Carl W. Stenberg, Jr.
Begins Second Year as Grand Master

Bro. Carl W. Stenberg, Jr. of Pittsburgh has been reelected R.W. Grand Master of Masons in Pennsylvania.

The election and installation of Grand Lodge officers for the current Masonic year was accomplished during the December Quarterly Communication of the Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania held on Wednesday, December 5, 1986 at the Masonic Temple in Philadelphia.

Because of legislation adopted in 1985, the December, 1986 Annual Grand Communication was not scheduled. The legislation calls for the elimination of the annual meeting in those years when the Grand Lodge line officers are expected to be reelected to the same positions.

In addition to the R.W. Grand Masters, the following Grand Lodge officers were also reelected:

Bro. W. Scott Sonner of Lancaster as the R.W. Senior Grand Warden.

Bro. Thomas W. Jackson as R.W. Grand Secretary.

Grand Master Stenberg has indicated he will use the second year of his administration as a year to set the stage for the Pennsylvania Foundation for the Prevention of Drug and Alcohol Abuse Among Children he established in 1986 and to continue the growth and development of the National Masonic Foundation dedicated to the same purpose.

The Grand Master also pledged to continue the work of Project SOLMON II, the Rebuilding of Freemasonry in Pennsylvania, by introducing new and innovative programming. He also expressed the desire to improve and initiate training programs for lodge officers so that they can be more efficient administrators when they are elected the Worshipful Masters of the lodges.

Grand Master Stenberg is a graduate of the University of Pittsburgh and a retired vice president of Mellon Bank.

He is married to the former Mildred G. Baggs and they are the parents of three sons: Carl W. III, Richard W. and Chris D. The Stenbergs are residents of Whitehall Borough.

The installation of officers is normally accomplished by a group newly appointed by the Grand Master.

Masonic Treasures

A prized possession is that much more valuable when it is given so that all may possess it, if for only the moment it falls within their view.

Among the many items on display in the Museum at the Masonic Homes at Elizabethtown is a Dudley Masonic watch that is a gift of Bro. Jacob W. "Jap" Heisey, a 57-year member of Abraham C. Treichler Lodge No. 682.

Bro. Heisey, who lives in nearby Rheems and is well known for hundreds of acts of charity and philanthropy on behalf of the local communities, is shown above presenting the watch to Bro. Joseph E. Murphy, Executive Director of the Masonic Homes. Bro. Heisey and his late twin brother, Bro. W. Scott "Winny" Heisey, worked on the construction of the Masonic Homes at Elizabethtown at the age of seven. The brothers used small pony horses to lead eight draft horses to and from the site of Grand Lodge Hall where the large horses were used to pull digging scoops in excavating for the foundation. The year was 1910.

In 1911, Jap and Winny hauled lime from the kiln in Rheems to the site to be used in the making of mortar by the stone masons. The Heisey boys hauled the lime used in the mortar on September 25, 1911 when the cornerstone of Grand Lodge Hall was placed by the officers of the Grand Lodge.

The Heiseys participated in the work on most of the buildings and in the construction of the roads at the Masonic Homes and at the nearby Patton Campus. They were the third generation in their family to engage in the stone business and have provided stone from their quarries for most area roads, highways and buildings.

Winny died in 1979 and Jap says he constantly tries to fulfill his twin brother's last request. "He asked that I spend the rest of my life being twice as kind to all people, one time for him, and the other for myself. I am trying," Bro. Heisey said.

Amy Treichler Spahr, granddaughter of Dr. Abraham C. Treichler, presents a portrait of the Mason for whom the local lodge in Elizabethtown is named to Bro. Gerald W. West, Jr., who helped establish the museum. Dr. Treichler was a prominent physician in the Elizabethtown area.
THE MUSEUM

When the renovation of Grand Lodge Hall, the central building of the Masonic Homes complex at Elizabethtown, was completed in the fall of 1985, two new areas of interest to both the Homes' residents and visitors were added — a museum and an ice cream parlor.

What had been a closed, shelved room used for storage is now an open museum display area with movable walls. The degree of sophistication in its organization and layout is a tribute to the four area Masons pictured here who gathered the materials and determined how to display them. Each of them brought important skills to the task through insights they have developed over their lifetimes.

Bro. Harry L. Barnhart (far right) is a 50-year member of Abraham C. Treichler Lodge No. 682, which meets in the Masonic Temple at the Homes.

Bro. Barnhart is a retired builder and received some of his earliest instruction during the summers of his high school years when he worked with his father on the construction of Homes' buildings. He worked as an engineer on the Meeker building during its construction in the mid-1950s.

Bro. Gerald W. West, Jr. (second from the right) retired in 1984 as a senior supply systems analyst at the Navy Fleet Material Support Office in Mechanicsburg.

A native of Oklahoma, Bro. West is a past president of the Historical Society of Dauphin County and was the first chairman (1980-1986) of the Board of Trustees of Fort Hunter, an historical site that is now part of the Dauphin County Park System. He is a member of Perseverance Lodge No. 21 in Harrisburg.

Bro. Kenneth W. Nebinger (second from left) was made a Mason in Robert Burns Lodge No. 464 in Harrisburg but became a warrant member of Sylvania-Swartz Lodge No. 775 in 1954.

A Past Master who is active in Masonic culture, education and research, he is a past trustee of the Historical Society of Dauphin County. Bro. Nebinger has traveled through—

Public Speaking Program Now Available to Masons

The Pennsylvania Youth Foundation's public speaking program can now be used by the Masonic lodges in Pennsylvania as a training program for lodge officers and any members who want to improve their ability to speak. The R.W. Grand Master, Bro. Carl W. Steenberg, Jr., has instituted a series of four introductory programs for the District Deputy Grand Masters when this edition of The Pennsylvania Freemason was being readied for publication.

The District Deputy Grand Masters were being introduced to the public speaking program so they might better guide the lodges in establishing training sessions for both lodge members and the members of the youth groups in their areas.

The Grand Master is asking the lodges to assist the DeMolay chapters, Royal Arch and J.D.'s in purchasing the main component of the system—a videocassette training program that contains eight video tapes—for a one time cost of $595 plus sales tax.

Individual Masons, lodges and organizations can have their sponsorship permanently noted on the videotaped program for a slight additional fee.

Each individual participant will receive a personal kit containing a binder with four audiotapes (eight lessons), a text for reading assignments and future reference, learning guides with practice exercises, and a speech book containing pre-printed memory systems for organizing formal speech presentations, at a cost of $50 plus sales tax.

Each member of DeMolay, Job's Daughters and Rainbow purchasing a personal kit is automatically registered to participate in local, regional or state public speaking competitions sponsored by the Pennsylvania Youth Foundation and other organizations.

A program for lodge members is still in the planning stages, but it is expected that a series of competitions within the lodge and the Masonic Districts is a distinct possibility.

Registration Forms Available at Youth Foundation Offices

Forms for individual registration through the purchase of a personal kit at $50 plus tax or for the registration of an organization by purchase of the $595 plus tax videocassette training program are available at the Pennsylvania Youth Foundation at 1244 Bainbridge Road, Elizabethtown, PA 17022-9425 or by calling (717) 567-1556.

If you wish to sponsor a training program for one of the youth groups, or a blue lodge, and do not know which group or lodge needs your support, you are invited to contact the Executive Director of the Pennsylvania Youth Foundation, Bro. Thomas R. Labagh, at the same address and telephone number.

All purchases are subject to the six per cent Pennsylvania state sales tax.

Pennsylvania Masonic Foundations Join to Fight Drug Abuse

The Pennsylvania Youth Foundation and the Pennsylvania Masonic Foundation for the Prevention of Drug and Alcohol Abuse Among Children will combine their efforts in the coming weeks to produce a series of public speeches in which the young people themselves will begin to defuse the drug and alcohol abuse. The Pennsylvania Youth Foundation will use its new leadership training program, "How to Master the Art of Public Speaking," to train the members of the three Masonically related youth organizations, DeMolay, Rainbow for Girls and Job's Daughters, to speak with confidence and ease before audiences of all types and sizes, including Masonic lodges, school assemblies and civic groups.

The subject will be drug and alcohol abuse. Young people talking with their peers and their children about the dangers of drug and alcohol abuse. Young people helping other young people join the battle and becoming spokespersons for the Pennsylvania Foundation for the Prevention of Drug and Alcohol Abuse Among Children, Young people will develop competence and courage to serve them well all the remaining days of their lives. The Drug and Alcohol Abuse Foundation will provide them with a forum in which they can practice and polish their newly developed skills.

Two Masonic foundations—dedicated to the care, protection and health of young people as they develop into intelligent, creative and responsible young adults—entering into an association that matches almost perfectly their stated goals.
