

This month, ways to get involved at the NC Research Campus.

OPTIMIZING NUTRITION.

EMPOWERING HUMAN HEALTH

A diverse group of people of various ages and ethnicities are smiling and looking towards the camera. The text 'JOIN OUR STUDY' is overlaid in large, bold, blue capital letters across the center of the image.

You Will GET PAID To Help!

The UNC Nutrition Research Institute seeks to test for Choline (an essential nutrient) status.

Summer is for Research Studies

Fructose and the liver. Exercise and the immune system. Flavonoids and caffeine. Choline status. Diet and the microbiome. Project Baseline. Mothers and children. What does all of this have in common?

Research studies in need of participants.

You may not have thought of adding volunteering for a research study to your summer list of activities. Once you read more about studies at the NC Research Campus, you just might. Make sure to note that each study has different requirements and compensation. If you find one that interests you, please use the links provided on the webpage to contact the study leaders directly.

Help Eric and Erica Braun Tackle MS

Braun Fundraiser

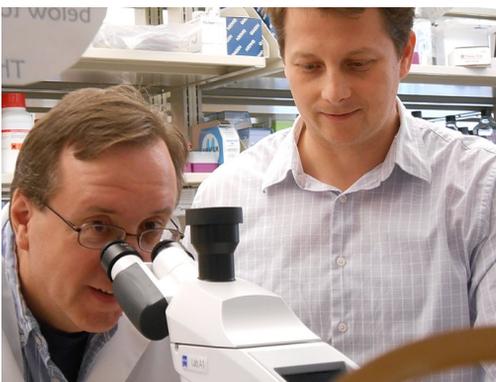

2018

Sustaining discovery-driven MS research

Eric Braun was diagnosed with multiple sclerosis (MS) in the fall of 2001 when he was 33 years old. By 2010, his physical health deteriorated to the point where walking was extremely difficult, and he was forced to retire on disability. A few years later, he met Simon Gregory, PhD, primary investigator for Discovery MS. Now, he and his wife Erica are hosting their second annual Discovery MS fundraiser. They've hit $28,000 and would like your help to reach $30,000.
