

Date: May 15, 2016

Unique visitors: 1,721,759

INSTYLE HEARTS NYC

7 Outdoor Rooftop Bars in N.Y.C. You Need to Visit this Summer

Welcome to InStyle ♥ New York! Throughout May, we're bringing you everything you need to know about New York City. See what we're loving about New York right now.

The sun is out; the temps are warm. That's right, folks: It's officially al fresco drinking season. In lieu of crowded street-level bars, retreat several stories above and enjoy the open air with a cold drink and sweeping views of the world's most legendary skyline. Below, seven of the best outdoor rooftop bars New York City has to offer.

4. CANTINA ROOFTOP AT STAGE 48

Few things say “summer” quite like a stiff margarita. At Cantina Rooftop—a new venue perched on top of the event space Stage 48—you can have one (or two, or three) along with a range of other mezcal cocktails courtesy of mixologist Nelson Lemus. Soak up the booze with multiple helpings of ceviche, tacos, and guacamole.

605 West 48th St., cantinarooftop.com