was curious about the “many in the Jewish community” in the release. Agudah put me in touch with David Grunblatt, the lay chairman of its... (Continued on page 33)
By Penny Schwartz

A Jewish ‘Dreamer’ is Scared, but Refuses to Despair

Boston (JTA) - At 15, Elias Rosenfeld became a “Dreamer.”

At the time, the Venezuela native was attending Dr. Michael M. Krop Senior High School in Miami, where he had lived since he was six years old, when his Jewish family moved to South Florida from Caracas. His mother was a media executive and they traveled to the United States on an L1 visa, which allows specialized, managerial employees to work for the U.S. office of a parent company.

But tragedy struck the family: When Rosenfeld was in the fifth grade, his mother was diagnosed with kidney cancer. She died two years later.

In high school, Rosenfeld applied for a driver’s permit, only to find out that he lacked the required legal papers. He discovered that his mother’s death voided her visa. He and his older sister were undocumented.

“It was an embarrassing moment for me,” Rosenfeld recalled more than five years later.

Within five months, in June 2012, President Barack Obama signed an executive order, the Deferred Action for Childhood Arrivals, granting temporary, renewable legal status to young unauthorized immigrants who had been brought to America by their parents as children.

Known as DACA, the order opened up a world of opportunities for some 800,000 young people who were now able to apply for driver’s licenses, temporary work permits, and college.

“Dreamers” refers to a bipartisan bill, known as the Dream Act, that would have offered them a path to legal residency.

“It was the power of one order that can so directly change one’s life,” Rosenfeld said. “That launched me. I became an advocate.”

He launched United Student Immigrants, a nonprofit to assist undocumented students that had been brought to America by their parents as children.

Rosenfeld, now a 20-year-old sophomore at Brandeis University on a full scholarship, spoke with JTA at a rally outside of this city’s Faneuil Hall, just hours after President Donald Trump and Attorney General Jeff Sessions announced they would rescind DACA.

The president gave Congress a six-month window to preserve the program through legislation. Or not.

Rosenfeld recalls the Trump administration’s decision was devastating. Now is not the time of despair, however, but to put our energy towards effective action,” he said, urging the crowd to work for protective legislation at the federal and state levels. There are some 8,000 DACA residents in Massachusetts.

Several Jewish communal leaders attended the rally, including Jeremy Burton, executive director of the Jewish Community Relations Council of Greater Boston, and Jerry Rubin, president of Jewish Vocational Services. Representatives from the New England Jewish Labor Committee, which helped spread the word of the rally, held signs in the crowd.

Another Dreamer, Filipe Zamborlini, who came to the U.S. from Brazil when he was 12 and now works as a career coach at Jewish Vocational Services, also spoke.

“We’re going to mourn today,” Zamborlini, 28, told the assembly. Rosenfeld said the Trump administration’s decision was disturbing and unsettling.

“There’s a high level of fear and anxiety in DACA communities,” he told JTA.

Rosenfeld recalls too well the sting and uncertainty of being undocumented.

“It means you can’t do everything your peers and your friends are doing. You feel American, but you are suffering these consequences from choices you didn’t make,” he said.

But he also sounded a note of optimism, pointing out that Trump called on Congress to act.

“We hope Congress follows their president’s word now and does the job of passing one of the many pieces of legislation” before them, Rosenfeld said.

He readily admits to feeling scared and anxious.

“But I’m also feeling empowered and motivated from seeing The Charlotte Jewish News -October 2017 - Page 31
TORAH TOTS
Thursday, October 5, 11:00am - Sukkot Program
Saturday, October 28, 10:00am - Shabbat Service
Join Miss Nancy as we kick off a new year of Torah Tots, Temple Israel's high-energy Shabbat program for families with preschoolers! Welcome in Shabbat with songs, prayers and movement followed by a healthy, KOSHER Kiddush snack.

YOUTH
THE GREAT GESHER MYSTERY BUS RIDE & LOCK-IN
(ALL 8th-12th Graders)
Saturday, October 14, 7:00pm - Sunday, October 15, 9:00am
Join your friends for an exciting evening with a mystery bus adventure, followed by an exclusive lock-in at Temple Israel. A light breakfast will be served in the morning. Drop-off and pick-up at Gorelick Hall. $25/Gesher member; $20/non-member
Bring 3 canned food items to donate and get $3 off!
RSVP by Wednesday, October 11 to addisonato@templeisraelnc.org.

YOUNG ADULTS
HAVDALAH-WEEEN!
Saturday, October 28, 8:00pm
Join Torah on Tap for a night filled with fun and mischief! The evening begins at Temple Israel with an uplifting Havdalah service. We will then load buses and head to The 13th Acre for a night filled with speakeasy and terror as we attempt to finish the haunted trail through the woods. Afterwards, we'll gather around a bonfire and enjoy some delicious S'mores! RSVP to torahontapnc@gmail.com.

SOCIAL CLUB
SUKKOT DINNER & PROGRAM
Tuesday, October 10, 6:00pm
Celebrate Sukkot with dinner and a guest speaker. Dinner will be held in the Temple Israel Sukkah (weather permitting). After dinner we will hear our guest speaker, Richard Grubbs, an architect who is the Project Manager for the Carolina Theatre restoration project. Mr. Grubbs will talk about the history of the Carolina Theatre and illustrate current plans.
$16/member; $20/non-member
Please send checks (payable to TJ Social Club) to 4901 Providence Rd, Charlotte, NC 28226 by October 3.

LIFELONG LEARNING
TORAH CHAI! The Living Torah
Wednesdays, October 18 & 25 and November 1 & 15
7:00 - 9:00pm (with a break for Minyan)
Give justice to the weak and the fatherless; maintain the right of the afflicted and the destitute. - Psalm 82
In reaching out to other faiths in our community in order to respectfully learn from them, we have invited ministers of four churches in Charlotte to engage with Rabbi Efrin and Temple Israel in exploring how the teachings of the Torah (Five Books of the Hebrew Bible) continue to provide inspiration. The Program will address how the Hebrew Bible and Prophets' guide and provide a common bond of values, ethics and community responsibility.
FREE for members; $30/non-member
To register, contact the clergy office at clergyoffice@templeisraelnc.org or call 704-362-2756.

HIGHER HOLY DAY SCHEDULE
5778/2017

EVENTS
TEMPLE ISRAEL BOOK CLUB
Tuesday, October 3, 7:30pm
Inspired by historical events, Lauren Belfer’s And After the Fire is “a powerful and passionate novel” about two women - one European and one American - and the mysterious choral masterpiece by Johann Sebastian Bach that changes both their lives. Everyone is welcome to attend even if you haven’t read the book. For additional information, contact Linda Levy at 704-366-6363 or levyolive@bellsouth.net.

SUKKOT FOOD TRUCK FESTIVAL
Sunday, October 8, 11:30am-2:30pm
Temple Israel and Temple Beth El will host a special joint Sukkot celebration at Temple Israel when Papi Queso, Fresh Med, King of Pops and New World Wrap come to Shalom Park! Olde Mecklenburg Brewery will also have a truck onsite.

Simchat Torah Celebration
THURSDAY, OCTOBER 12
5:30PM – DAIRY DINNER & 6:15PM – SERVICES
Enjoy a delicious spaghetti dinner, followed by music, dancing, and celebrations with the Torah!
RSVP by Monday, October 9 (for dinner only) on templeisraelnc.org.

THE ROSE ROOM
TI SISTERSHIP JUDAICA GIFT SHOP
GRAND REOPENING THIS FALL!
...TO BE ANNOUNCED SHORTLY.
Proceeds support Temple Israel, Sisterhood, Temple Israel Youth Programs, and Social Action Initiatives.

Israel Live!
featuring members of the Charlotte Symphony Orchestra
Sunday, October 29, 3:30pm
Celebrate Israel’s 70th birthday with a once-in-a-lifetime cultural event featuring members of the Charlotte Symphony Orchestra, as they perform music by famous Israeli composers. Dessert reception to follow.
Tickets available for sale online at templeisraelnc.org beginning October 1.

Save the Date!
A CONVERSATION WITH DR. CHRISTOPHREU KEL: CONVICTING YESTERDAY’S NAZIS IN TODAY’S GERMAN COURTS
Sunday, November 19, 2:30pm
Dr. Reuel will discuss how he and a team of German prosecutors are winning convictions and prison sentences in German courts against Nazi criminals in their 90’s as accessories to the murder of hundreds of thousands of Hungarian Jews in Auschwitz.

JOIN US!
immigration task force and the cease-fire of the immigration department at Proskauer, a major law firm.

Grunblatt told me that he started hearing from Jewish Dreamers almost as soon as Agudah put out a release offering to assist them, soon after DACA was launched in 2012. He said the number of Jewish Dreamers among the 800,000 known to have applied for protections under DACA was “not huge compared to the number of full-fledged Dreamers among the 800,000 Dreamers launched in 2012.”

“We handled 150 in the first two days, and we’ve continued to get calls and emails from others, and there are no different. They want to undo DACA. They discovered one of the girls in the school was undocumented, and they didn’t know even if she was documented,” he said.

That’s fairly common, said Melanie Nezer, a vice president at HIAS, the lead Jewish organization handling immigration advocacy.

“If a child is brought over when he’s a baby or a very young child, they just grow up American,” she said. “They speak English — why would they think they’re different from anyone else?”

While support for the Dreamers has been fairly bipartisan, and Jewish organizational consensus has been supportive, he said, and there is a meeting later this week on campus to discuss school policy on the issue. Asked what America means to him, Rosenfeld does not hesitate.

“America means my country. It’s my home. There’s a connection. I want to contribute,” he said. “I just don’t think it’s valuable to just kick people out that want to contribute to this country.”

Jewish “Dreamer” is Scared
(Continued from page 31)

He is studying political science, sociology and law, with plans to continue his advocacy work on behalf of immigrants. He hopes one day to attend law school and work in politics or practice law.

With a full schedule of courses and volunteer work, Rosenfeld gets by without much sleep, he acknowledged with an easy laugh.

“Here at Brandeis University, it is not a norm to have a full schedule of courses and work in politics or law. We are always building on our skills,” he said. “We are always building on our skills, and there is a meeting later this week on campus to discuss school policy on the issue.”

The Brandeis administration is for a solution that lets them stay in the country, some Jews have major qualms about the program — especially with the way it was created by executive order under Obama.

“If the Obama administration wanted to implement the DACA program, it should have made the case to Congress and try to pass its proposal into law,” Rep. Lee Zeldin of New York, one of two Jewish Republicans in Congress, said in a statement. “The administration absolutely did not have the authority to write its own ‘laws.’

“If the proposal did not have the support to pass, then it should not go into effect. That is how our process is designed and must be respected.”

Zeldin said he is “open” to debating the issue with his colleagues, “but [my] priority will always unapologetically remain with fighting for the people for whom I was elected.”

“I don’t think it aligns with our values, with Jewish values and the Jewish community,” he said of a policy that would essentially strip legal status under DACA, Rosenfeld was widely recognized as a student leader, receiving several national awards and honors. During the presidential campaign, he volunteered for the Hillary Clinton campaign.

Growing up, his family attended synagogue often and celebrated Shabbat and Jewish holidays.

Despite the hardships he faced following his mother’s death, Rosenfeld excelled in high school. He completed 13 Advanced Placement courses and ranked among the top 10% of his graduating class, according to a Miami-Dade County school bulletin. Rosenfeld was widely recognized as a student leader, receiving several awards and honors. During the presidential campaign, he volunteered for the Hillary Clinton campaign.

Many students who were undocumented live in constant fear, even after receiving temporary legal status under DACA, Rosenfeld said.

“There is fear behind the shadows,” he said. “We are always behind the shadows.”

Earlier in the day, before the president’s announcement, Brandeis President Ron Liebowitz sent a letter to Trump urging him not to undo DACA.

“Here at Brandeis University, we value our DACA students, who enrich our campus in many ways and are integral to our community,” the letter said. “Reversing DACA inflicts harsh punishment on the innocent. As a nation founded by immigrants, we can stand up and must do so.”

Rosenfeld was attracted to Brandeis both for its academics and its commitment to social justice.
Always a warm welcome.
An inclusive and dynamic Reform Jewish congregation • 1,100 families strong

WORSHIP

Join Temple Beth El for Sukkot and Simchat Torah.

Wednesday, Oct. 4
6:00 pm Community T’filah with Religious School

Thursday, Oct. 5
9:00 am Tot Sukkot
11:00 am Sukkot Festival Service

Friday, Oct. 6
6:00 pm Community Shabbat Worship: Sukkot

Wednesday, Oct. 11
6:00 pm Erev Simchat Torah and Consecration Service

Thursday, Oct. 12
11:00 am Festival Service with Yizkor

COMMUNITY

Upcoming events:

Havdalah and Hayrides with The Porch (at Hall Family Farm)
Saturday, Oct. 7 at 5:00 pm (RSVP by Oct. 5)

Sukkah Food Truck Festival (at Temple Israel)
Sunday, Oct. 8 at 11:30 am

Sisterhood Sangria in the Sukkah with Guest Speaker Maureen O’Boyle
Sunday, Oct. 8 at 6:00 pm (RSVP by Oct. 3)

LEARNING

Jolt of Judaism (at Leroy Fox)
Saturday, Oct. 14
Join Cantor Thomas for a Shabbat lunch discussion of the Jewish Ethics of Food.

Learn to Read Hebrew
Starts Wednesday, Oct. 18
Learn to decode and read Hebrew, helping you become more connected to services and prayers. All are welcome. (RSVP by Oct. 18)

Senior Sage: The Prophets Speak to Us
Starts Monday, Oct. 23
Rabbi Asher Knight guides the Senior Sage series participants through selected texts and offers the opportunity to discuss personal perspectives. Register today! (RSVP by Oct. 9)

Are you interested in Temple Beth El membership or learning more about what makes our congregation unique?
Contact Candace Naliboff, Director of Member Services at 704.749.3068 or cnaliboff@templebethel.org.

More than 100 people joined us for the fun of the Annual Wildacres Retreat over Labor Day weekend.

Temple Beth El Religious School kicked off Sunday, Sept. 10, and brought smiles to many faces.

Discover TRADITIONS
Discovers Traditions specializes in unique gifts for every event. Did you know we offer gift registries for weddings, Bat Mitzvahs, new babies and new homes? Out-of-town family members will appreciate the ease with which they can use our registries to find just the right present for a special occasion.

Discoverer Traditions is open 10:00 am to 3:00 pm Monday through Friday, before and after Friday night services, and 9:00 am to 1:00 pm on Religious School Sundays. Proceeds support the Temple Beth El Religious School.

Stay up to date with everything at Temple Beth El – follow us on Facebook and visit our website.
5101 Providence Road | Charlotte, NC 28226 | 704.366.1948 | templebethel.org
These Jerusalem Sukkahs are Nicer than Yours

By Maayan Jaffe-Hoffman

Jerusalem (JTA) — Amit Zakoon’s flower business started with a seed — literally — but it quickly grew into one of Jerusalem’s premier purveyors of luxury sukkahs.

“We work for all the rich and famous,” Zakoon, the owner and CEO of Yarok Yarok Events Design, told JTA.

Studio Ya Ya, as Zakoon’s clients call the business, is known for executing weddings, bar/bat mitzvahs, and parties for Jerusalem’s A-list, including visiting U.S. presidents (from Bush to Obama) to big-time philanthropists like the Bronfman.

These kinds of upscale events may keep Zakoon and team busy year-round, but Sukkot (which is October 5-12 this year) is Studio Ya Ya’s time to shine. The joyous festival, which commemorates both the harvest and the Exodus from Egypt, transforms Jerusalem: Thousands of pilgrims make their way to the Western Wall, sukkahs sprout on seemingly every balcony and celebrations are widespread throughout the city.

Studio Ya Ya designs many of Jerusalem’s largest and finest sukkahs, including those at the Waldorf Astoria, King David and Inbal hotels, as well as the president’s residence and the Bible Lands Museum. Over the years, its sukkahs have ranged from “biblical” — incorporating natural woods and fresh Jerusalem herbs into a design — to elegant, with a decor featuring strategically placed, plastic pomegranates painted in metallic shades.

Such luxury doesn’t come cheap: Hotels pay $35,000 to $75,000 for their Ya Ya sukkahs, Zakoon said, while design services for private clients range from $3,000 to $25,000.

“The sukkahs must be the most magnificent,” he said. “All the rich and famous come to the hotels, they come to their private second homes in Jerusalem and this holiday is one of the most important to them.”

For Zakoon and his team, that means the pressure is on. In addition to creating a visually stunning sukkah, the designers need to understand both the philosophical background of the holiday, as well as the legal requirements of building a kosher sukkah that will work for even the most religious guests.

“We can make an amazing design, but if it’s not kosher, it’s not worth one shekel,” Zakoon said.

For example, the sukkah’s “roof,” or “schach,” must be made of predominantly natural ingredients, said Rabbi Morey Schwartz, director of education for the Florence Melton School of Adult Jewish Learning. The schach should provide more shade than sun, be open enough to see the stars — or at least that you’d get wet if it started to rain.

While his clients may see rain as a blessing, for Zakoon it presents a challenge: He can’t use paper displays, paintings or any material that could be destroyed by the elements.

The length of the decorations is also a consideration. Those up to 12 1/2 inches can be considered part of the schach, but anything longer is considered something separate, which could present a problem — those in the sukkah must be sitting under the schach. Thus longer decorations need to be very narrow. Ya Ya uses thin ribbons, for example, to add length but avoid conflict with Jewish law, and hangs larger decorations or lights directly above the tables, so visitors don’t risk sitting under them.

It’s not enough to get the details mostly right — Ya Ya’s design manager, Noa Kirshberg, said at some hotels, a rabbis gets on a ladder and takes exact measurements.

Fortunately, Jewish law doesn’t preclude stunning sukkahs — Kirshberg shows a reporter an album filled with photos of scrumptious grape vines that were used to accent the Waldorf’s sukkah one year, to tables strewn with vases full of corn poppies and daffodils leveraged in a private home.

Studio Ya Ya also a consideration. Those up to 40 freelancers, who work by the elements.

— ranging in size from nine to 4,900 square feet — Zakoon hires up to 40 freelancers, who work round the clock in the days leading up to the holiday. Because flowers cannot be maintained on yom tov — the first one to two days of the holiday, with laws similar to those of Shabbat — the Ya Ya team rotates among its sukkahs on the interim days to change out arrangements and refresh anything that has shifted.

Another consideration? Repeat customers. Kirshberg noted that because hotels tend to get the same visitors year after year, Ya Ya aims for a fresh design annually.

Also, each of the hotel’s sukkahs must be unique and match the hotel’s existing ambiance.

“The Waldorf is luxurious and the King David is traditional,” she said.

Studio Ya Ya’s hard work doesn’t just enhance the experience for hotel and museum guests, said Schwartz — the company is doing a mitzvah, too.

“Beautification is considered greater sanctification of God’s name,” he said.
It’s a new 55+

Live it

55+ Rentals for an Entirely New Active Adult Life

OVERTURE®

COTSWOLD

CALL FOR YOUR VIP RESERVATION

135 South Sharon Amity Road, Suite 202
Charlotte, NC 28211
704.343.5050
OvertureCotswold.com

JOIN our VIP Club today!

OVERTURE®

PROVIDENCE

COMING SOON

6805 Walnut Branch Lane
Charlotte, NC 28277
704.593.6060
OvertureProvidence.com