The Process:

In order for the heat treatment to be successful, you will need to be out of your home for a minimum of 9 hours from the time we arrive. Your home will be heated to temperatures ranging from 125-138 degrees for a minimum of 3-5 hours in order to ensure all bed bugs and their eggs are dead.

Please double check that all the above items have been removed as we will not be responsible for any damaged goods done by the heat. Do not store things in your car because the heat in your car can also damage goods.

When you return to your home you will find some things may be out of place. During the treatment we move things around (sofas, linens, cushions, clothes, furniture, etc) in order to get the maximum heat where needed. Things may not be in the same place as they originally were and it will be your responsibility to accommodate them as you need to.

Place anything that may melt in a basket if you cannot remove them yourselves and mark DO NOT HEAT and the service technician will carefully check them for bed bugs and store them until the process is over.
