Practice Introduction

Success is never a guess. It is always The Plan

Often times, clients are in need of execution support for a limited time period to ensure a new program or strategy launches effectively. Clients are not interested in hiring full time employees for services that are near term and finite in scope.

The Plan Consulting Group (TPCG) will provide clients with skilled resources in strategy execution for limited time periods to ensure deliverables are met. We believe this service is a key feature in our offering set and demonstrates our commitment to our clients' success.

TPCG is a full service strategic management, marketing and consulting firm that specializes in strategy development, cost reduction, revenue expansion and program execution.

PROGRAM MANAGEMENT

Our Program Management Office (PMO) was founded to assist companies in their efforts to measure and manage projects. As we developed that practice, we recognized that clients needed engineering support to realize their strategic goals.

TPCG has focused on this capability to support the execution components of all our practices.

We focus on program execution incorporating dashboard management, business case justification, program inventory tool sets and web-enabled platforms.

STRATEGY & PLAN IMPLEMENTATION

Having the cross-functional capabilities of a well rounded execution team can be very challenging to assemble particularly with business as usual demands on staff and internal resources. TPCG brings significant incremental resources that can drive projects and initiatives to completion while the rest of the organization remains focused on its daily activities.

TPCG now offers tactical support services to organizations to implement projects, initiatives and M&A Integrations.

We focus primarily on providing dedicated and experienced resources on an as-needed basis to support integration needs in these areas.

NEW LAUNCHES, TRANSITIONS & INTEGRATIONS

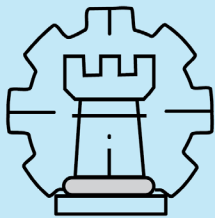

New product lines and ventures will often need cost effective general management, strategy development and back office support to achieve commercial viability. TPCG brings successful startup experience and an economical resource pool to assist early stage businesses. We apply our rigorous program execution process, diverse industry network and strategy development capability to build a viable commercial entity for clients and investors.

The Plan Consulting Group has developed strategic relationships with several investment groups, incubators and corporate entities to bring together the deal flow and capital for new product and ventures launches. We bring market development, process optimization and back office resources to ventures seeking to move from technology development to commercial validation. Our experience in process optimization, channel development and low-cost back office support offers tactical transition support services on a global basis.

PROGRAM MANAGEMENT

Our strategy execution and program implementation practice starts with a Program Management Office (PMO) that has a clear scope and expectations, along with a critical path plan and schedule. A well chartered team with the proper expectations and requirements allow for appropriate progress reporting. TPCG leverages collaborative work environments to empower the team and provide stakeholders with access to the real-time activity to stay on top of the effort.

PERFORMANCE REPORTING

Collaborative and customized platforms systematically streamline communications, maximizes efficiencies, compresses implementation costs and time frames.

This enables leaders to focus on the highest priorities and accelerates the achievement of goals by providing actionable knowledge that assesses, projects, and tracks critical performance impacts.

By tracking performance, the team can align initiatives and work tracks. It also provides the ability to monitor key variances and enables integrated resource planning.

Visual management drives greater thought and commitment while real-time access and transparency to details enhances group productivity. Coordination of interdependent plans and actions reduces time as well as the resource requirements.
