

HEAVY DUTY SAFETY SHORING SYSTEM

Tank Construction Equipment

DirecTank's Heavy Duty Safety Shoring System for aboveground storage tanks offers a safe, efficient and convenient method for overhead support within a confined space of entry. The Heavy Duty Safety Shoring System installs quickly and is easy to use while providing high capacity support for securing floating roofs during tank cleaning, inspections or repairs.

The versatile connections and ease of adjustment allow for installation around practically any obstruction. Additionally, this system is ideal for floating roof construction with its level adjustment and height range. Custom fittings and beams can be installed at the top of the posts to allow for level support of pontoons, deck plate, framing girders, and equipment. With the combined advantages provided, including strength, durability, adaptability, and accessibility, this system is a vast improvement to traditional cribbing and shoring systems.
