

SALALM Conference Attendance Scholarship

Established to encourage professional and leadership development in Latin American, Caribbean, and Iberian studies librarianship, the award of up to $1,500 enables a master's student to attend SALALM's annual conference, June 5-8, 2020, at University of California-Davis. Since its founding in 1956, SALALM (the Seminar on the Acquisition of Latin American Library Materials) has provided the only national and international forum focused on Latin American studies library collections and service.

Who Should Apply

Students who have career aspirations involving service to academic users seeking information about or researching topics involving Latin America, the Caribbean, Iberia, or their diasporas are encouraged to apply.

Eligibility

Applicants must be enrolled in an ALA-accredited master's program (or equivalent) in the United States or Canada; have completed at least one quarter or semester of study; and demonstrate competency in at least one of the region's major languages.

Required application materials:

- * Completed application form
- * Current resume
- * One letter of reference
- * Personal statement
