

Texas Shootout brings today's hottest poker game – Texas Hold'em – to the gaming floor. Never before has there been this much excitement over a house banked poker game. Unlike traditional Texas Hold'em, each player plays heads-up against the dealer. In addition, players have the opportunity for huge instant winnings with the optional Shootout Bonus wager.

PRIMARY BET

After placing their Primary Bet—and if they choose to do so—their Bonus Bet, the player and the dealer start by receiving four cards each. The player then has the choice of either keeping two cards or splitting their hand. If they split their hand, they will have to match their original Primary Bet.

BONUS BET

The player has the option of placing an Independent Bonus Bet. The difference between the Bonus Bet and the Primary Bet is that the Primary Bet is against the dealer and the Bonus Bet is against the “Shootout Bonus Payable”. The player can lose the primary wager and still win the Bonus Bet.

SPLITTING

When the player receives their four cards, they have the option of splitting and making two hands. Should the player elect to split, their Primary Bet will need to be duplicated. If the player originally placed the optional Shootout Bonus wager, they may place a second Shootout wager up to their original Shootout wager. The best strategy is to split only if they have Fives and Sixes of the same suit, pairs of Sevens or better, an Ace and King or same suited Ace and Queen or Ace and Jack.

THE FLOP

The dealer “Flops” five common cards. Using these five cards, plus their two cards, the player makes the best five-card poker hand possible.

THE WIN

Beat the dealer’s hand to win. Remember the dealer wins all ties. Unlike the player who can keep any two cards they choose, the dealer must play two cards within a strict predetermined fashion referred to as “The House Ways”.

HOUSE WAY

1. High pair, 8’s & up
2. A-J or better
3. Any pair, suited
4. Any pair
5. Ace high, suited
