Potton Public Market Harvest Festival

THE SCOOP

MABLE HASTINGS

On Saturday, September 29, the Mansonville Public Market will be holding its Harvest Festival featuring, free of charge, the musical talents of HirOliver Jazz starting at 10:00am. The Harvest Festival also gives organizers the opportunity to ask the question, "Do you make the best apple pie in Potton?" If you feel you do, you are invited to bring your pie to be judged, as part of the Harvest Festival event this Saturday. Prizes will be awarded for the tastiest pie. For more information about the pie contest, contact Gwynne at 450-292-0732. If last year's contest was any indication, Potton is abundant with some fine pie bakers!

At the Mansonville (Potton) Public Market you'll find the freshest produce (available as they come into season) grown by local farmers as well as local meat, cheese and fish, baked goods, maple syrup, and artisanal products. Meet your friends for a tasty cappuccino and snack at the café du marché. Visit them on Facebook (Mansonville public market) to get the schedule of activities and the latest updates on what's fresh and available. Located on Main Street in Mansonville on the site of the Round Barn, the Market is open from 9 a.m. until 1 p.m. every Saturday until Thanksgiving. Come and support your local producers!

Following a visit to the Market, there are other stops in Mansonville to fill your Saturday that include, the retirees Flea Market just across the road from the Public Market in the basement of the St.Cajetan Catholic Church where bargains are plentiful. The Reilly House offers a variety of things including a second hand store, clothing store, books, a Tea Room and more... There are a variety of eateries like the EuroDeli offering polish cuisine, the Owls Bread Bakery with croissants, meals, breads..., the Bistro Chouette with outdoor dining and an ever changing and diverse menu. There are Ski and Bike shops and a beautiful park and tourist bureau where historical and tourist information can be accessed.

Saturdays in Potton can best be described as a day to be out and about especially during this beautiful fall time of year. Visitors often stop by and are pleasantly surprised to discover what Potton has to offer.

The Mansonville Public Market Harvest Festival is on this coming weekend and Pottoners hope to see you there!
