

When we created Catalyst in 2013, our aim was to drive clinical research forward with the provision of highly skilled, therapeutically aligned operational experts and teams.

Today this is especially true for our customers who desire a higher level of control over their research programs, who opt to manage their study internally, but require additional support, whether that's therapeutic, geographic or functional.

Cream of the Crop Talent

A great team doesn't happen by accident. It all begins with listening to your criteria. Then we engage the industry's best and brightest clinical research professionals to support your development programs. With Catalyst, you will never get "anyone who's available" because we hand pick each professional based on the expertise required, the scope of work and your desires. In fact, we involve you in the team selection process to ensure the right fit for you.

We've been developing our clinical research professional network for practically 25 years. They're proven professionals averaging 12-15 years of experience, bringing you value from day one. And with many programs encompassing study centers located around the world, we've got you covered geographically with deployment in >35 countries to date.

Catalyst has thought through their business model, where other resourcing companies have not. They have been flexible and a pleasure to work with from my perspective.
