OBJECT OF THE GAME

To predict which hand will have a point value closest to nine (9).

HOW TO PLAY

In Midi-Baccarat, there are three possible outcomes to wager on, the player hand, the banker hand, or the tie. Two cards are dealt for the banker hand and two cards for the player hand. The players who have the highest bet for player or banker will be given the cards to view and will then return them back to the dealer.

Based on the individual point totals of the player hand and the banker hand, a third card may be dealt. See details in "THIRD CARD RULE" section on the facing page. The hand with the point value closest to nine (9) wins. To determine point value, cards in the hand are added together and the last digit is used to declare the winner (e.g. $8 + 8 = 16$, total of the hand = 6).

THE CARDS

* Face cards (Kings, Queens, Jacks) and Tens count as 0

* Aces count as 1

* All other cards are counted at face value

PAYOUT

Player Hand Pays even money (1 to 1)

Banker Hand Pays even money less 5% commission

Tie Pays 8 to 1

THIRD CARD RULE

Third Party Hand

- * When the first two cards of the player hand or banker hand total 8 or 9, neither receives a third card.
- * When the first two cards of the player hand total 6 or 7, the player hand does not get a third card.
- * When the first two cards total 0 through 5, the player hand gets a third card.

Banker Hand

The banker hand plays under the same rules as the player hand except when both the bankers hand first two card total 3,4,5 or 6 and when the player hand takes a third card. In that event, the following rules apply.

When the banker's first two cards total:

Banker takes a third card if the third card of the player is...

3.....	not a 8
4	2 through 7
5	4 through 7
6	6 or 7
