Sen. Ron Johnson
328 Hart Senate Office Building
Washington, DC 20510

Dear Senator Johnson,

First and foremost, thank you for your service to our country and dedication to the United States Constitution. I write you today as one voice of the countless number of people who feel that ENDS (Electronic Nicotine Delivery System) has been instrumental in extending our lives. As a former tobacco user, I cannot begin to describe how choosing e-cigarettes as a healthier alternative has provided me with a better quality of life.

With that being said, I also write you to ask that you continue your push for information from the FDA and the deeming regulations they have put in place on e-cigarettes. This will be crippling to an industry filled with entrepreneurs and small businesses who only want to see the quality of life for their customers increased. While there may not be comprehensive studies that determine what, if any, long term effects e-cigarettes have on the human body, it would be prudent to wait on those studies to materialize before stifling a blossoming industry. From personal experience, and that of my colleagues, I am confident those long term studies will show the health benefits our bodies have experienced in becoming an e-cigarette user.

I urge you to please continue the search for information, please continue to be our voice in Washington, please do not allow the FDA the overreaching authority to deem something unsafe before the facts are known, and finally please continue the fight to make sure that myself and my fellow e-cigarette users have access to the products and supplies that we feel extend our years on this earth. It is my hope that if they are unable to provide you with the pertinent information, you will be forced to file a formal injunction. Thank you very much for your time.

Sincerely yours,

A Unified Voting E-Cigarette User
