“NAF is now navigating an exciting new environment as research accelerates towards potential treatments for Ataxia,” said Bill Sweeney, President of the NAF Board of Directors. “NAF needs a leader who can help us meet the challenges and identify the opportunities presented in this new environment. Our board is confident that Andrew will effectively direct NAF to take advantage of these opportunities to benefit all who are affected by Ataxia.”

Mr. Rosen said, "I am honored to be joining the strong team at NAF, and look forward to building on the work that has impacted so many people with Ataxia since the organization was founded in 1957. Research supported by NAF continues to make progress in the search for treatments and an eventual cure for Ataxia. It is a pivotal time for the Ataxia community, and I will be focused on accelerating NAF's growth in the coming years."
