AIM HIGH CHILDREN'S SERVICES

(718) 853-1750

<http://www.aimhighchild.org/>

mail@aimhighchild.org

Aim High Children's Services strives to provide appropriate education to all preschool children ages 2.9 -5 diagnosed with a disability. Our teachers and therapist endeavor to service our children in the least restrictive environment. In this way, children learn new skills and improve the quality of life for themselves and their families. In addition, Aim High integrates the autistic child with his/her non-disabled peers. These classes employ an equal number of non-disabled students with children with disabilities. This is an ideal setting where children with disabilities share the same class with typically developing children who then serve as role models. In this way, the integral component of socialization progresses in a more natural manner. Children with autism partake in the regular classroom and are given 1:1 services (speech, occupational therapy, physical therapy) as necessary. The skills learned in these settings are generalized to the natural environment including school, home and community.
