ONE TEAM—ONE HEARTBEAT

What a happy weekend it was if you are a local sports fan. The Pelicans, Tulane, LSU and the Saints all had winning scores. Maybe along with cooler weather, winning streaks are coming for our favorite teams. Fred & I will be attending the first of our 12-game Pelican's ticket package tonight. It's still preseason, so we'll get to see the players when the win-lose outcome is not so terribly important. Maybe I won't be on the edge of my seat until the final 2 seconds.

In respect to Les Miles who guided the Tigers for many years, and in high hopes that Coach Orgeron will continue to increase the winning tradition of the Tigers, I created the chart at left this weekend. It is a heart-filled heart with the words which were spoken by Coach O after the game, "One team, One heartbeat". The chart is ready for purchase in the shop. Cost is $4.50. I wish Coach O many more Tiger wins and Les Miles many future years filled with happiness. - gayle

Our trip to the needlepoint market was a lot less stressful than trips to our counted thread market. That was because only one of our chart vendors and 2 or 3 of our accessory vendors were there. We went mostly to scope out the fiber vendors. We did return with many beautiful products from the ladies from France. You can see the items below.

4-1/2" scissors made in France. Each pair of scissors are "paired" from the beginning to end which means they are perfectly adjusted. It takes a dozen qualified people to make each pair.

And this floor knitting stand, which is beautifully made. The inside has 6 pockets on one side and too many for me to count on the other. There's 2 clear zipper pockets on 1-side of the outside and a full clear pocket on the other. And it comes with a shoulder strap!

We also brought back hand crafted pin cushions made from repurposed vintage glass, fabrics and accessories. We have 4 remaining. (note the old tape measure on the bottom right)
