CSI Columbus Chapter- September Meeting Recap

Tom Elliott, CSI, is the Director of Industry Development and Technical Services at the International Masonry Institute (IMI) for Ohio and Northern Kentucky. Tom presented rain screen facades, also known as ventilated facades or channel-anchored facades. These are modern adaptations of traditional masonry. Cladding material of terracotta, stone, tile, precast concrete, and metal panels have become popular building enclosure choices. Tom’s presentation reviewed the building science and evolution of masonry wall systems beginning with mass walls, drainage, and cavity walls and concluded with pressurized and non-pressurized rain screen systems and the role of masons in today’s rain screen wall systems. The Austin E Knowlton School of Architecture at the Ohio State University has a marble rainscreen façade.

Special Lapsed Certification Reinstatement Program Update

DID YOU KNOW?

Earlier this year, CSI announced the Special Reinstatement Program, acknowledging that past communications regarding renewal requirements for CSI certifications had been inconsistent. This may have resulted in some individuals missing the opportunity to maintain their certification. To help correct this, CSI is offering a one-time, Special Reinstatement Program available to any individual holding a CSI certification that lapsed on or after June 30, 2014.

As background, communications about this program began in March 2018 including direct email correspondence to all eligible former certificants, announcements to CSI members and promotion of the program through the CSI Weekly, social media and csiresources.org. Ongoing promotions will include continued direct correspondence to eligible applicants.

Achieving a CSI certification is a significant professional accomplishment and the Special Reinstatement Program offers a sole opportunity for former certification holders to renew and maintain their credential. The application period opened April 15, 2018 and concludes October 15, 2018. Please share this information link with those in your chapter/region: http://csiresources.org/certification/certreinstatement

If you have any questions, please do not hesitate to contact certification@csinet.org.

In Memoriam: George Van Niel, FCSI, CDT, CCS, Distinguished Member

This summer CSI lost a giant in our organization. George joined CSI 9/1/1964.

An avid softball player into his 80’s, he was a member of an 80 & over league that traveled several states. An avid golfer, he was a staple in CSI organized golf get-a-ways and always a treat to have in the group. He taught specifications and promoted CSI all over the world.

His work outlines our skyline. He left his mark on the Convention Center, Longaberger basket building, Ohio Historical Society Building, Crew Stadium (NNBJ), Franklin County Courthouse (Design Group), Wexner Center for the Arts (Richard Trott & Partners- written with his daughter Tracy).

Distinguished Membership is the highest honor CSI bestows. George was one of only 46 members in the 70-year history of the organization. The CSI Columbus Chapters’ George Van Niel Scholarship has left its mark on OSU students for years.

Editor’s note: A special THANK YOU to all who attended his memorial at the Boat House and/or donated to the George Van Niel Scholarship fund.
