

Privacy Policy

Evolta LLC (“Evolta”) is a privacy-conscious organization committed to protecting sensitive and personally identifiable information (the “Personal Information”) that we collect from you as you access, browse, and use this Web site (the “Site”). The scope of Evolta’s commitment is detailed in this Privacy Policy. Your use of the Site is contingent upon acceptance of this Privacy Policy and all of the terms in it.

Data Sharing and Storage

We collect, maintain and use personal information you have voluntarily submitted, including, but not limited to, name, address, telephone number and email address, to contact you, including via telephone or email, to respond to your comments, concerns, inquiries, or support requests, or to contact you if needed in the course of providing information about our services that you may have requested. In addition, we may use personal information to provide you the most helpful and targeted products and services to meet your needs and respond to your inquiries. To better meet your needs, we may supplement the information we collect with data obtained from third parties for the same purposes.

Evolta shall not intentionally disclose (and shall take commercially reasonable steps to prevent the accidental disclosure of) your Personal Information to third parties (i.e. persons or entities that are not affiliates of Evolta), subject to the following exceptions:

- Evolta may disclose your Personal Information to third parties as required by the laws, rules and regulations of any nation, state or other applicable jurisdiction through subpoena, search warrant or other legal process;
- Evolta may disclose your Personal Information to third parties who deliver information from us to you for the purpose of performing such delivery or who perform other functions on our behalf;
- Evolta may disclose your Personal Information to third parties to protect the rights, property or safety of Evolta, Site visitors, its clients, or others;
- Evolta may disclose your Personal Information to third parties if, in connection with submitting the information, you consent to such disclosure;
- Evolta may disclose your computer’s IP address to third parties who assist us in verifying the accuracy of our records;
- Evolta may disclose Personal Information for you in response to inquiries by bona-fide rights owners in connection with allegations of infringement of copyright or other proprietary rights arising from information you have provided to Evolta.

Evolta has implemented generally accepted standards of technology and operational security in order to protect Personal Information from loss, misuse, alteration or destruction. The Evolta personnel who are authorized to have access to Personal Information are required to treat this information as confidential.

Evolta does not collect or compile Personal Information for dissemination or sale to outside parties for consumer marketing purposes, host mailings or otherwise on behalf of third parties. Evolta, however, may aggregate some of the information you provide and share it in aggregated form with third parties provided it is not personally identifying or linked to personally identifying information.

Evolta may provide links to third party Web sites. Please be aware that Evolta cannot control and is not responsible for the information collection practices of such third-party Web sites, which may differ from those of this Site. We encourage you to review and understand the privacy policies on these Web sites before providing any information to them.

The Site may be viewed anywhere in the world, including countries that may not have laws regulating the use and transfer of sensitive or personally identifiable data. By using the Site and submitting Personal Information on it, you voluntarily consent to such transborder transfer of such Personal Information.

Tracking Information and Cookies

A cookie is a small data segment, which often includes an anonymous unique identifier that is written to your computer's hard drive. Evolta may monitor and track your usage of the Site in order to enhance or augment the Site and to provide additional services. Evolta uses cookies to improve the quality and performance of its marketing efforts and to enhance or augment the Site.

In addition, Evolta may use your computer's IP address, together with any information you submit to us, to verify the accuracy of our records.

Evolta may use technologies that track the URL's and IP addresses of Web sites that you have arrived from and are going to as part of the use of the Service. Evolta uses a third-party tracking service that uses cookies to track and store non-personally identifiable information about visitors to the Site. Evolta uses such information to analyze how users use the Site and to enhance its marketing and advertising efforts.

Acceptance and Revisions

By using the Site and by submitting your Personal Information and any other information, you consent to the collection, use, storage and disclosure of your Personal Information and any other information by us in the manner described herein and elsewhere on the Site. Evolta reserves the right to amend this Privacy Policy at any time for any reason, without prior notice to you, so we urge you to review this Privacy Policy frequently for changes. Your continued use of the Site means that you accept any and all changes. If you have any comments or concerns regarding this Privacy Policy or the practices of the Site, please do not hesitate to contact us.