

Star Citizen Alpha 3.3.x - Stanton Star System

Stanton
United Empire of Earth
Main Sequence-Dwarf-G

While the UEE still controls the rights to the system overall, the four planets themselves were sold by the government to four megacorporations making them the only

Jump Points by Distance

Stanton - Pyro	→
Stanton - Magnus	→
Stanton - Terra	→

Moon Descriptions and Economy Rating (1 to 10)

Stanton 1a (Ariel)	This moon was named after the 3rd CEO of Hurston Dynamics, Ariel Hurston, who was known for creating the controversial Life/Labor-style employee contract.	2
Stanton 1b (Aberdeen)	This moon was named after scientist Aberdeen Hurston who was credited with designing the company's first antimatter warhead.	1
Stanton 1c (Magda)	This moon was named after Hurston Dynamics CEO Magda Stanton who made the decision to purchase Stanton I from the UEE. Magda is the mother of current CEO "Colonel" Gavin E. Stanton.	1
Stanton 1d (Ita)	This moon was named after Ita Hurston, who died during the First Tevarin War, as a reminder of why "the products Hurston Dynamics makes are so important."	2
Stanton 2a (Cellin)	Named after the youngest of the three siblings featured in the 24th century children's tale, "A Gift for Baba," this moon features over a hundred currently dormant volcanoes that are said to represent Cellin's simmering anger.	2
Stanton 2b (Daymar)	Named after the middle brother of the three siblings featured in the 24th century children's tale, "A Gift for Baba," this is the largest of Crusader's moons. Daymar's slightly eccentric orbit is said to represent his ease at getting lost in the story.	2
Stanton 2c (Yela)	Named after the oldest of the three siblings featured in the 24th century children's tale, "A Gift for Baba," this moon has a water-ice crust said to represent Yela's cool and calculating mannerisms.	3
Stanton 3a (Lyria)	This icy moon features active cryogeysers and cryovolcanoes.	5
Stanton 3b (Wala)	The low density of Wala is particularly susceptible to tidal forces which result in the moon being noticeably prolate.	4
Stanton 4a (Calliope)	Named after the ancient Greek muse who inspires eloquence to supposedly remind those gazing upon the moon from microTech to 'strive for pure expression of thought.'	3
Stanton 4b (Clio)	Named after the ancient Greek muse of history to supposedly remind those gazing upon the moon from microTech to remember that 'their work stands on those who came before them.'	4
Stanton 4c (Euterpe)	Named after the ancient Greek muse of music to supposedly remind those gazing upon the moon from microTech to be 'guided by the natural rhythm of the universe in their designs.'	4

Structure Descriptions and Economy Rating (1 to 10)

CommArray SCC	These communication stations are positioned around the area to help provide comm coverage.	1
Covalex	Formerly Covalex's prime shipping hub for the system, Gundo suffered a catastrophic accident that resulted in an explosion and the deaths of all the employees aboard the station. Covalex has since moved their operations to Orison directly.	1
Cry-Astro	This station is a franchise of Cry-Astro and provides facilities to restock and refuel a wide variety of ships.	5
ICC ScanHub Stanton	Part of the Imperial Cartography Center, this research station is categorized as a Deep Space Scanning and AstroGraphical Station, one of the many turn-key facilities the UEE places in systems to casually sweep for jump points.	6
Kareah	A brand new outpost built to house an extended Crusader Security presence in this sector. It is expected to be open and operating soon.	2
Port Olisar	Located in the trade lanes above Crusader, Port Olisar offers a breathtaking view of the planet below. Owned and operated by Crusader Industries, Port Olisar acts as a gateway to the company's vast planetary holdings and orbital shipyards.	6

Celestial Bodies Sized by Economy

