Cannabis Information Institute

How to Make THC Tincture

- In the glass bowl or measuring jug, add decarboxylated cannabis and MCT oil
- Fill the crockpot with enough water to reach the halfway point of your measuring cup/jug
- Place crockpot on medium-low heat and wait until the water has heated
- Now, place the measuring cup of decarboxylated cannabis and MCT oil into the water within the crockpot
- Ensure the water does not get too low during the infusion process, some water will evaporate
- Leave in the crockpot for 3-4 hours, stir every hour or so
- Line a hand strainer with cheesecloth and strain the cannabis-infused MCT oil into a mason jar
- Once cooled, fill the dropper and store the remaining tincture in a dark and cool place within an airtight mason jar
- Store safely away from pets and children
- The dropper provides an incredibly convenient option to consume THC regularly
