

[Custom-designed interior lap pool with views of Aspen Highlands through floor to ceiling windows]

LIVING LUXURY

This multi-faceted home designed by Brewster McLeod Architects provides everything for the ultimate mountain lifestyle.

From its much-coveted location in a private, gated community to the surrounding natural environment, the owners of this mountain retreat were able to create their personal paradise utilizing open floor plans combined with dedicated entertaining spaces. A custom-designed water feature integrated along the private master patio enhances the secluded ambiance of the property. With an indoor lap pool providing year-round recreation, multiple choices enhance the playful characteristics of this magnificent 14,000 square-foot home, including a 7KW solar system and numerous sustainable attributes.

Abundant bedroom suites and separate living quarters allow for a spacious layout perfect for large holiday family gatherings. An exercise area, theater with a stage and a recreational room complement the entertaining nature of the home. While luxurious in design, nature ultimately takes center stage in this mountain abode.

