COURSE AND CURRICULUM DEVELOPMENT

- Fall 2020 SOVA Foundations
Worked with a small team of School of Visual Arts faculty to retool our Foundations curriculum in order to better support our four majors (Studio Art, Art History, Graphic Design and Creative Technologies). Several courses were further revised to satisfy Virginia Tech's "Pathways" general education requirements, which allow non-majors to enroll as space permits.
- Spring 2020 Design for Social Impact
A collaborative, multidisciplinary course in which graphic design majors and non-majors work side-by-side, using design-based approaches to explore and address societal issues for a range of social, humanitarian, community and environmental causes. Course content includes discussion of and practice in formal design principles and design research methods, as well as more issue-related topics such as social innovation strategies, community empowerment, and making the world a more just, equitable and enjoyable place for all of us.
- Spring 2018 Visual Communication Design for Non-majors
Co-written with Associate Professors M. Dee and J. Jewitt in Fall 2017. Course description: "Variable introductory topics on visual communication design, ranging from contemporary issues in design to development of formal design skills. Multiple projects with emphasis on problem-solving and an awareness of target audiences from various backgrounds, historical and cultural contexts, and STEEP (Social, Technological, Economical, Environmental, and Political) principles. Explores knowledge of design principles and vocabulary using a range of materials and methodologies. Examines needs of diverse users, applied via appropriate software.
