Greetings!

Governor John Bel Edwards' Executive Budget released today can be described as nothing short of devastating to TOPS recipients and aspirants. Under the Governor's budget, TOPS will receive a 66% reduction in the awards it may give for the fiscal year beginning in July 2016.

There are two possibilities for how these cuts will work. The first would be to raise the criteria for qualification, which would reportedly take the minimum ACT required to about a 26.

The other option on the table, and the one favored by the Governor, would be to give all eligible students about a third of what students received the year before.

Legislators also have the option this regular session to impose deeper cuts in other areas and divert those savings to TOPS or to even raise additional funds during a possible second special session late in June. But for now, all bets are off and the timing could not be worse for students needing and wanting to finalize college plans over the next two months. For more on the TOPS cuts click here.

National Higher Education News

- To meet future workforce demand in the U.S., it is estimated we need 60% of adults to have some post-secondary education by 2025. Unfortunately, we are making little progress. In fact, the U.S. has fallen from 1st in the world by this measure to 13th, lagging behind Canada, Japan and Korea. The Hechinger Report, 04.12.16

- With the advent of the Common Application, applying to college has never been easier and many students are applying to far more than they did a decade ago. In 1990, just 9% of students applied to seven or more schools. Today that number is 32%. New York Times, 04.11.16
