

Playing Your Song

Let the professionals keep the music alive on your wedding day.

Your dress is stunning; hair and make-up are perfect; the ceremony was divine, you've been whisked away for your photographic memories and now you are standing before the closed doors of your reception, tired but excited about the celebration ahead. With great excitement you are announced as Mr and Mrs as the doors open, your guests stand and applaud to your special song carefully selected to announce your arrival. The cheers go up and as your professional DJ works his music magic, the party begins.

It's perfect.

Music sets the tone to your ceremony and, with the push of a button, professional DJs can turn a dull day into a party. Not only do they bring a high level of professionalism, but class and quality in their equipment. They bring a comprehensive knowledge of music, old and new and when it comes to hiring a DJ, the more professional they are, the more specialised they have become and have an innate ability to interpret, enhance and even turn a crowd's mood.

Your wedding day is all about you and your personality should be reflected throughout the day in the songs played as well as the flowers chosen and in the decoration of the cake. There are many opportunities to showcase this: the Processional (walking down the aisle); signing of the Registry; the first dance; Father/daughter dance; cake cutting and even throwing the bouquet... the list goes on.

A true professional DJ will take you step-by-step through your ceremony and reception, pointing out those special song choice opportunities. Together you will come up with THE music list, reflecting your personalities and theme with plenty of time for guests to request special songs.

Along with the professional care of your music, many professional DJs offer MC services, so you can be confident that your night will run smoothly, with nothing or no one forgotten. They even make sure the evening finishes on time.

As with any service, don't hesitate to ask for referrals as the people who know best are past clients. Professional DJs use more than an mp3 player or laptop. If you want quality sound, enthusiastic dancing and a night for all to remember, listing a professional DJ in your budget will be money well-spent. You'll be pleasantly surprised at the cost for such an important role on your day.

A true professional DJ will:

- Work with you and your song choices.
- Allow space for special requests.
- Keep in the loop of your wedding plans, calling you the week before.
- Take all the music worries off your shoulders.

So, forget ipods, laptops and complicated play lists for friends and do your special day justice with a specialist. They will keep your day in sync and your 'song' will replay in everyone's minds for years to come. ♥
