

We wanted to update our loyal guests as we continue to watch the COVID-19 pandemic. As we adapt to the CDC guidelines and the camping season is upon us, we wanted to inform you what we are doing here at Eagle Nest to keep our employees and guests healthy and safe. Please understand there does need to be some flexibility as we continue to follow and adapt to the CDC guidelines as well as the State of Montana. We will continue to watch the pandemic closely and make changes as needed. We are open to greet our guests and look forward to seeing you.

Gov. Bullock has implemented Phase 2 of the reopening of the state, which means the 14-day self-quarantine is no longer in effect, however social distancing guidelines are still in effect. If you are not feeling well, please continue to stay safe.

We have starting our nightly Happy Hour, but with social distancing guidelines, and only outside as weather permits. Other social events are scheduled at this time, but we continue to be considerate of the re-opening regulation and limiting the numbers at our gatherings. As we get closer to scheduled events we will adjust accordingly.

Our facilities have started to reopen; the pool and hot tub are up and running, although we do ask that the amount of people in the hot tub and pool be limited. The laundry area and the exercise room are also open with limited capacity. The bathrooms remained closed for the time being.

We thank you for your continued support as we work through these unprecedented times. Keeping safe and healthy through these months has been our top priority.
