

Third Annual Northeast USA Rice Conference

Saturday, August 4th, 2012
9:00am-4:00pm

Akaogi Farm
27 Earthbridge Road
Westminster West, Vermont

This conference will focus on rice cuisine, culture, and history in the morning and general rice agriculture topics in the afternoon. Featuring:

- ❖ Naomi Duguid (Author, Seductions of Rice)
- ❖ Anna McClung (Research Leader, USDA ARS, Dale Bumpers National Rice Research Center)
- ❖ Glenn Roberts (Founder and Seedsman, Anson Mills)
- ❖ A Farmers' Exchange (short presentations by farmers experimenting with rice in the northeastern United States).

Lunch will highlight the importance of rice as a staple food for many cultures and will include short presentations by local chefs about the rice dishes they have prepared.

Registration Fee: $50/person, $60/couple, $40/student

Registration fee includes lunch and copy of the 2011 conference proceedings. Register early, space is limited. To register please provide your name, e-mail address, and a check made out to Mia Murphy, 351 Longley Road, Groton, MA 01450. Contact Mia at makaogi@gmail.com.

Additional details about the conference can be found at www.ricenortheasternus.org.

The Third Annual Northeast USA Rice Conference is a collaboration between the McCouch RiceLab at Cornell University and Akaogi Farm. It is funded in part by the National Science Foundation.