Speak up
Is someone you care about too afraid to say who is hurting them?
Take the first step to connect them to help, hope, and healing.

Knowledge is power.

Signs someone you know is being sexually abused:

- No appetite
- Heightened startle response
- Using social media in secret

Little brother, sister, cousin, neighbor, the kid you babysit...

They may be too afraid or confused to speak up if they experienced child sexual abuse.

Speak up for them and help them stay safe.
