Saturday 25 Dec. 1943-Sgt. Hecox and 20 men with 20 natives traveled from Moniela to Miolok with mission of establishing OP at Miolok and reconnoitering Omal and Didnap. Lt. Hawkins platoon was given mission of going up near Mio to clear out a party of Japanese reported holed up in a cave. Both patrols had reached Moniela at the same time when the trucks were ambushed by about 40 Japanese. Men were discouraging and offered resistance but due to unknown strength of enemy, assuming the same number as encountered was and advance party for a large body which had been reported by 8th Army as coming this way from the Fulle River. It was decided to withdraw along the trail to prepared positions at Uniguina. Withdrawal was completed by approximately 1045.

Lt. Hawkins' patrol and Sgt. Hecox' patrol were reinforced at Untingula by a platoon from Troop G under Lt. Jeffress. Field artillery was ordered placed 300 to 500 yards northeast, along the trail from Untingula. Results of firing were unobserved due to the thick jungle.

Captain Hill, on patrol to Mio, met patrols retiring and took command. Our force retired to Untingula where Captain Hill prepared a defensive line and waited for the enemy. Telephone communication with Rgt. Hecox was maintained. Artillery fire delivered on trail 1600 yards above Untingula to Moniela. Concentration began at 1112. Field artillery released to 1112th Cavalry by Gen. Cunningham. Early estimate of enemy strength placed at 40. Enemy attempted to send patrol of 8 men around left flank. 5 were killed and the others probably wounded. Observer for field artillery reached Capt. Hill at 1140.

At 1140 Lt. Stilling reported to Rgt. Hecox from patrol reporting evidence of approximately 15 Japs had been found in garden above left flank of Capt. Hill's position, 10 sets of tracks were seen and natives reported seeing the enemy.

Second artillery concentration begun at 1155. One squad and artillery observer, (officer), left on reconnaissance at 1205 from Untingula. Scout car sent to Untingula with two .50 mounted, two cases of 50 ammo and one case of .30 ammo. Squadron of F-47s reported coming in to protect our Untingula towards Mio. 2nd squadron notified to be on alert. Estimated 30 enemy in party. Two natives brought in from Mio said the Japanese number approximately 30. At 1255 heavy firing reported on Capt. Hill's left flank. Scout car with full crew dispatched at 1320 for Untingula. Smoke pots taken. Japanese not yet reported on coast.
At 1625 JST 20th Dec. bombing and shelling from Utintanu to Pulic and then to Didnep where 6th Army reports large enemy force moving west and one column from Pulic River to Sigul River.

Captain Hill suggested Troop B take over Utintanu before nightfall. One truck with escort was sent to capture Hill to bring back heavy equipment and his force was ordered to withdraw from Utintanu by 6th Army. One patrol at a time. Last element left Utintanu at 1615. Troop C ordered to register mortars. 2 men killed accidentally when withdrawing through 0113.

A party was established by 2nd Squadron at approximately 0600 yards in front of 7th Army communication on hilltop with 12 by 0113.

Japs attacked our extreme right flank of the hill by 0113 mortar fire forcing them to withdraw. One man killed and 6 wounded during night. Light bombing occurred during night. During the entire engagement 12 enemy were known killed. One patrol from 2nd Squadron sent into tall grass. 3 killed by mine, another killed by mine. To force out Japanese who were hiding in the rice paddies to the east.

Sunday, December 26, 1943.

Japanese force of 150 to 200 trekked extreme right flank at 2200. Enemy broke through but retired under mortar fire. Only one enemy dead found but it is believed more than 20 are killed and wounded and carried off. We lost one man killed and 6 wounded.

Patrols from both squadrons worked along hillside and in the valley. One patrol moved north and encountered Japanese coming from village. Field artillery fired 38 rounds on village and Troop G patrol under Lt. Jeffers went to village to find enemy. Patrol supported by field artillery. No enemy found at village. Clip from Japanese 12 found at village. No other evidence of occupation.

Document from dead Japanese officer killed yesterday indicates attacking force was composed of remnants of Araya garrison which filed our landing. They had been supplied with no day's ration by air at Didnep. Patrols to Pulic River report no enemy concentration in that area along Sigul River. 3 Japs killed December 25 at mouth of Pulic River.

Mio Of evacuated position when native scouts reported party of Japanese troops moving in that direction. Radio hidden in bushes under guard of friendly natives. A patrol will be sent in future to Mio to re-establish or to retrieve radio equipment.

Monday, December 27, 1943

During night of December 26-27 15 to 20 Japanese struck our right flank of MIR but were driven off by 60 mm mortar fire. Number of enemy killed or wounded unknown. We had one killed and 2 wounded.

During early morning 2 Platoons of Troop A and 2 of Troop B counter-attacked from MIR to Utintanu. 12 enemy killed. Number wounded unknown. We lost one officer and 2 men.

Patrol of Troop B led by Sgt. McNew went approximately one mile north of the MIR to a native garden area. Report by Sgt. McNew indicates 20 to 30 enemy bivouacked there on high ground back of garden, possibly using cave for headquarters. Bivouac is supported and they have one machine gun. A battle of terrain SSW did not attack and then they slipped away without being detected. At 1500 Troop B was ordered to attack the area. Report of their activity has not been received.
It Boland with Troop C platoon went by barge to MIL to recover radio equipment to report received of his activity.

It is estimate there are 20 to 40 enemy scattered throughout the area, using a cave in the garden area for headquarters.

Tuesday, December 26, 1943: At approximately 2200 a small number of Japanese made harassing attack on extreme right flank of our LH positions. Attack was repulsed by 90 mm mortar fire. Number of attacking forces unknown but thought to be 10 to 15. Another harassing attack was made at same position. Our troops withheld their automatic fire. Number of enemy dead or wounded unknown. Our forces suffered no casualties.

Patrol led by Lt. Geriner of Troop E, given mission of pushing to Utingalyo to clear out enemy in that area. Enemy sniper resistance not from OHR to within 400 yards of the village. Patrol encountered concentration of enemy mortar fire and retired without accomplishing its mission. One enemy killed. No casualties.

Patrol of Troop C led by Lt. Boland had mission of pushing to native garden at 36-9-253 and clear that area of enemy. Patrol reached point approximately 1000 yards north of the LH where they met enemy LH and sniper resistance. Patrol returned at 1530 without accomplishing mission. Three enemy killed. Our forces suffered no casualties.

A patrol under Sgt. Herbert on an LCW from Troop B left a 0715 on routine patrol of Angup Island area. Patrol to be relieved in four days.

No definite contact with enemy this date. Number of enemy in immediate vicinity estimated to be 20 to 35.

Total number of enemy killed today: 4. Number wounded unknown.

We lost one man who was accidentally killed.

Wednesday, December 27, 1943: Patrol from Troop C moved from left flank of LH at 0600, going along swamp to about 100 yards in front of LH. Patrol worked along edge of swamp with one squad below the cliff and another on top of it. Patrol advanced approximately 1000 yards in front of the LH where it met enemy skirmish line about 200 yards long consisting of rifles and at least 20 MGs. Both squad were caught in cross fire and forced to ground. Third squad attempted to go around right flank but was caught and pinned down by MG fire. Patrol leader began withdrawal at 1300 thinking enemy force larger than his own. Reach LH at 1530. One enemy killed; possibly two more. Our losses were 4 killed and 2 wounded.

January, December 29, 1943: At 1230 platoon of Troop A on left flank of LH on swamp reported enemy infiltration through the swamp to our rear. One section of Troop R, a squad of Troop F and a squad of LH platoon troop A under John C. Carter, moved 500 yards to the rear of LH and entered swamp to clear the enemy, estimated 20-30, back across LH. This force was ambushed as it entered swamp and pushed toward after a heated battle. This force was reinforced with 2 skirksed toward LH while a platoon of 15th Inf. joined them. We crossed the swamp to the rear toward Task Force Hq. At 1645 a small party of 15-20 Japs was observed out in swamp and mortar fire was opened on them. At the same time this force was relieved by 2 Platoons of Troop A who continued to pound the swamp to the rear Task Force Hq. At 1645 a small party of 15-20 Japs was observed out in swamp and mortar fire was opened on them. At the same time this force was relieved by 2 Platoons of Troop A, who continued to pound the swamp until dusk. During the entire action, 17 enemy were killed including 8 officers; our losses were 1 officer killed, 1 wounded, and 6 wounded. From new dappled later this force was found to be a Japanese sea raiding party of 2 officers and 20 EM with mission to silence our mortar action at MLR.

No enemy contacted during night.

20 enemy killed in total operations during day. Unknown number wounded.

Troops E, F, G worked on defenses of OPLR and MLR. Work started on regimental CP bomb shelter. F & G Platoon continued work on mine fields.

Saturday, January 1, 1944: Troops of rifle squadrons and natives continued work on defensive positions.

One squad of Troop E left MLR at 0600 to reconnoiter area between MLR and untagula. Patrols encountered approximately 25 Japanese digging positions on reverse slope of small ridge about 200 yards in front of our OPLR, at 37.5-227. Patrol returned with this report at 0830. No attack was made by our patrol according to plan. Plans were made for 3 Troop to attack this position at 1130 following brief artillery and mortar barrage. Attack launched on schedule and objective reached at 1400. Estimated 14 enemy killed. Six of our men were wounded in this action. At the instant of jumping off from the line of departure several short rounds of either artillery or mortar shells fell on our right flank, platoon, killing 3 men and wounding nine. At the objective enemy rifle, MG and knee mortar fire was encountered. Troop withdrew to OPLR positions about 1430.

Air action: 4 or 5 Jap planes dropped supplies between Meselia and Ten River between 0000 to 0336.

20 enemy aircraft approached from north but dropped no bombs. Engaged with one probably. We had fighters airborne.

Monday, January 2, 1944: No change has been detected in enemy positions. 2nd Sq moved to MLR. 1st and 2nd Sqs now on MLR. Two reconnaissance patrols were sent out at 0600 to observe enemy positions approximately 600 yards in front of MLR. Patrols reported small number of enemy estimated at one squad were still in the same position that he had previously occupied. Voices were heard and the sound of logs being rolled on the ground was detected. Plano is located 500 e of small ravine. Because of this our patrol was unable to get close enough to observe any activity. Patrols returned at 0630.

Air action: Nil.
Monday, January 3, 1944: No further change reported in enemy positions. Sgt. Gaudreault of 1st Sq. Hq., and four men moved from right flank of MLP between track and beach. Patrol left at 0600 and reached a point approximately 200 yards beyond the OPLR. At this point ten enemy were observed digging positions around two light MGs. These MGs were thirty yards apart. Other men could be heard cutting brush but they were not seen by any members of the patrol. Patrol returned at 0930.

Col. Perry of Troop C and four men departed left flank of MLP at 0600 and moved along swamp to a point 600 yards beyond the OPLR. One Japanese was seen 200 yards short of the objective, but he fired and was not contacted. Upon reaching the objective patrol heard brush cutting along ridge to the left, in the swamp. Fire lanes were observed from the cliff into the swamp. Individual unimproved positions were seen behind small brush piles. Patrol returned at 0930.

Tuesday, January 4, 1944: At 0600 Troop G (reinforced by 1 platoon of Troop P) launched attack on enemy positions. Line of departure was our OPLR.

First contact with the enemy was in the form of scattered fire from snipers at 0700. Our forces continued to advance, and the enemy snipers withdrew, leading us into a well organized position defended by LMGs, heavy mortars, riflemen, and it is thought, at least one MG of heavy calibre.

The enemy MGs were well hidden, with criss-crossed fire lanes. Each fire lane was five to ten feet wide, and had been cut through vines and small brushes similar to a rabbit trail under tall grass. The foliage overhead had not been disturbed. These concealed fire lanes were from 25 to 50 yards long and they withheld their MG fire until our troops reached the ends of the fire lanes, with much traversing outside the lanes. Practically all of our soldiers reported the enemy was firing explosive bullets. This might be verified by the large holes made in the flesh wounds.

At least five MGs were definitely located, and possibly one other. One enemy LMG was shot to pieces by one of our LMG and 1 of its crew were killed. It is known that two other enemy LMGs were silenced by two of our BAs but it was not ascertained whether they withdrew or were destroyed.

No artillery preparation preceded the attack because we anticipated having the element of surprise in the operation. This was not possible as the enemy had snipers resting in front of his defense line. As our troops left their line of departure several flashes of light similar to flashlights were observed. The enemy snipers did not fire as a rule unless other firing was being done.

Cl MP mortar fire was ready for use at the Troop Commanders call but only a little was used. This fell behind the enemy lines because the fire at such close range the mortar fire would otherwise fall on our own troops.

An artillery area barrage from 0705-0725 was fired on the rear of enemy lines as a diversion and harassing fire on any enemy reserves that might be brought up, or on any of his withdrawing troops. Another diversion attempt was made by 4 LSMs that strafed the Utingalgo Village area with the pretense of landing troops at the village. The shot received a small amount of enemy MG fire which was ineffective. The LSMs moved closer than 300 yards to the shore.

Our enveloping movements did not succeed and were met with fire quickly whenever the effort was made. The enemy lines were definitely located at 37.5-22.6-37.5-22.6, and it is known that the line extends across the trail because our enveloping units received fire from enemy positions in that area.
Our forces were ordered to withdraw by Command of General of Task force at approximately 0930, and completed its withdrawal at 1030. The number of enemy in this position could not be determined. 1 enemy were killed.

Wednesday, January 7, 1944: A four-man patrol under Sgt. Daines of Troop B reconnoitered 300 yards in front of our OP/LR or the right side of the peninsula between the road and beach but no enemy were seen. Patrol lasted from 0600 to 0930. Troops continued improving positions on OP/LR and natives continued work clearing brush in front of our positions.

Air action: Alert 2204, 2 bombs all clear 2221.

Thursday, January 8, 1944: Mr. Blake of the Australian Service and some natives led a squad of American infantry in an attack on a Japanese OP at 24.1 - 34.5 where three Japanese were found. One was killed and two captured. Captured man was injured, one shot in the neck and one with a fractured skull. Both men sent to hospital and were able to talk.

These Japanese state they are from the original force here and were left behind when the others evacuated. They were unable to get to any Japanese base and were without food.

Conflicting statements were given by these men at the interrogation continues.

Troop C and the 81 mm mortar platoon of Weapons Troop were attached to a reinforced company of the 156th Infantry for an attack on enemy positions approximately 1000 yards in front of the OP/LR. The fight is still in progress.

Air action: Kil.

Friday, January 7, 1944: Additional double-apron barbed wire forces were strung about 50 yards in front of our OP/LR. As a result of yesterday's battle with the enemy 41 Japanese were killed and an unknown number wounded. We lost 4 killed and 2 wounded.

Prisoners taken yesterday were a part of the 14th Field artillery which was on Amult plantation when we landed. They report there were 15 in their party, who were left behind by the others.

Result of OPs in front of OP/LR last night: 3 or 4 Japanese seen below cliff on left flank and noises of several trying to build or move something. Noises on right flank, but none seen. One explosion thought to be a land mine was heard to rear of right flank in vicinity of OP/LR. No movement of troops heard.

Troop B pushed out at 0630 today immediately after bombing and strafing by A-20s and a 15 minute F. A. barrage. It met resistance about 300 yards in front of OP/LR in the usual place where all our preceding attacks have first drawn enemy fire; however, the fire was not great as was received yesterday from that position. This may be due to the fact that B Troop did not make a concerted attack as its mission was to form a protective screen while other troops continue to clear undergrowth in front of OP/LR.

It appears that the enemy disposition is the same as it has been during the past week with a lightly held OP/LR about 300 yards in front of our OP/LR with their strong positions across the peninsula from 37.5 - 37.4 - 37.1.

The effectiveness of our recent artillery and mortar barrages is unknown, but without a doubt some casualties have been inflicted because no evidence of pill boxes or bunkers for their protection has been found. It is thought that the enemy might possibly have some covered positions and caves in which they hide during our artillery firing, but that they return to their gun positions as soon as the artillery ceases. A quick follow up by ground troops with close-in support of mortar fire is evidently the only means of combating the enemy unless tanks, supported by foot troops, are employed. The enemy’s camouflage and disposition of his automatic weapons make it impossible to locate his position and direction of fire. He holds his fire until our troops walk right into fire lanes, then opens up at close range from 10-15 yards.

Air Action: Nil.

Saturday, January 8, 1944: Enemy counter-reconnaissance screen pushed out 400 yards in front of our OPLR and then sent a patrol forward to reconnoiter enemy positions and observe damage done by our bombing and artillery fire this morning. No report from this patrol yet.

Yesterday’s activities accounted for 5 dead Japanese. We had six men wounded. One Japanese aviator was killed 400 yards in front of our OPLR who evidently had been shot down and joined the Japanese forces to our front. We had no losses today.

Air Action: Nil.

Sunday, January 9, 1944: One patrol went out early this morning and found Japanese in same position as before. Patrol leader attempted to locate exact position on aerial photo and artillery fired concentration into that area. No casualties on either side.

Monday, January 10, 1944: Reconnaissance patrol of four men went 400 yards in front of the right flank of our OPLR immediately following the artillery barrage at 0730 this morning and found 15 enemy coming into position in the same place reported by yesterday’s patrol in that area. Evidently the enemy withdrew from his forward positions behind a slope of possily into caves along the beach during the artillery barrage. After the fire lifted, the enemy came back into position along the crest of the ridge.

Another patrol of four men reconnoitered the area 500 yards to the front of the left flank of the OPLR. No enemy contact. No positions or fire lanes were seen. Lt Currier and 4 men left to patrol to native gardens along the coast north of here.

Tuesday, January 11, 1944: Combat patrol of 20 men commanded by Lt. Woods of Troop B followed artillery barrage out to enemy OPLR. It was intended to surprise the enemy as was done yesterday during the occupation of his OPL immediately after the artillery fire lifted. Our patrol did not meet with anticipated success as 5 or 6 Japanese were already in position and the patrol had to open fire prematurely just a few seconds before the Japanese who had been in the cave came into view. They fired on the enemy who were not in position, ducked behind the crest of the ridge and slipped their weapons into position from behind the crest. Heavy MG fired and scattered rifle fire was encountered as our patrol withdrew. One heavy caliber MG opened fire on the patrol’s left flank across the Unitingala Trail. One enemy LMG was definitely silenced but was not captured. Estimated enemy killed: 5 to 8. Our casualties: 3 slightly wounded, one officer and two men missing.

Wednesday, January 12, 1944: Lt. Currier of A troop and one other man spent right of the 10th and all day the 11th on reconnaissance behind the jungle right flank. Deep jungle and swamp prevented extensive reconnaissance of the area.

Patrol observed five Japanese and two natives swimming on beach at North of this site a small hut, a native canoe and some pots and pans were observed, evidently the enemy camp. It is estimated there are from five to twelve enemy in the area. The entire Cape Markus Peninsula can be observed from this area so it is probably an OP. This enemy may be remnants of the Japanese attacked by Mr. Blake and the Infantry a few days previous.

Regular dawn patrols from our OPLO moved to a point 200 yards in front of our OPLO without observing evidence of the enemy.

Thursday, January 13, 1944: At approximately 2200 (Jan 12) a four-man Jap reconnaissance patrol was sighted about 200 yards in front of the right flank of our OPL. Later on several noises were heard in front of the right flank of our MLR. This could have been the patrol trying to attract our attention and draw fire from our positions. No shots fired.

Regular dawn patrols from OPLO left at 0600 on each side of the Umtingulu Trail. Right flank patrol reported no change in enemy OPLR.

Left flank patrol reported that portion of the OPLR was unoccupied by the enemy. The patrol observed several standing-type foxholes in that vicinity, and then moved on to a point 50 yards beyond the end of the cacao-nut plantation where they observed several MG fire lanes and heard voices in the dense undergrowth. No enemy observed.

At approximately 1030 LG fire from enemy positions on our right flank was directed at our platoon on line of observation. Our mortar fire landed moments later on the area from which the MG fire came. Machine gun fire ceased.

Regular dawn patrols returned at 0830 and reported no change in enemy positions.

Air action: Red alert at 112245. All clear at 0016. Two planes dropped four bombs. No damage.

Saturday, January 15, 1944: Regular dawn patrols left at 0600. Left patrol returned at 0945 after encountering 600 yards along the swamp. No enemy seen or heard.

Right patrol returned at 0745. Saw new fire lanes near known enemy positions on reverse slope near beach. Patrol moved close and heard voices and noise of cutting. Two enemy observed in brush 300 yards in front of right flank of OPLR.

Sunday, January 16, 1944: General Patrick (Brig. Gen.) arrived on island.

At 0100 a four or five man enemy patrol approached the right flank of the OPLR and were observed. Rifle and mortar fire drove them back.

Troop C and mortar platoons of 1st BN. Troop participated with Marine Tank Company and Infantry battalion in attack on enemy positions. Action started at 0930. To this date no complete report on fighting received.

Monday, January 17, 1944: In fighting on January 16 our forces report having killed 135 enemy. Of these Troop C reports having killed five. In this action our troops advanced to a point 1700 yards beyond our own MLR. At 1130 on January 16 Troop C moved on enemy pocket of resistance approximately 400 yards north of the right flank of the MLR. This pocket was wired out by nightfall except for a few riflemen. Troop C relieved Troop C at night.

At 2345 January 16 three enemy observed on beach moving toward MLR. They withdrew when fired upon.
Casualties: 3 killed, 10 wounded.

Air action: Red alert at 0129, all clear at 0210. One plane dropped two bombs. No damage.

Tuesday, January 17, 1944: Additional report from Troop F states man from that troop saw many tons of trees when moving in an enemy patrol of resistance the day before were found. Two riflesmen seen - one killed.

At 2300 January 17, noise was heard on left flank of MLR in swamp. Though to be enemy constructing positions. Mortars fired on the area.

Regular day patrols left at 0500. Light patrol returned at 0715 and reported moving 100 yards in front of CPLR without seeing any enemy.

Night patrol saw two enemy, apparently lookouts, on rock ledge above Umitigalau. Patrol returned at 0930.

Casualties: 4 killed.

Our casualties: None.

Troops continued to clear our front for new CPLR positions. Today our men began to dig new CPLR approximately 500 yards beyond the MLR. Brush and undergrowth cleared to a distance of 1000 yards beyond the MLR.

Wednesday, January 18, 1944: Lt. Fisk and three men of Troop C made reconnaissance patrol to Hamlet. No signs of the enemy were found by this patrol.

A reconnaissance patrol to the area 37?21 (Lomin Special, 1/20,000) reported no enemy seen. No activity was observed.

Regular patrols at dawn from CPLR moved out at 0600. Patrol moved to Umitigalau and saw one enemy 500 yards in front of the CPLR. This man was unarmed and fled into brush.

Thursday, January 19, 1944: Sgt. Ginn with three men of C Troop moved out at 0600 from CPLR on front patrol. While moving along the brush toward Umitigalau an enemy patrol of four to six men were met. This enemy patrol withdrew without being fired on.

Sgt. Hualap of Troop C and three men moved from CPLR at 0600 and discovered rear positions of the force that gave battle on January 16.

Navies continued work of clearing in front of our positions and troops continued to work on CPLR positions.

Friday, January 20, 1944: Utilized bull-dozer to cover up fox holes and run positions on Japanese behind former Japanese MLR. Men of Troop C covered holes the bull-dozer could not get to. Two squads of Troop C acted as guard for labor detail in the morning.

A reconnaissance patrol from the Infantry to McCall returned at 2000. Only enemy observed were two riflemen at Hamlet. worked on filling in these fox holes and gun positions.

Began work on new S-2-J CP building.

Japanese equipment removed from former Japanese bivouac area and delivered to Task Force by S-2 personnel.

A four-man patrol to the garden area and along paths northeast of Unitingulu returned at 1740. No enemy activity was observed or detected.

A reconnaissance patrol of the same north of the left flank of the MIL returned at 1545. This patrol went inland to 36-1-21-1 and reconnoitered the swamp east of that point for 1000 yards. This patrol found no trace of the enemy.

Lt. Applecorn and four men left our OPLR at 0600 with the mission of patrolling to Moselia. The objective was to locate a large body of the enemy and if no opposition were met to continue to the Lupin airfield. The patrol ran into a Japanese patrol at 41-2-21-7 in a small clearing. Lt. Applecorn killed the leader and another man of the 4-man enemy patrol. Immediately after killing the two Japanese, Lt. Applecorn heard a large number of enemy whistling, as though assembling by sound. The enemy were heard on his left flanks and rear. He withdrew south to the cliffs and returned to the MIL along the beach. At Hamlet the patrol surprised an enemy who was fishing in the ocean. Enemy was killed.
