Knife articles on IKnifeCollector.com

Dan Lago, 3-2020

In an effort to provide more resources on Queen knives, we are listing articles previously provided to the Queen group on Iknifecollector.com, a highly regarded knife research service provided by Jan Carter.

We encourage you to visit the links in her site to review these articles and comment if you wish. Especially if you are not a Facebook user, her site provides a great alternative for focused knife conversation and queries.

As Jan States, "Also, please know that because we are research-oriented we remain a public site. I would love for all visitors to become members but they do not need to be a member to search and read any available materials."
