

A Message from Sheboygan County Food Bank About COVID-19 (Coronavirus)

March 16, 2020

We are dedicated to addressing the emergency food needs of our neighbors, especially in times of uncertainty.

Sheboygan County Food Bank is closely monitoring the latest reports from the Centers for Disease Control \(CDC\), the World Health Organization \(WHO\), the Wisconsin Department of Health Services, and our local Sheboygan County Division of Public Health regarding COVID-19.

Sheboygan County Food Bank is a critical part of the public health community and we are committed to serving people who need food. We are continuing to deliver food to food pantries and other partner agencies throughout Sheboygan County.

We are taking numerous precautionary measures for the health and safety of our clients, partner agencies, volunteers, and staff. Our goal is to do everything we can to keep our operations up and running and people safe during this unprecedented and evolving situation.

To mitigate the spread of infection and keep health as a priority, Sheboygan County Food Bank is:

- Sanitizing commonly used areas throughout the warehouse more often.
- Sanitizing food carts, baskets, and equipment.
- Providing hand sanitizer for volunteers and staff.
- Instructing all volunteers to wear gloves when sorting, packing, and delivering food boxes.
- Following best practices for safe food handling, as always.

In addition, we are working closely with other Sheboygan County leaders and food pantry coordinators to remain safely operating as an emergency food network and effectively meet the needs of our community during this time. To the very best of our abilities, we pledge our increased assistance to the community and will step in when needed.

Sheboygan County Food Bank continues to monitor and follow recommendations from all health authorities for updated information. Thank you for your support.
