November 14, 7 PM, Sam Lerner Center for the Cultural Arts
Palestinians and Israelis in the West Bank/Palestinian Territories/Judea and Samaria often live in geographical proximity but have no real human contact and view each other with suspicion and fear. However, in 2014, a group of Orthodox Jewish Israelis from the Gush Etzion settlements met with a Palestinian refugee family in a nearby village. Over the course of several conversations, both peoples shared their fears, anxieties, pain, and desire for a better future. In time, they began to see each other as partners in peace by mutually recognizing each other’s connection to the Land, and found a path towards solidarity despite ideological differences.

These same Palestinians and Jewish settlers founded Roots, “a grassroots movement of understanding, nonviolence and transformation among Israelis and Palestinians.” Since its creation, Roots has brought hundreds of West Bank area Israelis and Palestinians together for language and nonviolence workshops, summer camps, young adult programs, mediation, and so much more.

Join us as we hear from two leaders who are at the forefront of this inspiring work:

Rabbi Hanan Schlesinger, Co-Founder and Director of International Relations
Hanan moved to Israel at the age of 20 and has lived the majority of his life over the Green Line. Professionally, he teaches Jewish studies in colleges and seminaries in Jerusalem, Florida, and Texas. While teaching in Texas he became passionately involved in interfaith work. After co-founding Faiths in Conversation, a framework for Jewish – Christian – Muslim theological dialogue, he was inspired to build personal relationships with his Palestinian neighbors, something he had not attempted to do in over 33 years.

Shadi Abu Awwad, Youth Director
Born into a family that took part in the First Palestinian Intifada/uprising, Shadi was taught to hate all Israelis at a young age. He had a moment of profound transformation when his brother was nearly killed by an Israeli soldier - only to be healed by an Israeli doctor that same day. Confounded by the contradiction, Shadi began a journey that ultimately brought him to see a human being and a partner on the other side. He eventually created Roots’ youth program, which empowers Palestinian and Israeli teenagers to acknowledge each other’s humanity – molding them into leaders who can work together to create a better future for their peoples.

We invite you to join Hanan and Shadi as they share their personal, interconnected stories and present the groundbreaking work of Roots. In these divided times such as these, there may be strategies from Roots that could be applicable in our own communities and beyond.

This event is free and open to the public. RSVP is requested at www.jewishcharlotte.org. For more information, please contact Laurel Grauer, Director of Community Relations and Israel Affairs, 704-944-6751 or laurel.grauer@jewishcharlotte.org.

Charlotte Jewish Film Festival Fall Flicks
An Evening with Peter Riegert, Sunday, October 27, 7:15 PM
Also Includes Surviving Birkenau: The Susan Spatz Story, Sunday, October 26, 7:15 PM

Charlotte Jewish Film Festival Fall Flicks will present two films and a special guest. First, on Saturday, October 26, at 7:15 PM, there will be a screening of Surviving Birkenau: The Susan Spatz Story, and a special guest. First, on Saturday, October 26, at 7:15 PM, there will be a screening of Surviving Birkenau: The Susan Spatz Story, a showing of Crossing Delancey, and many other films and television shows.

As a lead up to his arrival in Charlotte, Riegert spoke with The Charlotte Jewish News about his life and career. The interview has been edited for length and clarity.

CJN: The majority of your roles have been playing obviously Jewish characters, yet each some seems so different from the others. How do you feel about portraying Jews and where do you get the inspiration to make them so distinctive?

PR: Of all the stuff that I’ve done, I don’t know what percentage is Jewish characters, but to me … I just look at the material. In other words, it raises an interesting question: what’s a Jew? So, we all have our biases of what we thing people are, and what they are for me as an actor first is human. Now they could respond to being Jewish, because that’s the fact of their life, I wouldn’t say I go out of my way to act Jewish. … The material dictates the Jewishness. But each character is different because each movie or play or TV show is different. …

(Continued on page 18)
Partnership 2Gether: Charlotte Country Day School Teachers Visit Israel

By Jessica Demeter

“Mama, the hospitality these people have shown me puts ‘Southern Hospitality’ to shame.” Just two days into our sixteen day exploration of Israel, these are the observations I hear my colleague share with her family back in South Carolina. This is her first time visiting the Holy Land.

Rewind to five months earlier when my colleague and I were awarded a grant by to explore ideas surrounding culture, education, and coexistence in Israel. Having identified schools and organizations of interest during the application process, the reality of working with a seven hour time difference, a language barrier, and no solid relationships was going to be a challenge. Reconecting no solid relationships was going to be a challenge. Reconnecting to and appreciate the power of people to people connections. This was the connection that the Jewish Federation provided people to people connections. That could be found in a Foder or partnership that Israel has, only demonstrates an evolution of humanity. During its infancy the state of Israel passed laws requiring all residences to have a bomb shelter and military service mandatory at the age of 18. This is Israeli normality … not for us to judge, but to understand and acknowledge the importance of the physical and social-emotional awareness. For a country to thrive in the conditions that Israel has, only demonstrates an evolution of humanity. During its infancy the state of Israel passed laws requiring all residences to have a bomb shelter and military service mandatory at the age of 18. This is Israeli normality … not for us to judge, but to understand and acknowledge the impact on society. The result of this “normal” forces the focus of the educator on the social emotional student before all else.

Whether at a school, a kibbutz, on the border of Israel and Syria, or the wall along the West Bank the focus on was centered on a better understanding on ones’ neighbor. This was the connection that the Jewish Federation provided people to people connections. That could be found in a Foder or expansion of our goals, receive was not only an academic gain, what we learned from our counterparts and other interactions was the importance of the physical and social-emotional awareness. For a country to thrive in the conditions that Israel has, only demonstrates an evolution of humanity. During its infancy the state of Israel passed laws requiring all residences to have a bomb shelter and military service mandatory at the age of 18. This is Israeli normality … not for us to judge, but to understand and acknowledge the impact on society. The result of this “normal” forces the focus of the educator on the social emotional student before all else.

After this experience, I can attest to and appreciate the power of “people to people” connections. All who have been to Israel know that every greeting in Israel is a two cheek kiss, and every “‘til we meet again” a hug. There are no strangers in Israel just friendships yet to be forged. For more information about our P2G programs and ways to get involved, contact Tair Giudice, Director of Education and Engagement, tair.giudice@jewishcharlotte.org or 704-944-6739.

This summer, two teachers from Charlotte Country Day School traveled to Israel and visited our Partnership 2Gether city, Hadera. P2G is the flagship program of the Jewish Agency (JAFI) partnering with local Federations to directly connect people in Jewish communities across the world and in Israel, one relationship at a time.

With Tel Aviv in the background.

At the beach.

I would like to make a contribution to demonstrate my support of The Charlotte Jewish News.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Name</th>
<th>Phone</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Address</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>City</td>
<td>State</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Enclosed in my check for $............

| ............... | |
| $18.00 | Basic Annual Subscription |
| $25.00 | Friend |
| $50.00 | Patron |
| $100.00 | Grand Patron |
| Other | |

The CJN is the flagship program of the Jewish Agency (JAFI) partnering with local Federations to directly connect people in Jewish communities across the world and in Israel, one relationship at a time.

For more information about our P2G programs and ways to get involved, contact Tair Giudice, Director of Education and Engagement, tair.giudice@jewishcharlotte.org or 704-944-6739.

With Tel Aviv in the background.

At the beach.

I would like to make a contribution to demonstrate my support of The Charlotte Jewish News.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Name</th>
<th>Phone</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Address</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>City</td>
<td>State</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Enclosed in my check for $............

| ............... | |
| $18.00 | Basic Annual Subscription |
| $25.00 | Friend |
| $50.00 | Patron |
| $100.00 | Grand Patron |
| Other | |
Let the Good Times Roll at Hadassah’s Casino Night

The good times will be rolling at Temple Beth El Saturday night, November 16 and you won’t want to miss any of it. Hadassah Charlotte is hosting its first ever 20s Casino Night to benefit the much needed renovation of Hadassah Hospital Ein Kerem. Put on your finest flapper and join us at Temple Beth El. It’s going to be the bee’s knees.

Our “Let The Good Times Roll” event is going to be the hottest ticket in town. Come on into our gin mill where you will can spend your time and funny money at the tables, including blackjack, roulette, Texas Hold-Em, craps, and a Big 6 Money Wheel. Our professional dealers will take care of everyone, from the novice player to the seasoned gambler. Win as many tickets as you can for chances to win incredible prizes throughout the evening. The more games you play, the better your odds. Get dolled up and check out our silent auction with many glitzy prizes such as a week at Hilton Head, a pearl necklace, a diamond necklace, and more. And don’t forget about Hadassah Charlotte’s favorite wine pull. For $18, you can purchase a wrapped bottle of wine that could be worth anywhere from $18 to $100. Refuel with tapas style hors’ d’oeuvres and a lavish dessert bar. Stop by the cash bar for a Slow Gin Fizz or Mint Julep. Or choose from our selection of wine, beer and liquor. It is going to be an evening of games, food, drink and fun for everyone… a real lollapalooza.

There will be many winners by the end of the night, but the biggest winner is going to be Hadassah Hospital and the patients it serves. With your help we will reach our goal, which will enable Hadassah Charlotte to sponsor the construction of a Nurses’ Station in the newly renovated Dermatology Department at Hadassah Hospital Ein Kerem in Jerusalem. Around the clock, Hadassah’s highly skilled nurses utilize their specialized training to work alongside physicians and other staff in the departments of the Round Building and it is imperative that they are given the proper equipment and location to deliver the best care available. This state of the art nurses’ station will serve as the hub for nursing care and will be equipped with all necessary communication equipment including computers, printers, loudspeaker, and telephones as well as the notification system for patients requesting attention. Hadassah Medical Organization is a world leader in melanoma research and treatment. In addition, The Marie and Aaron Blackman Department of Dermatology and Venerology has recently established several new clinics, each one specializing in the treatment of specific diseases or populations: Pediatric Dermatology, Contact Dermatitis, Mole Tracking, and a MOHS Surgery Unit. The department is also a leading center for treating patients suffering from various hair and scalp disorders, such as alopecia areata. This is in addition to their Onconeurology Clinic, Center for Cutaneous Disorders, and a Wound Healing Program. Among many others.

Be hep to the jive and buy your tickets now. Gala tickets include gaming chips, small bites, drink tickets, and access to great auction items, wine, and prizes. Tickets and sponsorship opportunities are available on HadassahCLTEvents.org or by contacting Sharon Goretsky, President, Hadassah Charlotte, at sharon.goretsky@gmail.com for more information.

Experience and Commitment!

Buying…Selling…Relocating...
Ann and Andrew are your KEYS to the local Jewish Community.
Serving the Charlotte community for over 30 years.

The KEYS to a successful real estate transaction...

Ann Langman
704-502-4329
ann.langman@allentate.com

Andrew Rosen
704-604-4756
andrew.rosen@allentate.com

Ann and Andrew are your KEYS to the local Jewish Community.

Buying…Selling…Relocating...

Love Your Local Jewish Authors

The Center for Jewish Education is proud to support local Jewish authors. We are excited to announce our first ever “LOLA” (Love Our Local Authors). This is a great opportunity for authors to share new books with Charlotteans as well as a wonderful opportunity for readers to find out about the fascinating process of writing and publishing.

This inaugural LOLA evening will be Thursday, December 5 (7 PM) at Shalom Park in Charlotte and will feature a panel of three to six authors. Each will have approximately five minutes to talk about his/her book. Following the panel, each author will sell and autograph their books. This event is free to participating authors and free to all audience attendees.

Author and book criteria:
* Adult books only. Fiction and non-fiction
* Book must be written in English
* For more information, please contact Debby Block 704-944-6780 or Debby.Block@jewish-charlotte.org

Love Your Local Authors Showcase

MANN TRAVELS
Signature Gourmet Show
SUNDAY, OCTOBER 20, 2019 | 2PM-5PM
BALLANTyne HOTEL CHARLOTTE
HUNDRED’S OF LUXURY VACATION OPPORTUNITIES UNDER ONE ROOF!
RSVP AT 800.343.MANN(6266) OR WWW.MANNTRAVELS.COM

The Charlotte Jewish News - October 2019 - Page 3
If you haven’t read Gateway to the Moon – start today. If you have read it, you’ll be excited to know that the author Mary Morris will be joining us on Sunday, November 17 at 11 AM as the guest speaker for the Center for Jewish Education’s signature event “On the Same Page: Chapter I.”

What is “On the Same Page”? It is a community read initiative for Charlotte’s Jewish community. The big idea is that everyone in the community will share the experience of reading and discussing the same Jewish book. The culmination of the community read is an event featuring the author of the selected book. There are two programs each year – “On the Same Page: Chapter I” in the Fall and “On the Same Page: Chapter II” in the Spring.

If you attended these special events in the past, you will remember hearing the very personable Mary Glickman discuss Home in the Morning, the charming Jenna Blum talk about The Lost Family, and the very engaging Martin Fletcher discuss his experiences living in Israel and writing Promised Land, A Novel of Israel.

How does the Center for Jewish Education select the books and authors for its community read? Under the able leadership of Debby Block, Program Director at CJE, a group of community leaders read several books, conduct research, and submit the group’s top choices to the Jewish Book Council, which manages requests for the authors. Our committee enthusiastically requested Mary Morris, author of Gateway to the Moon, and Ron Balson, author of The Girl from Berlin, as our top choices for 2019-2020.

To our great delight, both authors accepted and have been engaged. Mary Morris, American author and professor at Sarah Lawrence College, will be the guest speaker for “On the Same Page: Chapter I” on Sunday, November 17, and prolific author and Chicago attorney Ron Balson will join us for “On the Same Page: Chapter II” on Thursday, April 2.

We hope you’ll join us on November 17 and will have a chance to read Gateway to the Moon. The novel is historical fiction and the story weaves back and forth between the lives of converso Luis de Torres, a translator looking for work, who reluctantly leaves his wife and son in 1492 to sail on the Santa Maria with Christopher Columbus; and Miguel Torres, a teenager living 500 years later in Entrada de la Luna, New Mexico. When Miguel is engaged by Rachel Rothstein to babysit her sons, he is fascinated by the many Jewish practices Rachel and her family observe which are similar to those practiced by the residents of his small Catholic community. Every Friday night, Miguel’s mother, who lives in a trailer park, makes a nice dinner and lights candles (after turning the picture of the Virgin Mary away from the wall); no one in their community eats pork, and no one mixes meat and dairy. These traditions are accepted and unquestioned by the residents of their inbred community whose bloodlines stretch back to Spain. The well-drawn characters and a variety of sub-plots are interwoven throughout the book and add to its appeal.

For more information, contact, Debby Block, CJE Program Coordinator 704.944.6780/debby.block@jewishcharlotte.org
SYNAGOGUES & CONGREGATIONS

Jewish Council of Lake Norman Sponsors a Holiday Community Event at the Lake

Sukkot Celebration: Pizza-in-the-Hut with the Ruach Band

On Sunday, October 13, the entire community is invited to an evening of camaraderie and celebration of the Sukkot holiday. The program, which is free and open to the entire public, is as follows:

* 5:30 PM – Dinner in the Sukkah
* 6 PM – Sukkot Holiday service – led by Rabbi David Lipper
* 7 PM – A performance by the Ruach Band

The entire event is free but there is a $3 charge for pizza and drink.

Join our community and get inspired by the joy of Judaism through music and spiritual experience.

For more information, go to JewishCouncilofLakeNorman.org.

---

Subs in the Sukkah

Join us in the Sukkah for an awesome family event. Delicious dinner, drinks, and fabulous entertainment. Do the lulav shake and enjoy an exciting evening with your friends and family.

Thursday, October 17, 5:30 PM

Non Partners: $18 per person/Max $54 per family

Partners*: $12 per person/Max $45 per family

* Partners are families who have committed to join the BJC partner project by making a specific annual financial contribution towards BJC.

RSVP Leah@JewishBallantyne.com or 704-246-8881.
Dancing with the STARS on Simchat Torah

Join us for a grand Torah celebration for kids and adults. Enjoy a delicious dinner in the Sukkah followed by dancing with the Torah and a special program for the kids. Simchat Torah is all about unbridled joy, which surpasses kids. Simchat Torah is all about the conclusion – and restart – of the annual Torah-reading cycle. Monday, October 21, 6:15 PM at the Ballantyne Jewish Center.

Lunch in the Sukkah at Sun City Carolina Lakes

Bring your friends and join us for a delicious lunch in the Sukkah right in the middle of Sun City. Choose the date that works for you, either Wednesday, October 16 or Thursday, October 17. Our Sukkah will be located at the home of Jacob and Betty Cohen, 23119 King Fisher and will begin at 11:30 AM. Suggested donation $15 per person. To RSVP, email Rabbi@JewishBallantyne.com or call 704-246-8881.

Join Temple Kol Ami for Yom Kippur and Break Fast

The Days of Awe have begun. If you want to worship for Yom Kippur, it is not too late to join Temple Kol Ami in Fort Mill, SC. You may attend our meaningful and spiritually uplifting services for the prorated amount of $75 which includes Kol Nidre, Yom Kippur morning service, Yizkor and Neilah. A delicious break the fast is also included in the ticket. We are led by the beautiful voice of our cantorial soloist, Sara Sherman, as well as amazing and experienced lay leaders. Sara’s rendition of Kol Nidre, accompanied by cellist Jennifer Frisina, is hauntingly beautiful and deeply touching. Yizkor service, which is at approximately 12:30 PM on October 9, is free and open to the public. As always, attendance at Temple Kol Ami’s High Holiday services is free for college students and active duty military. For more information, please contact us at yorksyna@jewishballantynen.org or by mailing a check made out to Temple Kol Ami to 2764 Pleasant Road #11423, Fort Mill, SC 29708. The schedule for Yom Kippur services is as follows: October 8, Kol Nidre, 7 PM; October 9, Junior Congregation service, 9 AM; October 9, Yom Kippur morning service, 10 AM; October 9, Yizkor service, 12:30 PM; October 9, Neilah service, 4 PM; October 9, Break Fast, 6 PM. All services take place in the lovely sanctuary of Philadelphia United Methodist Church, 1691 SC-160, Fort Mill. Please join us.

Temple Kol Ami is also excited to welcome our rabbi, Ana Bonnheim, back to the bima on October 18, 7 PM at Philadelphia United. We thoroughly enjoy Rabbi Bonnheim’s creative Kabbalat Shabbat services and insightful sermons. Friday night services are always open to the public, so join us for some spiritual nourishment and fellowship with your Jewish community (there is also gastronomic nourishment and fellowship with our insightful sermons. Friday night services are always open to the public, so join us for some spiritual nourishment and fellowship with your Jewish community (there is also gastronomic nourishment and fellowship with our insightful sermons. Friday night services are always open to the public, so join us for some spiritual nourishment and fellowship with your Jewish community (there is also gastronomic nourishment and fellowship with our insightful sermons. Friday night services are always open to the public, so join us for some spiritual nourishment and fellowship with your Jewish community (there is also gastronomic nourishment and fellowship with our insightful sermons. Friday night services are always open to the public, so join us for some spiritual nourishment and fellowship with your Jewish community (there is also gastronomic nourishment and fellowship with our insightful sermons. Friday night services are always open to the public, so join us for some spiritual nourishment and fellowship with your Jewish community (there is also gastronomic nourishment and fellowship with our insightful sermons. Friday night services are always open to the public, so join us for some spiritual nourishment and fellowship with your Jewish community (there is also gastronomic nourishment and fellowship with our insightful sermons. Friday night services are always open to the public, so join us for some spiritual nourishment and fellowship with your Jewish community (there is also gastronomic nourishment and fellowship with our insightful sermons. Friday night services are always open to the public, so join us for some spiritual nourishment and fellowship with your Jewish community (there is also gastronomic nourishment and fellowship with our insightful sermons. Friday night services are always open to the public, so join us for some spiritual nourishment and fellowship with your Jewish community (there is also gastronomic nourishment and fellowship with our insightful sermons. Friday night services are always open to the public, so join us for some spiritual nourishment and fellowship with your Jewish community (there is also gastronomic nourishment and fellowship with our insightful sermons. Friday night services are always open to the public, so join us for some spiritual nourishment and fellowship with your Jewish community (there is also gastronomic nourishment and fellowship with our insightful sermons. Friday night services are always open to the public, so join us for some spiritual nourishment and fellowship with your Jewish community (there is also gastronomic nourishment and fellowship with our insightful sermons. Friday night services are always open to the public, so join us for some spiritual nourishment and fellowship with your Jewish community (there is also gastronomic nourishment and fellowship with our insightful sermons. Friday night services are always open to the public, so join us for some spiritual nourishment and fellowship with your Jewish community (there is also gastronomic nourishment and fellowship with our insightful sermons. Friday night services are always open to the public, so join us for some spiritual nourishment and fellowship with your Jewish community (there is also gastronomic nourishment and fellowship with our insightful sermons. Friday night services are always open to the public, so join us for some spiritual nourishment and fellowship with your Jewish community (there is also gastronomic nourishment and fellowship with our insightful sermons. Friday night services are always open to the public, so join us for some spiritual nourishment and fellowship with your Jewish community (there is also gastronomic nourishment and fellowship with our insightful sermons. Friday night services are always open to the public, so join us for some spiritual nourishment and fellowship with your Jewish community (there is also gastronomic nourishment and fellowship with our insightful sermons. Friday night services are always open to the public, so join us for some spiritual nourishment and fellowship with your Jewish community (there is also gastronomic nourishment and fellowship with our insightful sermons. Friday night services are always open to the public, so join us for some spiritual nourishment and fellowship with your Jewish community (there is also gastronomic nourishment and fellowship with our insightful sermons. Friday night services are always open to the public, so join us for some spiritual nourishment and fellowship with your Jewish community (there is also gastronomic nourishment and fellowship with our insightful sermons. Friday night services are always open to the public, so join us for some spiritual nourishment and fellowship with your Jewish community (there is also gastronomic nourishment and fellowship with our insightful sermons. Friday night services are always open to the public, so join us for some spiritual nourishment and fellowship with your Jewish community (there is also gastronomic nourishment and fellowship with our insightful sermons. Friday night services are always open to the public, so join us for some spiritual nourishment and fellowship with your Jewish community (there is also gastronomic nourishment and fellowship with our insightful sermons. Friday night services are always open to the public, so join us for some spiritual nourishment and fellowship with your Jewish community (there is also gastronomic nourishment and fellowship with our insightful sermons. Friday night services are always open to the public, so join us for some spiritual nourishment and fellowship with your Jewish community (there is also gastronomic nourishment and fellowship with our insightful sermons. Friday night services are always open to the public, so join us for some spiritual nourishment and fellowship with your Jewish community (there is also gastronomic nourishment and fellowship with our insightful sermons. Friday night services are always open to the public, so join us for some spiritual nourishment and fellowship with your Jewish community (there is also gastronomic nourishment and fellowship with our insightful sermons. Friday night services are always open to the public, so join us for some spiritual nourishment and fellowship with your Jewish community (there is also gastronomic nourishment and fellowship with our insightful sermons. Friday night services are always open to the public, so join us for some spiritual nourishment and fellowship with your Jewish community (there is also gastronomic nourishment and fellowship with our insightful sermons. Friday night services are always open to the public, so join us for some spiritual nourishment and fellowship with your Jewish community (there is also gastronomic nourishment and fellowship with our insightful sermons. Friday night services are always open to the public, so join us for some spiritual nourishment and fellowship with your Jewish community (there is also gastronomic nourishment and fellowship with our insightful sermons. Friday night services are always open to the public, so join us for some spiritual nourishment and fellowship with your Jewish community (there is also gastronomic nourishment and fellowship with our insightful sermons. Friday night services are always open to the public, so join us for some spiritual nourishment and fellowship with your Jewish community (there is also gastronomic nourishment and fellowship with our insightful sermons. Friday night services are always open to the public, so join us for some spiritual nourishment and fellowship with your Jewish community (there is also gastronomic nourishment and
Temple Emanuel Discusses Belonging and Mindsets

Years of scientific research underscores the importance of belonging. Whether it is our community, people group, socially or even young students; feeling respected within that context is something comforting and supportive we feel as a result. Not belonging can result in troubles we experience at a personal level. Even our children feel it as extreme examples are playing out in the forms of bullying, mass shootings, and other atrocities taking place all over the world. Very early in our text we see the inclusivity of God, when it reads in Bereshit (Genesis) JPS 1:26, “Let us make man in our image, after our likeness.” We may not know who was there, but the importance of belonging is also expressed in a different way in 2:18, “It is not good that the man should be alone.”

Carol S. Dweck, Ph.D., is one of the world’s leading researchers in the field of motivation and is the Lewis and Virginia Eaton Professor of Psychology at Stanford University. She writes, “As life gets more complex and change impacts our lives at an ever-accelerating pace, the belief that we can learn new skills, think in new ways and relate to the world differently than we have in the past becomes increasingly essential.”

This mindset came to life when Edie Yakutis recently shared her experiences as a seasoned business professional formerly with Microsoft, turned-second-year student at Hebrew Union College-Jewish Institute of Religion, class of 2023. She was one of Temple Solel’s lay leaders before retiring from a corporate career to answer the Rabbinic call.

From the youngest teenager to the eldest in the room, Edie asked us, “What do you lose track of time doing? What activates your sense of adventure to keep an open mind and not accept status quo?” She spoke about having a spontaneous conversation in line at a store in Israel, or asking for help from a stranger, and even what her experience was like trying to blend in with the culture by dressing a certain way “to feel like she belonged.” She went on to explain what it was like to live in Jerusalem, “In Israel you have little choice but to live a Jewish life.” In hearing those words, we couldn’t help but think about our own lives in the US. Are we choosing to live a Jewish life every day? Edie went on to tell us about meeting the tenacious 96 year old, Fania Brantosovsky in Lithuania. She is the survivor who became increasingly essential.”

For more information how to belong, write us at info@templesolels.org or call 803-610-1707. Temple Solel holds regular Shabbat services at 7 PM on the second and fourth Fridays of each month at Belair UMC Family Life Center, 8095 Shelley Mullis Rd., Fort Mill, SC 29707.
Fall is When We Gather

By Cantor Mary Rebecca Thomas

I love fall. I love fall more than any other season. While winter, spring, and summer have their moments, it is fall that is filled day after day, week after week with joy and comfort. It stands out to me as a time of incredible warmth and possibility, even as nature turns toward the sleepy, frozen months of winter.

For me, fall is inherently linked with the primary moments of communal gathering and new beginnings, both Jewish and secular. Each year at this time, I am reminded of many fall seasons past. Fall is building relationships at the start of the school year, accessorized with crisp new notebooks and textbooks, wearing fuzzy sweaters and corduroy. Fall is Halloween with friends and Thanksgiving with family. Fall is when we gather.

Chag HaAsif, we praise God, giving gratitude for food that has come forth from the earth, pleading that the rain will pour down in winter to ensure the harvest for the year to come. On Chag HaSukkot, we remember that the structures that we build during are lives are fragile and temporary. They remind us that our status is always subject to change: from slavery to freedom, from shelter to exposure, from security to insecurity and back again. In these two names, Torah links our precarious human existence. Will the harvest be successful? Will we know abundance? Will we taste freedom for another year? Will we permit ourselves to feel the sheltering presence of the divine creator?

Inherent in both names for Sukkot is the reminder that we are dependent on community. On Chag HaAsif, we do not harvest alone, the labor is greater than any individual. On Chag HaSukkot, we did not remember dwelling as individuals in desert booths. Rather, we remember, the children of Israel as an encampment of sukot in the desert; a community whose fate was bound inextricably one to the next. Mah tovu ohalecha Ya‘akov, mishk’notcha Yisra‘el – How lovely are your tents, o Jacob, your dwelling places, o Israel.

Sukkot reminds us that our fortunes are bound up with that of our neighbor. Our food supply depends on each of our choices. The health of our planet depends on each of our choices. The stability of our community depends on each of our choices. Our ability to weather any storm depends on each of our choices. We might dwell in our sukkah alone, or with our immediate family, but just beyond my sukkah is yours, and beyond yours, is theirs.

In the fall, and at Sukkot in particular, we gather. Registration is open for several opportunities to gather at or in support of Temple Beth El. Here are just a few opportunities to consider. In the morning on October 13, join The Porch and PJ Library for some fun on the farm at Aw Shucks Farm in Monroe. That evening at Temple Beth El, there is the “The Great Sukkot Bake-off with Jazz in the Sukkah,” where you can either submit an entry or cast a vote for the best fall-themed desert containing either pumpkin or pomegranate while relaxing to jazz by the fabulous Bill Ward. The following Sunday, October 20, celebrate the consecration of our Kindergarten students in the morning and in the evening marking Simchat Torah with “You Spin Me Right Round. A Very 80s Simchat Torah.” We will sing, dance, and celebrate all the way back to Genesis. Finally, consider joining us on November 2 at the McGlohen Theater for the “Temple Beth El Fundraiser – Paul Reiser: Chai on Laugh- ter – honoring Larry and Dale Polsky.” Visit TempleBethEl.org to explore so many more opportunities to gather and to register for events or purchase tickets to Chai on Laughter.

Fall is my absolute favorite season, and stay for Break-Fast after the end of Yom Kippur worship. All others are asked to pay a nominal fee ($54 for individuals, $90 for families). Mail checks to Havurat Tikvah, P.O. Box 12684, Charlotte, NC 28220. Email admin@havuratitkivah.org for more details.

Havurat Tikvah is a warm, supportive and nurturing Jewish Reconstructionist congregation with Shabbat services and a full calendar of events.

(Continued on page 10)
JLI Introduces “Worrier to Warrior”
Explore How You Can Tap into Your Positive Energy

Who wouldn’t love to feel consistently happy, self-assured, and enthusiastic? Yet, often we’re consumed by feelings of failure, regret, and self-doubt. Do our delicate, positive emotions have a fighting chance at being in control?

At the Charlotte Jewish Learning Institute, we will be exploring deep into the nature of our opposing emotions. “Worrier to Warrior” is an empowering journey. Mined from the teachings of the Torah and contemporary psychology, this six-week course takes a fresh approach to the battle against bad feelings, providing realistic spiritual mechanisms for remaining upbeat, no matter what life brings.

Contentment, happiness, satisfaction, confidence, good moods - enter any bookstore and encounter a colossal army of self-help guides that promise to point the way to these highly prized emotional goals. Why do so many humans find the pursuit of optimism such an endless battle?

We yearn to experience the benefits of positive emotions: to feel enthusiastic, happy, optimistic, serene, self-assured, and hopeful. But so many of us are bogged down by negative emotions: such as anger, shame, fear, guilt, worry, and disappointment. Life has much beauty and brilliance to offer, but we can neither sense nor sample it if we are mired in negativity. Often, our internal oceans of adverse emotions leave us bereft of vigor and verve. Can we turn our inner tides?

The Rohr Jewish Learning Institute’s team of scholars researched this topic exhaustively, and we are proud to present “Worrier to Warrior: Jewish Secrets to Feeling Good However You Feel,” a realistically optimistic six-week course on personal transformation. Worrier to Warrior recognizes that the issue of negative emotions has plagued humanity since the dawn of time. The lessons draw on ancient Torah and kabalistic concepts to deliver refreshingly new and doable solutions. The result is a groundbreaking paradigm shift that opens the door to a new view of oneself and one’s purpose, cures negative emotions in their myriad forms, and gently guides participants through the process of converting undesirable emotions to healthy, empowering, and optimistic thoughts and feelings.

1 – Achieving Authenticity
In our opening session, discover a place of objective authenticity within yourself that can weather any self-doubt and help you build confidence in your genuine goodness.

2 – Embracing Flaws: Session 2 explores the seemingly senseless feelings of inadequacy and charts a course to transform them from adversary to ally.

3 – Rethinking Regret: In Lesson 3, we will challenge the negativity associated with regret, finding a catalyst for remarkable growth where it’s least expected.

4 – Peering Through Pain: Lesson 4 embraces the validity of pain while sensitively enhancing our internal perspectives to let the sun peek through despite the reality of our suffering.

5 – Living Joyfully: By looking at common patterns in chasing inner contentment, Lesson 5 helps us pave a new path to more dependably enthusiastic living.

6 – Refreshing Relationships: This session explores the triumphs and dysfunctions of human relationships, formulating a steady approach to allowing yours to flourish, despite inherent strains. This new and exciting six-week course begins on Tuesday, November 12, at 7:30 PM with the evening session and Wednesday, November 13, at 11 AM for the morning sessions. Fee for the JLI course is $99 per person and $180 per couple. To register, visit myjli.com or call 704-366-3984.

All sessions will be held in the new Epstein Family Chabad Center, 6619 Sardis Rd., Charlotte. We are pleased to announce that JLI is partnering with the continuing education office at Albert Einstein Medical College to provide continuing education credit for Worrier to Warrior.

Doctors, psychologists, social workers, and other mental health counselors in most states will be able to earn up to 15 CE credits. Nine credits for attendance at the live course plus additional credits for studying the additional reading.

Simchat Torah Celebration at Chabad

Simchat Torah at Ohr HaTorah is always a community favorite. The authentic joy experienced at Chabad as the holiday starts and the dancing with the Torah beings. As always, children are at the center of the celebration as they read many of the Torah passages in leading the joyous crowd.

The celebration continues on Friday morning, October 22, as the final portion of the Torah is concluded and the cycle begins again with Genesis, together with food, song, and dance.

Simchat Torah at Ohr HaTorah is always a community favorite. The authentic joy experienced at Chabad as the holiday starts and the dancing with the Torah begins. As always, children are at the center of the celebration as they read many of the Torah passages in leading the joyous crowd.

The celebration continues on Friday morning, October 22, as the final portion of the Torah is concluded and the cycle begins again with Genesis, together with food, song, and dance.

Tikkun olam has always been at the core of my Jewish identity. That is why I have used my career to stand for justice and why I am now running for the County Commission which oversees a $1.9 billion budget for health, mental health, education, welfare, and the environment.

The Election is March 3, 2020.
To join the campaign, please visit LeighAltman.com!
Donations to Jewish Family Services in August 2019

IN MEMORY OF
Lillian Bienstock to Irving Bienstock from Paul and Lynn Edelstein, Leonard and Karen Fox, Betty Levin, Walter and Le- nore Marx, Lee Marx
Dr. Hankin to Marc and Lau- ra Lewin from Steven and Ellen Engelhardt
Ann Schorr to Allen and Jess- ica Schorr Saxe and to Kenneth and Jane Schorr from Marcia Lampert

HAPPY BIRTHDAY TO
Edward Bograd from Harry and Ruth Creason
Linda Greenfield from Mi- chael and Judie Van Glish
Marion Kronovet from Gloria Goldberg
Nate Lowenstein from Moshe and Rochelle Wilensky
Leon Pesses from Todd and Donna Birnberg

HAPPY ANNIVERSARY TO
Jack and Vera Mendel from Gloria Goldberg, Marvin and Anita Shapiro

Spring into a vibrant retirement at Windsor Run, the premier senior living community in Matthews. Here, you’ll enjoy an independent lifestyle free from maintenance and filled with resort-style amenities.

The McKinley
Large two bedroom, two bath

Call 1-800-583-9680 for your free brochure.

JFS Monthly Volunteers and Donors

Month of August 2019

Food Pantry Donations:
Heather Adamiec, Amy and Phoebe Augustine, Gail Baron, Bonnie Bonomo, Sheryl Gerrard, Steve Goldberg, Karen Greenblatt, Risa Miller, Robbie McGinley, Patri- cia Stern, Shana Suris, Charlotte Jewish Community Center Mem- bers, Charlotte Jewish Preschool’s Class, Temple Israel and Temple Beth El Congregants, St. Albans Park Community Gar- dens

Simchah Baskets: In honor of Elliot Kriemt and Davis Starr’s B’nei Mitzvah, in honor of Shayna Weiss’s Bat Mitzvah

Meal Prep by Circle of Gener- ous Hearts: Penny Krieger
Food Drives: Cora and Bohdi Mirman
Special Thanks: Dawn Hubbs and Marilyn Schuster for their continuous support of the JFS food pantry

Jewish Family Services
Engaging • Connecting • Healing

Havurat Tikvah
Holiday Observances
(Continued from page 8)
spectrum of holiday observances, as well as religious educational options for both adults and children. We are a diverse group of families, singles, and Jewish and interfaith couples who participate in projects that promote social justice.

We value and depend upon member participation and lead- ership for our religious services, spiritual growth and governance. Havurat Tikvah is an affiliate of Reconstructing Judaism. For more information on up- coming services, programs, membership or other queries, call 980-225-5330, write to Havurat Tikvah, P.O. Box 12684, Char- lotte, NC 28220, email mem- bership@havuratikvah.org or visit havuratikvah.org. Havurat Tikvah is also on Facebook at facebook.com/groups/havuratik- vah/.
The JEWISH FEDERATION OF GREATER CHARLOTTE and its beneficiary agencies would like to thank you, our compassionate and loyal donors, who gave so generously to the 2019 Annual Campaign. This year, we have achieved the highest-ever level of annual giving — $4,303,645!!

The ANNUAL CAMPAIGN raises money to meet the needs of our beneficiaries at home, in Israel and in 70 countries around the world. SUPPLEMENTAL GIFTS provide customized giving opportunities over and above Annual Campaign gifts to enable donors to maximize their giving potential and fulfill their philanthropic goals.

The ANNUAL CAMPAIGN: $3,969,004 annual campaign
SUPPLEMENTAL GIFTS: $334,641 supplemental gifts

ANOTHER RECORD BREAKING CAMPAIGN

$4,303,645 TOTAL ANNUAL GIVING

$3,969,004 ANNUAL CAMPAIGN
$334,641 SUPPLEMENTAL GIFTS

as of September 16, 2019

ANOTHER RECORD BREAKING CAMPAIGN

ANOTHER RECORD BREAKING CAMPAIGN

The STRENGTH OF A PEOPLE. THE POWER OF COMMUNITY.

MAJORS DONORS: Donors who contribute a minimum gift of $10,000 per household

- Cohen, David
- Kipnis, Robert
- Levy, Samuel
- Schen, Kenneth
- Schon, Kerry
- Shafran, Larry
- Shinar, Goldsmith, Mark
- Gordon: Adam
- Sfeir, Maroun
- Zulman, Arnold and Rosemary
- Horowitz, Jeffrey
- Chaverim (Friends)
- Chavurah (Friends)
- Chaverim: $1 - $99
- Allweil, Jack
- Anonymous
- Bagdian, William
- Bockeneck, Joshua
- Bremerman, Josh
- Brown, Evan
- Chase, Ira
- Condale, Stephen
- Cozyk, Stephen
- Cormack, Ryan
- Condon, Spike
- Connolly, Stephen
- Cormack, Ryan
- Condon, Spike
- Connolly, Stephen
- Cormack, Ryan
- Condon, Spike
- Connolly, Stephen
- Cormack, Ryan
- Condon, Spike
Holocaust Survivors Enjoy an Afternoon at the Theatre

When the cast of the Broadway show, The Band’s Visit, heard there were Holocaust survivors in the audience they made it a point to come out after the show to mingle with them. Everyone was delighted. JFS transported and welcomed approximately 17 survivors and their family members to a private luncheon and show at the Knight Theater at the Levine Center of the Arts. Many thanks to The Blumenthal Performing Arts Center for the lovely room and The Jewish Federations of North America (JFNA) Center for Advancing Holocaust Survivor Care, the granting body who has funded programs such as this one in order to connect, engage and enrich the lives of our community’s Holocaust survivors.

Larry Horowitz, CLU, ChFC
L² Financial
15720 Brixham Hall Ave., Ste 575
Charlotte, NC 28277
704-609-7505  larry.horowitz@skype
www.L2financial.com

Helping in the CREATION, PRESERVATION & DISTRIBUTION of your Estate

Securities and Investment Advisory Services offered through representatives of Lincoln Financial Services, member SIPC. Lincoln Financial Services and L² Financial are not related. LFS-1566750-081116

Dream Home Today. Your Home Tomorrow.

Why Hire a Salesman When You Can Hire a Sales Mensch?

Andy Griesinger  443-299-8946
www.SalesMensch.com  andy@andyre.com

Insurance for Home, Auto, Business and Life.

“My father, Harry, founded Swimmer Insurance Agency over 60 years ago offering security to the community and helping families through times of trouble. Today, we continue that tradition of service with everything we do. We will be there for every milestone, every hardship and every transition your family or business experiences.”

- David Swimmer

725 Providence Rd
Charlotte, NC 28207
704 332-6694
www.swimmerinsurance.com
Stan Greenspon Center Building Bridges on Campus and Overseas

Yours Truly
Needlepoint and Knitting
* Handcrafted needlepoint
* Expert finishing canvas
* Complimentary lessons
* Huge selection of yarns
* Unique gift ideas

THANKS TO THE AMAZING WORK OF VOLUNTEERS
12,000 blankets have been donated to the Levine Children’s Hospital
10,000 chemo hats have been donated to facilities for cancer patients around Charlotte

Business Brokers
Merger & Acquisitions
Selling a Business?
VR has sold more businesses
in the world than anyone.*

Adam Petricoff
VR Charlotte
9301 Monroe Road, Suite L
Charlotte, NC 28270
704-360-8898 office
704-905-8558 cell
apetricoff@vrcharlotte.com

Community News

Rabbi Nachman of Breslov taught “Kol ha’olam kulo gesher tsar m’od v’ha-shur-lo l’fached klad - The whole world is a narrow bridge, but the essence is not to be afraid.”

At the Stan Greenspon Center for Peace and Social Justice at Queens University we not only build bridges with others in our community, we also help folks to fearlessly walk those bridges to reach a better understanding of and create a sense of fellowship with one another. We work to nurture close bonds of connection across lines of difference through education, events, local excursions, and international trips.

This year, the Greenspon Center will continue to build bridges of cultural connection. On our Queens University campus, we will once again be hosting our Mimi’s Matzah Ball soup program. Through the simple act of sharing matzah ball soup, sponsored by the Gorelick family, we teach our non-Jewish peers and colleagues about Jewish customs and the importance of food as comfort.

This year, the Greenspon Center will build bridges through an array of educational opportunities. Learning Hebrew is on your list of goals, you can get started on the path with our new course, Introductory Hebrew Reading for Jewish Literacy. Open to all, this class aims to help adults acquire or reclaim the basic building blocks of Jewish literacy and to enable a fuller, deeper and more meaningful engagement with Jewish texts.

The Greenspon Center will be building bridges of interfait connections locally. In collabration with the Jewish community of Shalom Park and the Muslim community of Charlotte, we are thrilled to be hosting at the Queens University Belk Chapel a new program entitled, Abraham’s Tent: A Muslim Community-Jewish Community Room in the Inn. For six nights this winter, Jews and Muslims are invited to come together to provide food, shelter and care to approximately ten neighbors in need. (This new program is part of the Urb- Stan Greenspon Center in building bridges locally, nationally, and even on the world wide web.

Rabbi Judy Schindler and Susan Jacobs during a 2013 Interfaith Trip to Israel.

Greenspon Center invites the community to a timely program on Cyber Hate: The Reality and the Response. At this event, Tan- ya Gerard, Montana victims of a neo-Nazi troll storm, will share her harrowing story and a leading expert on cyber security will educate us on the most effective practices in responding to cyber hate. At that event, we will celebrate our third anniversary as a Stan Greenspon Center by doing what we do best – educating the community about responding to hate, and enlightening partic- iants about the path to achieving justice and working for human rights.

This academic year please join the Stan Greenspon Center in building bridges locally, nation- ally, and even on the world wide web.

“There is the Truth, the truth of the Truth, and there is Peace. The Truth is ‘the boy stole the apple,’ the truth of the Truth is ‘the boy was hungry,’ and Peace is ‘nobody stole anything; now give the boy an apple!’”

- Rabbi Nachman of Breslov
Residents and Hosts from Charlotte Attend Moishe House’s “Natty Con” in Wisconsin

The residents of Moishe House Charlotte – NoDa attended the annual North American Training Conference (Natty Con) at URJ Olin-Sang-Ruby Union Institute in Oconomowoc, Wisconsin from September 6-8. The conference brought together over 240 Moishe House residents, staff members, educators, and other Jewish community leaders from across the United States and Canada.

They enjoyed meeting hundreds of other young Jews from places like Maine, Ohio, Oregon, and dozens of other cities. They especially appreciated the opportunity to expand their networks in the South Region and connecting with residents from the Moishe House locations in Durham, Raleigh, and Atlanta.

Natty Con also included many opportunities for the residents to improve their skills and bring exciting new ideas back to Charlotte. They attended sessions on creative program ideas, budgeting, building inclusivity within their community, and Jewish learning. They also met members of the Moishe House program staff from across the country, which provided them with a better appreciation for their responsibilities, which include ensuring that every Moishe House across the global ecosystem is strong, safe, and successful.

Of course, the conference had plenty of fun moments, and the residents made memories over breakfasts and dinners, song sessions, going to the lake, and of course, the memorable “Satty-Natty” Saturday night dance party and social which all the attendees and staff enjoyed.

The Moishe House residents wish to thank all of our supporters from throughout the Charlotte Jewish community who helped make it possible for them to have this incredible experience.

(Continued on page 19)

Free!

HEARING AID TRIAL

Get a 1 week trial of the latest hearing aid technology when you book a hearing evaluation before 10/31/2019

Madison Levine
Board Certified Hearing Instrument Specialist
Across from the Arboretum
3121 Springbank Ln. Ste G
Charlotte, NC 28226
704-540-3081

+Hearing aids will be selected based on your individual needs. Credit card will be placed on file during trial period but will only be charged in case of loss.
An Evening with Peter Riegert
(Continued from page 1)

[M]y job is to help bring to life the character that was created by the writer. I’m the conduit. … It’s not my creation, I’m part of the creation. But the character is really created by the writer and it’s my job to fool the audience into thinking I’m actually saying those words that were written for me.

CJN: When you come here, we will be showing Crossing Delancey. Can you talk about how relationships between Jewish couples were perceived in the late 1980s and how you might see it differently today? Would this movie be made differently today?

PR: Yes, any time you change the place or time of a project, then just by nature it would change. In other words, I can’t imagine re-making Crossing Delancey just because it’s 30 years later. It is what it is. … I think people are affected by their circumstances and by the times they live in. Some times are more complicated than others, you know that from history. I wouldn’t have a clue what the difference is except that people go through the same problems in their time, all the time. … I wouldn’t act differently today, I would apply whatever my skills are, what my technique is to the job at hand.

CJN: What was your favorite role (or roles) and why?

PR: I don’t necessarily have favorite roles. I have favorite experiences. It’s hard to say cause it’s almost 50 years of doing this. It’s a lot of different parts. One of my favorite parts was the character of Mac in Local Hero. … The screenwriting was so terrific. (Editor’s note: screenwriter and director was Bill Forsyth.) And I also know my own history, where I went to 27 cities. And there were celebrities who were at the March on Washington for the Martin Luther King, Jr. speech and I was one of those 250,000 people there. When I got home, my folks, who normally would have gone to something like that with me, had stayed home and watched it on TV. And they described what they saw. And one of the things they saw was a number of celebrities who were at the March on Washington: Marlon Brando, Charlton Heston, and Burt Lancaster. So when I did Local Hero, I met Burt Lancaster and I asked him, “Were you there?” And he was. He was actually in France making The Train with Paul Scofield. And he had collected 2,000 signatures of Americans living in France and brought it to the March of Washington to give it to Martin Luther King, Jr., who knew he was involved in the Civil Rights Movement and whenever Martin Luther King, Jr., would come to California, he would very often stay with Burt Lancaster. It’s always fun to work with people you admire. I’m a fan first, obviously cause I go to the movies. I turn on the television but you only have a couple of hours to be in awe. And then you’ve got to go to work.
Mourning a Loss Can Look Very Different For Each Person Involved

By Rachel Green, MSW, LCSW - Director of Programs and Services, JFS

“May their memory be a blessing.” Many of us have said these words to friends who have lost loved ones, and many of us may have heard these words while experiencing our own grief as well. We may have also heard statements that felt less helpful such as “your loved one wouldn’t want you to be sad,” “he or she would want to be remembered with joy,” or perhaps most painfully, “you will feel better if you just move on.” While death of friends and family and even our own death are inevitable parts of life, death is often a taboo subject that can leave even the most well-intentioned among us struggling to find the “right” words to say.

Mourning the death of a loved one can be a “correct grief” that can immobilize you, zap your energy, and lead to feelings of isolation and abandonment. Many of us who have experienced a loss probably have a support system in place. We assume that others notice our sadness or our absence from social events. However, to friends and family, our silence and lack of participation may be misconstrued as our wanting space or our ability to handle the situation without help. It is important to reach out to loved ones and share our experiences and needs. While our friends and family can be a wonderful source of support, sometimes seeking support from others and/or sharing our experience can be an important part of our comfort and support system.

To offer this level of support, Jewish Family Services will be facilitating a grief support group beginning in October. By attending a grief support group, individuals can learn about new ways of understanding the grief process, dispel old myths that may be causing added pain and tension between loved ones, and gain strength and support from other people going through their own grief. There are many common misconceptions about grief and by learning more about the grief process through a grief support group, we can be a better support to friends, family, and to ourselves during this difficult process.

One common misunderstanding about grief is that it happens in “stages” or a certain order. You may have heard about models of grief that imply that the grief process moves through an orderly “stage” progression. If someone thinks their experience does not “fit” into these stages, they may suffer both the grief experience itself, and feelings of frustration and pain that their grief is somehow “wrong.” There are many common misconceptions about grief, and the concept that there is a “correct” way to experience this very personal process is perhaps the most common.

Grief is a unique experience for each person. There is no “correct” length of time, no “right way” and no “wrong way” to grieve. This becomes crucial in families. Each family member is entitled to process loss how they see fit. It is not uncommon for each member of a family to deal with grief differently. Each person should be respected and allowed to heal in their own way. It may also be helpful to look to additional social supports during this difficult time. Leaning on close friends, joining a support group and seeking professional grief counseling are all helpful ways of gaining support.

Although each grief experience is unique, there are commonalities. The “Tasks of Mourning,” as described by Psychologist J. William Worden, are universal across many people’s experience. A grief support group can provide an opportunity to share these experiences with others who are experiencing their own grief journey. JFS is offering a free, six-week Grief Support Group on Wednesday evenings, from October 30-December 11, 2019 (no group Thanksgiving week). Grief and loss can be a deeply painful experience. If you or a loved one feels they need extra support or guidance during this process, or to inquire about signing up for the group, please call JFS at 704-364-6594.

Cantor Roohvarg’s Trip to Israel

(Continued from page 17)

somewhat anxious, but unable to think of a response, I turned over, but could not get back to sleep for quite a while. He climbed into the upper bunk bed across from mine. I can’t think of any place I have ever slept with the door unlocked before (other than summer camp), and for a few moments I thought that may have been a fatal mistake. When I told our madrichot the story the next morning, they explained about soldiers sometimes going to a nearby base in stead of their own. I suggested it would be a good idea in the future to tell volunteers of that possibility in advance, so they wouldn’t be quite as alarmed as I was by the intruder: You wouldn’t want to give an elderly volunteer a heart attack.

Ours is the second door from the barracks entrance, the first door is the other (guy) volunteers’. I asked one of them why he supposed the soldier didn’t enter their door.

“Because we keep ours locked, silly.”

On our last night, the evening activity included pizza and drinks. A Russian volunteer asked if there was a special Israeli way to eat pizza. I couldn’t resist: “Right to left.”

After saying farewell to the base, I went to Jerusalem. After checking in and dropping my suitcase off at the hotel, I walked back up to the bustling center called Mamilla, and whom should I meet but Ellen and Andy Wysmuller. She is a teacher at the Charlotte Jewish Preschool. They were in Israel for the bar mitzvah of a grandchild. Running into fellow Charlotteans my first hour in Jerusalem was pretty amazing.
PJ Library &
The Porch at Temple Beth El present

A HARVEST CELEBRATION ON THE FARM

SUNDAY, OCTOBER 13 | 10:30 AM
AW SHUCKS FARM, 3718 Plyler Mill Rd, Monroe

Come and share the Jewish harvest festival – “Sukkot”

- Farm animals
- Corn maze
- The Best Sukkot Pumpkin Ever Storytime (11 AM and Noon)
- Build your own edible Sukkah
- One free pumpkin per family
- Bring a picnic lunch (optional)

$8/person before Oct. 7 | $10 at the Door
Register at www.nextgencharlotte.org

Questions: Debby Block, CJE Program Coordinator | 704.944.6780 or debby.block@jewishcharlotte.org
The Ruach: Part of the Fabric of the Charlotte Jewish Community

“My life has been a tapestry of rich and royal hue, an everlasting vision of the ever-changing view.”

These lyrics are from the song “Tapestry” by Carole King. Her Jewish upbringing may have influenced this line. After all, like a tapestry, Judaism is complex with a rich history while at the same time it is evolving in a world of constant change.

Today many Jews are seeking to maintain their Jewish identity, spirituality, and community in various ways and receive these from multiple sources, both inside and out of the synagogue. Through The Shabbat and High Holy Day Experiences, The Ruach has given Jews in Charlotte another way to engage and connect that is meaningful, authentic and non-judgmental.

Those who haven’t attended one of The Ruach Experiences may hold a mistaken belief that The Experiences are simply concerts because the music is modern and they are held in alternative locations. In reality, The Experiences contain all of the essential prayers and elements of traditional Jewish services. They are held in casual settings and are open to all who want to attend. There is no membership fee or any cost to attend.

With the growing number of options like The Ruach available to those in the Charlotte Jewish community, everyone has the opportunity to weave an individual tapestry of Judaism that works best for them.

If you’d like to receive up-to-date information about The Ruach Community and stay informed about upcoming experiences, email the.ruach.band@gmail.com. Also, to learn more about The Ruach like the band on Facebook, and follow them on Instagram @the.ruach.new.jewish.music and Twitter @TheRuachSpirit.

The Ruach is a 501(c)(3) non-profit organization whose mission is to spread the joy of Judaism through new Jewish musical experiences that are meant to create and maintain personal connections and, inspire and engage people to embrace the religion and all that it has to offer.

Matt Olin of “Charlotte Is Creative” to Headline Pajama Walk

This year’s Pajama Walk, Pajama Catwalk, and DreamLand will be headlined by Matt Olin and Tim Miner, co-founders of Charlotte Is Creative and hosts of CreativeMornings Charlotte and The Biscuit Show.

These guys spend their time developing out of the box programs and initiatives while bringing Charlotteans together.

The Pajama Walk raises money for two nonprofit organizations – Friendship Circle and ZABS Place – aimed at providing friendship and social opportunities for individuals with special needs. Friendship Circle provides peer mentoring for children and teens while ZABS Place is a thrift boutique offering on-the-job training that can lead to a fulfilling career.

Opening ceremonies begin at 1 PM at the Freedom Park Amphitheater, followed at 1:30 by a walk of just under a mile and a DreamLand Festival from 2-3 PM.

To learn more and sign up, visit www.PajamaWalk.com. Friendship Circle and ZABS Place are beneficiary agencies of the Jewish Federation of Greater Charlotte.

Happy Sukkot
חת Sukkot שמחה

Waltonwood Senior Living offers a carefree lifestyle in communities full of amenities with endless possibilities.

Call and schedule a tour today and learn more!

Waltonwood Senior Living
5215 Randolph Road
Charlotte, NC 28211
(704) 495-6031

Independent Living, Assisted Living & Memory Care
11945 Providence Road
Charlotte, NC 28277
(704) 246-3055

Waltonwood Assisted Living & Memory Care
Redefining Retirement Living

Waltonwood Providence
Redefining Retirement Living

SINGH
TOURS DAILY | WWW.WALTONWOOD.COM | WWW.SINGHJOBS.COM
JCHILDCARE.

7 weeks – 7 years old
Children will enjoy a nurturing environment to explore and have fun with crafts and activities, while parents workout.

Mon-Fri AM.............. 8am-1pm
Mon-Thu PM .......... 4pm-7:30pm
Saturday .............. 12pm-3pm
Sunday .............. 8:30am-2pm
Per Hour: M/$4.50 NM/$5.50

Grades K-5th
A great, supervised space for your elementary age child to have fun and hang out with friends, while you workout!

Sundays, 8:30am–1pm
Location: Check with LJCC Customer Service
M/$2/hour
NM/$5.50 per hour
Reservations Required! 704-366-5007, or visit LJCC Customer Service.

Sandra and Leon Levine Jewish Community Center
5007 Providence Road  |  Charlotte, NC 28226
704-366-5007 | charlottejcc.org  | facebook.com/levinejcc

October 2019

HOLIDAY HOURS CLOSEINGS:

Tuesday, October 1 – Rosh Hashanah ................................................................. CLOSED
Tuesday, October 8 – Kol Nidre - Erev Yom Kippur ........................................... 5:30 AM – 3:00 PM
Wednesday, October 9 – Yom Kippur ................................................................. CLOSED
Sunday, October 13 – Erev Sukkot ................................................................. 7:00 AM – 6:00 PM
Monday, October 14 – Sukkot ................................................................. 1:00 PM – 9:30 PM
Tuesday, October 15 – Sukkot ................................................................. 1:00 PM – 9:30 PM
Sunday, October 20 – Erev Shemini Atzeret ........................................ 7:00 AM – 6:00 PM
Monday, October 21 – Shemini Atzeret/Erev Simchat Torah .............. 1:00 PM – 6:00 PM
Tuesday, October 22 – Simchat Torah ......................................................... 1:00 PM – 9:30 PM

SAVE THE DATE

Ceramic Pottery Sale
Take a stroll down Main Street, and find unique holiday gifts for everyone on your list, while supporting our LJCC ceramic students!

Sunday, December 8 • 10am-2pm
Levine JCC Main Street (cash or checks only)

JHOOPS* YOUTH LEAGUES

Don’t Drop the Ball – Register EARLY!

Micro-Basketball (4-5 years)
Jan 5 – Feb 23

Under 8 Hoopsters (6-7 years)
Under 10 Hoopsters (8-9 years)
Dec 8 – Feb 23

Girls Interfaith (Grades 4–10)
Boys Interfaith (Grades 4–12)
Mid-Nov – mid-Feb
Ages (all leagues) determined by August 1, 2019

Don’t Miss the Latest Wave

JSWIM.

■ Early Childhood Swim Instruction
3–5 year olds • Lessons offered Sundays–Fridays

■ Youth Swim Instruction
5–10 year olds • Lessons offered Sundays–Fridays

■ JCC JAWS Multi Season Swim Team
5–18 year olds • JCC Membership Required
Sign up for Fall/Winter/Spring/Summer or Multi Season

■ JAWS for Private & Homeschool Students
For high schoolers with early dismissal • Tue/Thu, 3:35-4pm

Pricing Codes:  M=Member  B=Benefactor  NM=Non-Member
Adults

The Mills and the Music
Presented by Charlotte Historian Tom Hanchett
Back in the ’30s, more music was recorded in Charlotte than in Nashville? Yes! Learn about the Queen City’s heyday as a country and gospel recording center—sparked by our emergence as the hub of the nation’s major textile manufacturing region.
Friday, October 18 • 1pm
Weinberg Senior Center
Free; just show up!
704-944-6753 or shin.levine@charlottejcc.org

“Nesh & Know” about Parkinson’s Disease (PD)
Join us monthly for a series of topics. We’ll provide refreshments and snacks. October topic: “Non-Motor Symptoms of PD, Including Sleep Disturbance, Anxiety, and Depression.” Presented by Dr. Craig Chepke, MD, FAPA, Psychiatrist, Excel Psychiatric Associates.
Tuesday, October 29
11:30am–12:15pm
Weinberg Senior Center
Free; just show up!
704-944-6792 or jill.lipson@charlottejcc.org

Parkinson
Association
of the Carolinas

Ladies’ Night Out:
Fitness Night: Pickleball & More!
Ages 21+
Come to a “fitness party” with coach Stephanie! We will play pickleball (lesson provided) and other fun, competitive indoor sports followed by a light dinner & wine tasting.
Register at LJCC Customer Service or call 704-366-5007.
Wednesday, October 16 • 6:30pm
Howard R. Levine Gym
M/$18 NM/$28
704-944-6737 or robin.stier@charlottejcc.org

Hip and Knee Advancements
Novant Health’s Dr. James Fraser will discuss modern total hip and knee replacements, with an emphasis on new technologies and protocols that increase patient safety and satisfaction with the procedure. He will cover the recent introduction of robotic surgery, rapid recovery after surgery, and minimally invasive techniques designed to enhance patient outcomes.
Friday, November 1 at 1pm
Location: TBD • Free; just show up!
704-944-6753 or shari.benjamin@charlottejcc.org

JMemory Café
Caring for a family member with mild to moderate dementia?
Come with them to the JMemory Café. Socialize, meet new friends, engage in activities together and just have fun. A light breakfast will be served. The purpose of the program:
• social engagement & discussion
• a safe, relaxed and non-judgmental environment
• enjoy music, art, and more
Meets twice every month:
2nd & 4th Thursdays • 10am–12pm
Weinberg Senior Center
JCC Member: Free • Non-member: $25/month (non-refundable) paid in advance
704-944-6792 or jill.lipson@charlottejcc.org

Oasis Book Club
October’s Book: Pachinko, by Min Jin Lee
Friday, October 25, 1–2pm
FSP Boardroom • Free; just show up!
704-944-6753 or shari.benjamin@charlottejcc.org

Tai Chi/Qigong
Adults 50+
Improve your strength, balance and flexibility through this gentle form of fitness.
Tuesdays, 11:45am–12:45pm (all levels)
Swimer Family Aerobics Studio
Oasis/M/$30 B/$20 NM/$42 per month
Drop-in fee: M/B/$12 p/class NM/$14 p/class

READ OUR MONTHLY OASIS SENIOR ENRICHMENT NEWSLETTER AT charlottejcc.org

Like us! • Facebook.com/levinejcc
Alice Hoffman Discusses Her New Book, the Holocaust, and Where the Real Magic Exists

By Amy Krakovitz

Maybe you know her as the creator of the Owens family from Practical Magic. Perhaps you were introduced to her work through the biblical novel, The Dovekeepers. Or maybe you aren’t familiar with her work at all. But her new book, The World That We Knew, might be a good reason to get to know Alice Hoffman.

Even with books that deal with “real world” subjects, Hoffman often injects the mystical or supernatural into her storylines. And so it is with The World That We Knew, a novel that takes place during the Holocaust where a rabbi’s daughter creates a female golem to protect a young girl who must be sent away from Berlin to save her life.

At the time, I felt like it wasn’t my place to tell it,” Hoffman says. “When time went on, I really understood what she was talking about. For example, I wrote a book called Incantation about the Spanish Inquisition. One of the reasons I wrote it is that I knew nothing about it. I wasn’t taught anything about it in school. Sometimes I go to subject because I don’t know anything and I have questions and I want to learn.”

She concludes, “I wrote this book for myself because I wanted to have hope. And I hope that’s what happens when someone reads it. That at a very dark time, it leaves you with hope about the human condition.”

Hoffman will be in Charlotte on November 7 as part of the Charlotte Mecklenburg Public Library’s Verse and Vino event. The website is cmlibrary.org.

For more information, please contact: Director, Sandra Goldman
director@hebrewcemetery.org
704-576-1859

Make preplanning your final act of love and kindness.

- Peace of mind
- Locked in cost
- Funeral planning your way

Hebrew Cemetery of Greater Charlotte
Honor • Celebrate • Embrace

For more information, please contact:
Director, Sandra Goldman
director@hebrewcemetery.org
704-576-1859
Congratulations to The Kosher Rodeoys for taking home the Grand Champion Trophy for the 3rd year in a row!

A Very Special Thank You to Our Generous Sponsors:

For the 6th year the Levine JCC was proud to host Charlotte’s only community-wide Kosher BBQ Championship and Festival. Over 1,000 community members of all faiths came together to enjoy a fun-filled day with activities for all ages.

Thanks to your support, the Levine JCC is able to address child hunger needs through the Shalom Park Freedom School, which serves over 80 children from surrounding Title 1 schools in a six-week literacy and character building program. Additionally, we partner with the UNCC Reading Camp, a similar summer reading program serving children from Title 1 schools. Additional funds are utilized to support children at our nearest Title 1 schools, Rama Road Elementary and Greenway Park Elementary.

A FUN DAY FOR ALL!

To learn more about the Kosher BBQ please visit WWW.CHARLOTTEKOSHERBBQ.COM
Bal Tashchit and Beyond: Pledge to Become More Environmentally Conscious

As we welcome in the new year, we look back at what we wish we could have done better and look ahead to make changes. Yom Kippur is a day for “cheshbon nefesh,” or soul-searching, on which we not only apologize and ask forgiveness from family and friends, but also resolve to change our behavior in the future. Why not extend those resolutions and make choices to moderate our impact on the environment? Here are some ideas we’ve talked about in past articles, along with some new ones. We recommend making small changes and then adding more over time. Children will model whatever behaviors we present, so talk to them about why the water in the bathtub will be lower in the future, for instance.

Cut back on water usage by resolving to take three minute showers and be mindful of rain forecasts when turning on your sprinklers. Everyone should feel uncomfortable when they witness sprinklers running when it’s raining.

Resolve to reduce electricity usage. In the summer, add a degree or two to the thermostat while running the air conditioning. Lower your thermostat in the winter. When you are not home, raise or lower the thermostat accordingly. Duke Energy breaks down sources of power usage on statements it mails to our homes. Notice what causes your larger consumptions of energy. It is likely heating and cooling.

Change lightbulbs to LED. Prices have come down quite a bit since they first came on the market. The easiest change to make is to become mindful about turning off lights when leaving a room.

Reduce plastic use, although this is no easy task. Sit down with your family and friends and watch A Plastic Ocean. The film makes a powerful case about how prevalent plastic is in everyday use and the damage it is causing to the earth, especially to wildlife. It is incredibly difficult to avoid usage, but there are some creative thinkers working on the problem. The easiest changes to make are to use reusable shopping bags and to invest in some reusable, safe aluminum or BPA free plastic water bottles for you and your family. Avoid the temptation to buy a case of water in plastic bottles, but if you do, please recycle. There are also products available to replace plastic sandwich bags. Ever wonder about all that plastic that is not recyclable? There are services popping up that will recycle hard to recycle items for a cost.

Resolves to reduce food waste. In the U.S., we throw away about 40% of our food every year and 90% of food waste winds up in landfills. There are multiple environmental impacts stemming from food production and subsequent food waste, such as methane gas production and excessive water usage. Shop smart and realistically. Plan your meals carefully and eat those leftovers. Give composting a try.

Plant a tree or two in your yard. Many of us live in neighborhoods where most or all trees were removed prior to building. Trees reduce the need for heating and cooling, thus decreasing the need for more power plants in the future. Through photosynthesis, trees absorb carbon dioxide and emit oxygen. The average tree can clean up to 48 pounds of carbon dioxide annually.

Use environmentally friendly cleaning products to improve your overall indoor air quality. Making your own green cleaning supplies is easy and inexpensive. There are formulas on the internet that use common items we tend to have handy such as vinegar and lemon.

It’s easy and satisfying to make some changes that will have an impact on the future and you’ll be aligning with Judaism’s commandment to care for the natural environment at the same time.

If you have an idea for an article, please email info@shalomgreenCLT.org

If you are interested in learning more about Shalom Green, visit our website at www.shalomgreenCLT.org

Like us on Facebook. Follow us on Twitter and Instagram.

“The best remedy for those who are afraid, lonely, or unhappy is to go outside, somewhere where they can be quite alone with the heavens, nature, and God. Because only then does one feel that all is as it should be and that God wishes to see people happy, amidst the beauty of nature. As long as this exists, and it certainly always will, I know that then there will always be comfort for every sorrow... And I firmly believe that nature brings solace to all troubles.”

- The Diary of Anne Frank
Join your Kadima friends at Laser Quest for two action-packed, heart-pumping games of laser tag! Pizza lunch will be provided. Drop-off & Pick-up at TIRS.

Sunday, October 13, 12:15-3:30 p.m.
(6th & 7th Grade)
Cost: $36/WoTI member, $45/non-members. Space is limited.

Join us for a delicious three-course dinner, and meaningful conversation with Rabbi Howard Siegel, once a month at Temple Israel for an engaging discussion on one of Harold Kushner’s thought-provoking books, followed by a delicious catered lunch (menu: A Jewish Deli – vegetarian option available).

Thursday, October 17, 7 p.m.
Cost: members/$16 and guests/$20.

TOURS AND SERVICES

KADIMA LASER QUEST EVENT
(6th & 7th Grade)
Sunday, October 13, 12:15-3:30 p.m.
Join your Kadima friends at Laser Quest for two action-packed, heart-pumping games of laser tag! Pizza lunch will be provided. Drop-off & Pick-up at TIRS.

Cost: $36/WoTI member, $45/non-members. Space is limited.

SOUTHERN FRIED SUKKOT
Friday, October 18
Join us for a Southern Fried Sukkot meal in the Sukkah, prepared by Izzy’s Catering. RSVP at templeisraelnc.org by Friday, October 11.

Temple Israel will host a special Sukkot celebration when Papi Queso, Momo Truck, and King of Pops come to Shalom Park! An Olde Mecklenburg Brewery truck will also be onsite!

*Don’t forget to bring a picnic blanket or chairs (if desired).

For details about our services and holiday programs, please visit templeisraelnc.org or call 704-362-2796.

UPCOMING EVENTS

SOUTHERN FRIED SUKKOT
Friday, October 18
7:15 p.m. - immediately following services
Join us for a Southern Fried Sukkot meal in the Sukkah, prepared by Izzy’s Catering. RSVP at templeisraelnc.org by Friday, October 11.

SUKKOT FOOD TRUCK FESTIVAL
Sunday, October 20
11 a.m.-2 p.m.
Temple Israel will host a special Sukkot celebration when Papi Queso, Momo Truck, and King of Pops come to Shalom Park! An Olde Mecklenburg Brewery truck will also be onsite!

*Don’t forget to bring a picnic blanket or chairs (if desired).

Simchat Torah Celebration
Monday, October 21
5:30-6:15 p.m. - Spaghetti Dinner
6:15-7:15 p.m. - Dancing with the Torah Celebration
7:15 p.m. - Ice Cream Dessert Party and Adult Bar

Enjoy a delicious spaghetti dinner, followed by music, dancing, and celebrations with the Torah!
RSVP for dinner (only) at templeisraelnc.org
by Friday, October 18.

SAVE THE DATE: WINTER CONCERT
ONE NIGHT ONLY
Kavanah: The Song & Soul of Barbra Streisand
featuring Cantors Shira Lissek & Magda Fishman
SUNDAY, DECEMBER 15 (5 P.M.)
Join us for an evening of extraordinary music as we celebrate our community. Tickets and Sponsorship information available soon.

Temple Israel Gift Shop
THE ROSE ROOM - WOMEN OF TEMPLE ISRAEL GIFT SHOP
GIFT SHOP HOURS:
Sunday: 9:30 a.m. - 12:30 p.m.
Tuesday – Thursday: 10 a.m. - 1 p.m.
Friday: 11 a.m. - 1 p.m.
Special appointments outside of normal business hours are available. Please contact Tess Berger (704) 488-3842 or Cindy Jennes (203) 450-2261.

LET US HELP YOU FIND THAT PERFECT GIFT FOR SIMCHAS, HOLIDAYS & MORE. WE ALSO DO WEDDING, SHOWER & B’NAI MIZVAH REGISTRIES!
Proceeds support Temple Israel, Women of Temple Israel, Temple Israel Youth Programs, and Social Action Initiatives.
A Weekend of Israel and Leadership for Teens

The Center for Israel Education (israel.ed.org) and the Emory Institute for the Study of Modern Israel (www.ismi.emory.edu) invite Jewish 10th-, 11th- and 12th-graders to apply to attend the next Teen Israel Leadership Institute in Atlanta during the weekend of December 6-8.

The institute features a series of engaging learning activities to expand students’ knowledge and understanding of Israel and Zionism while they sample Jewish life on the Emory University campus and forge friendships with peers from across the country.

“I have a lot of Jewish friends. Every one of them supports Israel, but I don’t think a lot of them know about Israel too much,” said past institute attendee Eliel Roberts of Marietta, GA. “I feel like I’m going to be able to teach them and also talk to my friends in Israel.”

CIE and ISMI launched the teen institute with spring and fall sessions in Atlanta in 2018, then in the road to Newark, NJ, in January 2019 and to Seattle in May 2019.

The roughly two dozen participants in each Atlanta institute learned about Israeli history, politics, innovation and culture, the Israeli-Arab conflict, and Zionism. They participated in Shabbat services and had Friday dinner at Emory Hillel, a partner in the program along with the Jewish Teen Education and Engagement Network (JTEEN) and JumpSpark.

They simulated a Knesset debate, competed at making “Chopped”-style hummus and discussed what Israel means to them.

Noa Libchaber of NY, who attended in October 2018, said she was amazed when the high-schoolers joined more than 100 Emory students at Hillel for Friday dinner and services. “It just made me feel really lucky to be a part of a religion that comes together with so much strength and power.”

The institute shows students how to apply their knowledge to the benefit of their communities. Each participant creates an Israel learning project and proposes a description of a program to present back home — anything from an event on Israel’s Independence Day to an Israeli film series to a website.

“I have a lot of Jewish friends. Every one of them supports Israel, but I don’t think a lot of them know about Israel too much,” said past institute attendee Eliel Roberts of Marietta, GA. “I feel like I’m going to be able to teach them and also talk to my friends in Israel.”

The institute is part of a CIE initiative to provide Jewish teens more impactful education on Israel and learning real facts about Israel while they sample Jewish life on the Emory University campus and forge friendships with peers from across the country.

The really big thing that Jews have always done is make choices, and I never realized that,” Libchaber said about what she learned. “I have a choice of what to do, what I believe in, what I want to do, and this choice will impact generations to come.”

Noa Libchaber of NY, who attended in October 2018, said she was amazed when the high-schoolers joined more than 100 Emory students at Hillel for Friday dinner and services. “It just made me feel really lucky to be a part of a religion that comes together with so much strength and power.”

The institute shows students how to apply their knowledge to the benefit of their communities. Each participant creates an Israel learning project and proposes a description of a program to present back home — anything from an event on Israel’s Independence Day to an Israeli film series to a website.

Teen institute leaders Steve Kerbel (left) and Rich Walter sample some of the student-made hummus during a “Chopped”-style competition that offers lessons in history and culture through food.

Helping teens engage with Israel.

“We learned some very cool programming ideas that helped us brainstorm different ways to educate others about the history and culture of Israel,” said Ilan Weiss of Huntington Woods, MI, who attended in October 2018. “There was a lot of excitement about Israel and learning real facts about the country that give you ideas to bring back to your school.”

The institute is part of a CIE initiative to provide Jewish teens more impactful education on Israel. Leading the program are CIE Vice President Rich Walter, a former director of Hebrew high schools in New Haven, CT, and Providence, RI, who was the New England regional director of March of the Living for a decade, and Steve Kerbel, an educational consultant in the Washington area who spent 14 years as a synagogue education director. Other educators include CIE founder and President Ken Stein, teen educator and JumpSpark Director Kelly Cohen, and CIE Israel specialist and Emory instructor Eli Spertling.

“Everyone should apply,” said Aliza Reinstein of Potomac, MD,
BBYO Events and Meetings for October

The first month back at BBYO has been nothing short of fun as our four chapters have been hosting events such as spike ball tournaments, escape rooms, sleepovers, and more. It has been incredible to watch our teens re-connect after a packed summer of swimming, learning, and fun during BBYO summer experiences, family vacations, and travel trips. A big welcome to our new advisors Eden Banarie, Kayla Berenson, and Nathaniel Lerner. We have a full schedule this fall filled with incredible events. First up, we have Junior/Senior Convention October 18-20 in Greensboro. This special convention is only for our upperclassmen and features our incredible speaker Scott Fried. It’s a special weekend for our older teens to learn about how to be themselves, get tips for college, and participate in fun thought-provoking programming. While Scott Fried is in town, BBYO will be co-sponsoring a parent event called “The ABCs of Gen-Z Parenting.” This event is open to all parents of middle or high schoolers. Scott will be using his experience of working with teens for the past 30 years to help parents “communicate with the teenage brain.” Please join us on October 17 at 7 PM in Gorelick Hall to hear from Scott.

Next up, we have one of our most anticipated conventions of the year, MIT/AIT Convention. MIT/AIT is our new member convention open to any new member of BBYO. This convention is led by 20 upperclassmen who will teach the new members all the ins and outs of BBYO. Special highlights of the weekend include meeting new friends from across Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, and Georgia, song sessions, services, a dance, and much more. With the Jewish holidays, we have moved some meeting dates during the month of October. Please note the following meeting dates: Sunday, October 6; Sunday, October 13; Sunday, October 20; and Tuesday, October 29. Eighth graders: Save the date for Fall Fest on November 23. We will be going to the Hornets vs. Bulls game – details to come soon. If you have any questions please reach out to Lauren Revenson, Associate Region Director, at trevenson@bbyo.org.

CJP’s 2019-2020 Annual Fund

HELP US GROW!
Your Annual Fund Contributions Elevate Our Ability To...

LEARN – Professional development for our staff & special programs for our children.
GROW – Infrastructure and technology improvements for our school.
CONNECT – Stronger relationships with our families, staff & community members.

CJP is a partnership of Temple Beth El, Temple Israel & LJCC

Questions? 704-944-6776
Using The Responsive Classroom Approach at CJDS

In order to be successful in and out of school, students need to learn a set of social and emotional competencies—cooperation, assertiveness, responsibility, empathy, and self-control—and a set of academic competencies—academic mindset, perseverance, learning strategies, and academic behaviors.

Responsive Classroom is about Making Learning Meaningful: It’s All About the Why
Responsive Classroom is about Setting Goals, Hopes and Dreams: Connecting Students to the Community
Responsive Classroom is about Stopping Bullying Before It Starts
Responsive Classroom is about Responding to Defiance in the Moment
Responsive Classroom is about: Taking Positive Language the Moment
Responsive Classroom is about: Teaching Self-Regulation
Responsive Classroom is about: Making Learning Meaningful
Responsive Classroom is about: Promoting, instilling, and modelling a positive, kind, and empathetic community
Responsive Classroom is a foundational component of the Responsive Classroom approach. Too often we believe that all we need to do is tell the children how we hope they will act, and they will do it. But we know, too often, they didn’t hear us, or they didn’t understand us, or they can’t figure out how to do it. During the first six weeks of school, we teach routines, expectations, and procedures. We articulate, describe, model, and practice, practice, practice until it becomes second nature. Then during the rest of the year, we can focus on actual learning without spending valuable time redirecting disruptive behavior and reiterating simple rules.

Homework, which is a nightly ritual for our students each morning, is vitally important to remind students, through their actions, what they can expect in school, and how those expectations are employed when they are out of school. All too often, we believe that we need only to tell students what we expect, that all we need to do is tell the students how we hope they will act. This is a mistake. As teachers, we need to be models of the behaviors we wish to see in our students. This is the purpose of the Responsive Classroom approach. Too often we believe that to make the classroom a safe place for students, we need to do the work of teaching students the skills they need, and that all we need to do is teach them the skills they need. This is a mistake. As teachers, we need to be models of the behaviors we wish to see in our students. This is the purpose of the Responsive Classroom approach. Too often we believe that students need to be taught how to be successful in school, and that all we need to do is teach them the skills they need. This is a mistake. As teachers, we need to be models of the behaviors we wish to see in our students. This is the purpose of the Responsive Classroom approach.

Promoting, instilling, and modelling a positive, kind, and empathetic community is only one of the ways we will be shining a light on the world to ultimately bring the fulfillment of Am Yisrael Chai!
A Day in the Ms. Farah’s CJP Class

Life as a preschooler at the Charlotte Jewish Preschool is exciting, happy, safe, and full of wonder. Our children’s days are filled with morning hugs and high fives, inspiring provocations that promote wonder and discovery, adventurous special classes, all through a Jewish lens.

Every morning, before our students arrive at school, our teachers set up “provocations” or invitations to learn. This fall, children will find Back to School and Rosh Hashanah themed centers throughout their classrooms - some students might even find a center outside their classroom in the form of a fun way to sign in for the day or quiet “on theme” activity to participate in if a quiet spot is needed. In this article, we will feature Ms. Farah Lature, one of our fabulous full day fours teachers. Farah is in her fourth year of teaching at the Charlotte Jewish Preschool and has been in early childhood education for a total of 14 years.

Upon entering Farah’s classroom children are immediately greeted and asked to sign in for the day. Students find their name in the binder of names and use a developmentally appropriate pencil and dotted letter print to trace the letters of their names. As the year progresses the letters will change from dotted tracing letters to blank spots, this is a way of scaffolding or providing supports until children are independent in writing their names.

Farah helps her student, Paula, to find her name.

When all of the students are here for the day, Farah gathers the class on the rug. For the past three weeks, Farah’s class has been focusing on themes surrounding the book Stick and Stone by Beth Ferry. The main theme of the book is the importance of friendship, which is a perfect theme for back to school, as well as a connection to the Judaic theme of Chaverut, which means friendship and the importance of relationships between people are with God. Farah asks big questions to the class such as “What is a friend? How can you be a good friend? Why is friendship important?” The class discusses these questions as they read the book aloud. As Farah is reading, students seem fixated on the characters in the book- the Stick and the Stone. The children begin to ask questions like, “What happens when you roll a stone? What if you crushed the stone? How big is the stick?”

For the past three weeks, as Farah has been listening to the questions her students have been asking, she takes note of the themes that emerge as she reads and creates centers that reflect both what she wants the children to learn about friendship and properties of rocks and sticks as well as what the children are asking questions about. They ask lots of questions about what the rock feels like (soft or prickly?) as well as different shapes that rocks and sticks can be. She uses these questions when planning the activities for her students. This idea of letting the children influence (but not dictate) her centers is consistent with the Reggio Emilia philosophy which respects students’ interests and abilities. This week’s centers are clearly in line with the questions and comments that the children are sharing.

When Farah has introduced all the centers, the children are invited to choose which they’d like to start with. Students are invited to make certain things like letters out of rocks for example.

Here are the many ways Farah incorporates the elements of the story with fun and learning.

(Continued on page 32)
Join us for an evening with Scott Fried
October 17, 2019
Thursday 7:00 pm
Gorelick Hall at Shalom Park
Open to All Parents
Middle-High School

The ABC’s of Gen-Z Parenting
If you’re a parent trying to safeguard your children through the difficult teen years, this presentation is for you. Scott will guide you toward developing a healthy and secure teen. He will review: understanding the fragile beauty of adolescence; how to talk to the teenage brain; how to find out a teen’s secrets; and how to talk to them about sex, STIs and consent. He will discuss methods for communicating with the post-millennial creature in the back seat of your car. But most of all, it will be a gentle reminder of what every teen wants more than anything else: the tender presence of loving parents and the permission to be whatever they are becoming.

Scott Fried
Scott Fried is a popular health educator and motivational speaker who’s touched over a million people through his lectures, humanitarian work and publications. The author of five must-read books (his most recent book was just released and it a culmination of his experiences working with teens for the past 30 years - this is a book parents have been asking for!) and one must-watch DVD, his message to young people and parents is a powerful one of responsibility, self-confidence, sacredness, love and self-respect.

however, they are also free to use the small rocks in any way that they choose. Some students made different shapes such as circles or squares and others used the letter cards to build the letters. One student tried to stack the rocks one on top of another and even though the child was “unsuccessful” at stacking the rocks, this led to a wonderful discussion about why the rocks wouldn’t stack and the child discovered that you can only stack flat items. Perhaps this lesson will lead the class to explore the science behind construction or a study of multiple surfaces.

The students at CJP are engaged, interested, excited, and curious. This is in part due to teachers like Farah (and all of our amazing teachers) who take the time to listen to their students and give them the respect to be part of their own learning process.

Inside Ms. Farah’s CJP Class
(Continued from page 31)

More way the students in Farah’s class learn about letters.

JCHATS
A SERIES OF ENGAGING COMMUNITY EVENTS & CONVERSATIONS

Q/A & Discussion with Author Jennifer Hurvitz

Wednesday, October 23rd • 7:00pm
Wine/Beer service starts at 6:45
Gorelick Hall, Shalom Park
FREE! Register by 10/18 at charlottejcc.org

Jenniferhurvitz.com

Books available for purchase at event!
Judaica in the Spotlight: A Peek into Morah Jayme’s Judaica

At JPS we take much pride in our teachers and staff, and our Judaica program in particular. We want to give you a taste of how special Judaica is at JPS. Morah Jayme is our Judaica specialist and she is a celebrity in our classrooms. Read to find out why.

JPS: How many years have you been at JPS?

Morah Jayme: This December will mark my 18th year at JPS.

JPS: What is your favorite part about teaching Judaica?

MJ: I love to see the way that children light up when they realize they are part of something that they belong.

JPS: What is your Judaica specialist at JPS so special?

MJ: Each classroom has its own tzedakah box, plush Torahs, Judaica books, Jewish posters, Jewish music, Alef-Bet charts, and the blessings are said over snacks and lunch. On Fridays the dramatic play area becomes a Shabbat table, and the holidays are celebrated in the classrooms through art and decoration.

JPS: How do you make Judaism relatable to children at this young age?

MJ: An important component of children’s learning is consistency, and one of our goals is to bridge the gap between what we learn at school and what our families do at home so the children can truly internalize the message. We discuss with the children that they can say Shema at home before resting, that they can light candles at home on Friday night. We share as much as possible with the parents through newsletters and programming, so they have the opportunity to continue these special traditions at home. We take opportunities to teach character development through doing good deeds daily like tzedakah, tefillah, and connecting to Israel on a daily basis. I want the Torah to be relatable to children, so we bring the Torah out to children on Simchat Torah and Shavuot so the children can see it and feel connected. This way, instead of it being mysterious, it becomes real and tangible. All these things help bring Judaism alive for our students.

JPS: Tell us who Avi is and how he joined JPS?

MJ: Avi is my sidekick. He joined JPS eight years ago and is a perpetual preschool student. He is a life-sized puppet who joins Judaica to teach us character development through puppet stories, he celebrates holidays with us, he says goodbye to each student at the end of Judaica, and they have the opportunity to hug him and say goodbye. He is an important member of the JPS family.

JPS: What is your mission in your role as Judaica teacher at JPS?

MJ: My vision is for each child to feel good about who they are as a Jewish child and feel proud to be Jewish. I myself went to Jewish preschool and day school but I never felt a sense of pride in being Jewish, which was a missed opportunity. Here we do things that make Judaica fun and special, so our students feel lucky to be who they are.

JPS: How do families get involved in Jewish education?

MJ: We offer many programs throughout the year for families to help families get involved. Family Fun Day and Sukkot Brunch is a great opportunity for families to meet each other and spend time outside of school. They can do the mitzvot of Sukkot and be connected to what their children are learning at school. Dreidels with Dad, Grandparents Day, and Family Fun Day and Sukkot Brunch are wonderful opportunities for parents to get a taste of the special time that is Judaica.

---

Students pose for a photo for our special Shabbat book.

Maya celebrates her Jewish birthday during Judaica class.

Ava leads the class in Modeh Ani, thanking Hashem for a brand new day.

---

LET THE GOOD TIMES ROLL!

Roaring 20’s Casino Fundraiser

11.16.19

7:30 PM

TEMPLE BETH EL

TICKETS AVAILABLE NOW:

www.haddassahcltevents.org
The Perfect Sukkot Meal

By Sam Marshall

Autumn … growing up in South Africa that word meant very little to me. The leaves didn’t change, fire pits were not lit, and large pots of meat and potatoes were not simmering on the stove. The season of comfort food, and what better way to celebrate the harvest than Sukkot. I have put together a three course meal that to me epitomizes this season; just the thought of it makes me yearn for cooler nights.

Our first course is a creamy (no cream) curried butternut soup. What yells fall better than a bowl of rich, orange, spiced soup? Roasting the ingredients adds a depth and flavor to this dish that cannot be duplicated. Fortunately, local grocery stores help with some of the labor in that you can buy already peeled and diced butternut.

Our main course stole my heart and won over my taste buds years ago. I remember it like it was yesterday. I was living on the army base in Israel and one of the soldiers invited me to have dinner at his base in Israel and one of the soldiers invited me to have dinner at his base in Israel. I have put together a three course meal that to me epitomizes this season; just the thought of it makes me yearn for cooler nights.

Our main course stole my heart and won over my taste buds years ago. I remember it like it was yesterday. I was living on the army base in Israel and one of the soldiers invited me to have dinner at his base in Israel. I have put together a three course meal that to me epitomizes this season; just the thought of it makes me yearn for cooler nights.

Our first course is a creamy (no cream) curried butternut soup. What yells fall better than a bowl of rich, orange, spiced soup? Roasting the ingredients adds a depth and flavor to this dish that cannot be duplicated. Fortunately, local grocery stores help with some of the labor in that you can buy already peeled and diced butternut.

[Recipe for Butternut Soup]

Yield: 5 cups

- 2 lbs. butternut (I like the cut, seeded, and peeled one from the grocery store)
- 3 T. olive oil
- 1 c. finely cut shallots
- 6 lg. cloves of garlic, halved or pressed
- 1 c. finely cut carrots
- 1 c. finely cut potatoes
- 1 c. finely cut parsnips
- 1 c. finely cut onions
- 1 c. finely cut sweet potatoes
- 1 t. salt
- 1 t. pepper
- ½ c. chicken broth
- ½ c. chicken stock
- 3 T. sherry
- 3 T. cumin
- 3 T. paprika
- 2 T. of strawberry or apricot jam (optional)
- 2 T. of solid margarine (or butter, if you prefer) per apple
- Ice cream (optional)

In a blender add, your butternut mixture and 2 c. of broth. Slowly add the remaining broth until you reach your desired thickness. Once you plate your soup, pour a t. of the sherry slowly over the top to add a little surprise sweetness. Remember that if you are eating it the following day the soup will thicken overnight so make sure you have a little broth on hand.

[Recipe for Cholent]

Yield: 8-10 servings

- 3 lbs. brisket cubed (or stewing beef)
- 3 lbs. peeled and halved potatoes (I prefer red or gold as they stand up better)
- 1 lb. peeled and cut carrots
- 2 diced white onions (lg.)
- ½ c. of barley
- ½ c. kidney beans
- ½ c. navy beans
- 2 or 3 marrow bones
- 3 T. molasses
- 2 T. paprika
- 1 t. salt
- 1 t. pepper
- 1 qt. chicken broth
- 6 eggs

Lightly flour the beef that is cubed and put in a pan to sear outside. In your crock pot, add your potatoes, onions, and carrots. Once beef is seared, place on top of the potatoes. In a separate bowl, add your beans and barley and wash them thoroughly. Add the garlic. Pour beans on top of the beef. Add seasoning, molasses, and broth together and stir up and pour into crock pot. If everything is not covered then add water till beans are covered. Place eggs, still in shell on top. Set your crock pot to 15 hours and allow to cook on low heat. You will want to check this periodically to make sure there is enough fluid and to turn the eggs. If not fully cooked at 15 hours then continue to cook. Crockpots cook at different temperatures so you want to adjust this to suit your own.

[Recipe for Baked Apples]

Yield: 5 cups

- 2 lbs. butternut (I like the cut, seeded, and peeled one from the grocery store)
- 3 T. olive oil
- 1 c. finely cut shallots
- 6 lg. cloves of garlic, halved or pressed
- 4 c. chicken broth
- Salt and pepper to taste
- 3 T. sherry
- 3 T. cumin
- 3 T. paprika
- 6 eggs

Core the apples so you remove all seeds. Place apples on a baking tray standing up, you want the thicker side on the bottom. Place butter and jam in the cored center. Place in oven and bake for 15-20 min. at 350 till jam is sizzling and apples are soft. Serve in a bowl with fresh cream or ice cream (dairy can be skipped or substituted to keep the meal kosher).

Sam Marshall is a local restaurateur who has lived and cooked in Israel.
How to Celebrate Sukkot without a Sukkah

By Sara Shapiro-Plevan
(My Jewish Learning via JTA)

– The central mitzvah of Sukkot is found in Leviticus 23:42, where Jews are commanded to dwell in a sukkah, a temporary hut, for seven days and nights. We do this in order to remember the experiences of our ancestors, both on the journey from Egypt to the Land of Israel and in a later era, when farmers brought offerings to the ancient Temple in Jerusalem at the time of the harvest.

But many people live in communities, neighborhoods, or buildings that preclude constructing and living in a sukkah. A local synagogue, younger Hillie or even kosher restaurant will likely have one that you can use to fulfill the mitzvah of sitting in a sukkah. Yet everyone, with or without a personal sukkah, can turn to creative interpretations of “dwelling” and focus on the aspects of Sukkot that are oriented toward other rituals and customs to enrich the holiday experience.

At Home, a Hut

In the Torah, the children of Israel used sukkot (plural of sukkah) as their temporary homes while traveling through the desert. Instead of constructing your own temporary space or in addition to it — you can help someone else acquire a permanent home. Habitat for Humanity runs building projects in many urban areas. There are also many Jewish organizations that address homelessness and poverty, such as the numerous groups that are part of the Jewish Social Justice.

Roundtable

Other service programs in your community may help individuals transition from homeless shelters into homes by collecting housewares and other necessary items. The acknowledgement that there are those in our communities who have no shelter at all can bring a meaningful awareness to your celebration.

A Temporary Dwelling

A sukkah is a transitional shelter meant to provide only the basic structure of a building. In fact, Jewish law requires a minimum of two walls, and the ceiling, covered in tree branches and leaves, must be open enough so that the stars are visible.

One alternative is to build a sukkah-like structure indoors. For children, the act of building forts and tents is the creation of a personal play space. Adults can build a canopy over the dining room table using a tablecloth, or even over the bed — perhaps to look like a huppah, or wedding canopy — to enjoy the temporary shelter and reminder of transition that it evokes.

Harvest Holiday

In the Bible, Sukkot marked the time of the fruit and grape harvests. It is also harvest time in North America, and the produce of the season is readily available. You can visit a farmer’s market or even a farm to buy or help harvest seasonal fruits and vegetables. Go apple picking or visit the park to collect fallen leaves and twigs to use as decorations. Create centerpieces for the home with fruits and vegetables, and plan meals that incorporate a wide selection of local produce. Look for the variety of produce imported from Israel during this time of year, as well.

The Four Species

The lulav and etrog are made up of four kinds of plants (citron, etrog, palm/lulav, myrtle/hadas, and palm/arava) and are often called the four species, or “arba minim.” They function as one unit, and we say one blessing over them together: Their purpose is to gather and enjoy the plants of the land. Anyone can shake a lulav at home, in a synagogue, or wherever you find yourself, even out in the natural world. A lulav and etrog can be found online or in a local Judaica store.

The four are often referred to under the inclusive term lulav, since the lulav is the largest and most prominent of the species. Thus, while the mitzvah is to wave the lulav, this actually refers to waving all four species: palm, willow, myrtle, and etrog. Also, when people refer to the lulav and etrog, they are referring to all four species, including the willow and myrtle.

Ushpizin

Welcoming guests is a Jewish value expressed all year by the mitzvah of “hachnasat orhim” (welcoming guests). Invite guests to your home for a sukkah party or a meal and serve harvest-themed treats. You might also host a picnic in a local park.

At Sukkot, we specifically welcome ushpiizin, traditionally one of seven exalted men of Israel to take up residence in the sukkah with us: Abraham, Isaac, Jacob, Joseph, Moses, Aaron, and David. Be creative and encourage your guests to welcome their own ushpiizin — famous personalities and heroes, ancient or modern, Jewish or not Jewish, who lived exemplary lives and continue to inspire.

The Time of Our Joy

In Jewish liturgy, Sukkot is referred to as the time of our joy, “z man simchateinu.” Take time off to spend with family or friends, or make lots of phone calls to wish a “chag sameach,” a happy holiday, to loved ones who are too far to visit.

Make your home a joyful place with decorations in the spirit of the holiday: Decorate your front door with a harvest theme, hang paper chains from your ceilings or build a mini-sukkah out of graham crackers, pretzels, and icing to serve as a fun treat. Sukkhs (the Hebrew plural is sukkot) in Israel are often decorated with what Americans would refer to as “Christmas lights,” so grab a box and string them around your windows and walls to transform your home into a sukkah.

The space and financial investment needed to build a sukkah can be very real, but finding ways to celebrate the holiday only takes some creative thinking.

(h) (Sara Shapiro-Plevan serves as the coordinator of congregational education for New York City for the Board of Jewish Education of Greater New York.)
Inspired and guided by our tradition of tzedakah (righteousness/charity) and tikkun olam (repairing the world), the Jewish Federation’s Women’s Philanthropy is dedicated to the continuity, connectivity and thriving future of our Charlotte Jewish community, Israel and the Jewish people.

We seek to provide significant opportunities for all women to affirm their Jewish identity and spirituality, to be proactive in evolving issues of concern to contemporary Jewish women, to engage new cadres of participants and leaders in our community and to inspire other Jewish women by example.

OUR VISION

Unleash the power of

WOMEN’S PHILANTHROPY

UPCOMING EVENTS

WOMEN’S PHILANTHROPY DAY

Event Chairs: Meredith Baumstein, Sara Kulbersh and Debbie Porter

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 7, 2019
9:15 AM - 1:00 PM  |  SAM LERNER CENTER FOR CULTURAL ARTS

Advanced tickets $18 (includes lunch)

Federation inspires and empowers women to become leaders and decision makers. Spend the day learning how Federation’s work reflects the Jewish values of tikkun olam, and makes the world a better place.

Event Hosts: Deidre Grubb
Janice Nalibotsky
Julie Lerner Levine

Melissa Raphael
Dale Polsky
Julie Sheffer

Lisa Sutker
Tal Stein
Bonnie Tangelos

Liz Winer
Patti Zakow

SPRING PHILANTHROPY NIGHT

TUESDAY, MARCH 31, 2020  | 7:00 PM

Featuring Archie Gottesman, founder of the blog JewBelong, a website making Judaism relevant in the 21st century.

* A gift of $180 or more to the Jewish Federation’s Annual Campaign is required to attend.

For more information about Women’s Philanthropy, please contact Ilana Toch, Development Associate, at ilana.toch@jewishcharlotte.org or 704.944.6784.

WWW.JEWISHCHARLOTTE.ORG