Explorer becomes first woman to reach highest and lowest points of the planet

By Sadie Whitelocks

metro.co.uk — Vanessa O'Brien has boldly gone where no woman has gone before: to the highest and lowest points on the planet. Years after reaching the top of Everest on 14 May 2012, British-American explorer Vanessa O'Brien completed her submersible dive to the bottom of Challenger Deep, in the Western Pacific Ocean, on 12 June 2020, hitting a record depth of 10,925 metres. She spent 11 hours crammed in a tiny submarine as she journeyed into the deep, dark and cold waters.

What it's like to go to a naked sauna in the Netherlands

By Sadie Whitelocks

metro.co.uk — What's it like to go to a naked sauna? (Picture: Getty/Metro.co.uk)'Try not to stare, you know, down there,' was my boyfriend's only tip before we ventured to a sauna in the Netherlands pre-corona. You see, unlike in the UK, saunas in the land of windmills and tulips operate a no-swimwear policy. My boyfriend warned me, worried that I might get distracted by other men, that the one faux pas you can commit is to ogle other bodies.
