There's no place like Owl's Head in the fall

THE SCOOP

MABLE HASTINGS

It only takes a quick glance out one's window to note the change in the colour of the leaves as chilly evenings lead to frosty nights and fall creeps upon us promising one of the most beautiful seasons of the year. If you haven't experienced Owl's Head Mountain during the autumn season, you don't know what you're missing!

Every weekend from Sept. 26 to Oct. 12, hikers, locals and visitors are welcome to experience the colours and fall fun at one of the most spectacular mountains in the area. Breathtaking scenery is assured as well as an experience that will quickly become a family tradition.

Chairlift rides at a cost with mandatory reservations on sale as of Sept. 18, free hiking trails, a craftsman's fair, food service and bar on-site with a terrace promising a spectacular view as well as the Wax Ski Shop where fall sales promise great deals! Free admission to the site and parking make Owl's Head your fall destination.

Ticket packages to ride the chairlift include one-way ticket only deals to the summit of the mountain where you can hike back down following the Lily's Leap trail or with a round trip ticket you can go up to the summit and back down to the base which is ideal for people with young children or those with reduced mobility. Costs for these packages can be found on the Owl's Head website at: info@owlshead.com or by calling: 450-292-3342 or 1-800-363-3342.

There are certain annual activities that often bring family, friends and neighbours together. Owl's Head has assured that safety and sanitary measures are in place during the Covid pandemic and thus, reservations as stated above to assure boarding capacities are respected have been established with your safety and well-being at the forefront.

Fall is a time for family outings in the crisp, cool air and changing of the seasons. Physical distancing has never been as beautiful as can be experienced in the open air and beauty of Owl's Head Mountain, located 10 km from the town of Mansonville in the township of Pottou. Bring your camera along as the scenery unfolds before you, offering the perfect backdrop for photos to share. As a local, you will likely find yourself in awe at the beauty located in your own backyard. As a visitor you may dream of finding a home and settling down in this beautiful corner of the townships. Regardless, Owl's Head awaits with a beauty which is endless from winter through to fall.
